A GALA WEEK IN FARMER'S COSTUME DEPARTMENT.

COSTUMES AT HALF, AND IN SOME CASES LESS THAN HALF, USUAL PRICES.

On Sale To-day and during the week, the Surplus Stocks of TWO COSTUME MANUFACTURERS, Purchased at from 33⅓ to 60 per cent. off Season's Prices.

A BARGAIN OCCASION OF EXCEPTIONAL INTEREST.

When we say that this is a Costume Bargain occasion, we mean that the values are exceptional and unusual. The word Bargain is so liable to misuse that in a general way we seldom use the term, but when we do it means all we say. Therefore, when we say this is a Bargain of Bargains Occasion you will readily realise that the value of the goods on sale is very exceptional and unusual.

Smart Up-to-date Manufacturers have to look ahead, and prepare for next season's wants. Consequently there comes a time when they must perforce throw their surplus present season's Garments at the feet of the largest buyer—Farmer's—at about such prices as they care to give. Such opportunities seldom occur, and we purchased these goods at prices that would be considered ridiculous at any other season of the year, and we are going to make things lively while the Bargains last. But naturally the lines are limited, and when sold cannot be repeated, so that those who mean business must needs be early on the scene.

Goods are displayed in Pitt-street Window and on Showroom tables.

Here are some of the Marvellous Value Lines on Sale To-day:—

LASSETTERS' SHOWROOM GIFTS.

WASHABLE! SEASONABLE! SMART!

On looking through our STOCK to see what we could offer to our CUSTOMERS at such a low PRICE as to amount to a GIFT, we have fixed upon a line of ROSES in a good printed CAMBRIC.

This is an EVERY-DAY line, one that we SELL and is WORN by our customers YEAR IN AND YEAR OUT.

It is a sort of PROTEAN garment; it is useful in such a variety of ways. First of all, as a Morning Frock, it is always cool and fresh-looking; secondly, instead of a Wrapper—always more or less untidy-looking—on the contrary, this is a neat, well-fitting garment, and has all the lightness and convenience of the Morning Wrapper. It is also smart enough to be worn outdoors at picnics or boating parties, and in the morning for shopping.

It is made in one piece, in a real good quality Cambric, in a good range of colours, spots, and stripes.

It is collarless, has square neck and short sleeves, trimmed with band of plain Cambric to match. All colours.

Our price for these garments is 10/6; but, to make them a GIFT, we have arranged to put them in at 5/11.

AT THIS PRICE they will NOT LAST LONG. STOCK PRICE, 10/6; GIFT PRICE, 5/11.

DUST COAT GIFTS.

We have also turned out a line of Navy SICILIAN DUST COATS. These are TAILOR-MADE Coats, Chesterfield Fronts, Roll Collars, with semi-fitting backs. They are made in a good quality Sicilian, and were real good value at original price, 21/9. To make them a GIFT we offer at 7/11.

(Temporary Address During Rebuilding),
333 GEORGE-STREET, SYDNEY.

THIS is addressed to those mothers of girls and boys who are beginning to be afraid that "music simply isn't in" their children, it's so hard to keep them interested in it.
SHE PRACTISED AND SHE PRACTISED—BUT SHE NEVER LEARNED TO PLAY.
Surely, you never heard of a child who didn't love music. But practising that's another matter. Nothing is harder or more tiresome work—especially when there are other things going on—evening parties or outside games.
There's only one way to make practising less hard and less tiresome—that is to keep in front of your boys' or girls' minds the fact that SOME day they are going to be good players, musicians.
But how?
Incentive. They should know what good music is and what good playing is. If you could play and WOULD play for them, they couldn't ask for a better incentive. They would practise till their fingers ached to learn to play as well.
But you don't play. And that is why you need the Steck PIANOLA Piano to give your children the incentive you yourself can't give them. Keeping up their interest will be the least of your worries when a PIANOLA Piano comes into your home.
Do you think, because anyone can play the Steck PIANOLA Piano, that they will lose interest or become discouraged with their own efforts?
No. They will practise as never before—to be able to do with their own two hands what the PIANOLA Piano does so perfectly. It is the greatest incentive in the world to make girls and boys want to be good players, and try to be.
And then, think of your world of beautiful music, of finished masterly playing, to offset the finger exercises and scales you listen to while your children are still beginners.
The Steck Pianola Piano, whose wonders as a Player-Piano are not equalled by any other at any price, is an instrument ideally unmechanical and mysteriously sympathetic to your slightest expression and modulations.
Come and hear it to-day. We ask you to be our guest, without obligation of any kind.
If unable to call, let us send you a Catalog of the Steck Pianola Piano. We will send it free if you will ask for Catalog T.

PARIPAN—THE NEW LACQUER-ENAMEL.

Not only does it last under ALL conditions much longer than ordinary paint—preserve a beautiful surface, that improves with washing—look like enamel, and retain a much harder surface—but in addition the use of Paripan actually dispenses with the need for one or two coats extra.
It is sanitary (washable), weather-proof, will not blister or crack, and does not fade like ordinary paint and varnish will.
PARIPAN comes in glossy and flat colours and tints.
It resists salt air and water.
Therefore it is particularly suited to painting residences near the sea coast, yachts, launches, and row boats.
Because it will not blister or harbour insects, country residents should certainly prefer it to any other wall-covering.
We have a special descriptive pamphlet giving full particulars re PARIPAN, which we will send on request.

CHAPTER XIII.—Continued.

Dacre accompanied him to Denver. They separated on a platform of the station at the foot of Seventeenth-street, and at the twelfth hour the Englishman made a last effort to dissuade his friend from embarking on what he regarded as a fantastic adventure.

"I don't know where you are heading for, Power," he said. "You have not told me, and I can only suppose you mean to be lost to the world?"

"Something like that," and Power smiled frankly. His face no longer wore the hunted, harassed aspect of a man who finds the unhappiness of life almost unbearable. A new look had come into his eyes. He seemed to be gazing constantly at some far horizon not bounded by earth and sky, a dim, sunless line beyond which lay a mysterious land of peace, a kingdom akin to Nirvana, the realm of extinction.

"Shall I not hear from you, even once a year?"

"It is improbable," was the grave answer.

"But I refuse to believe that you and I are parting now for ever."

"If Providence wills it, we shall meet again. I hope so. If ever I find myself back in the crowded highway I shall look for you."

"Can't I induce you, even now, to come with me to England? I'm tired of globe-trotting. You would find my place in Devonshire a quiet nook, and the first whiff of your native air would blow this miasma out of your system."

"I'll come to you, some time."

Then, greatly daring, Dacre urged a plea so cruelly direct that he had not ventured to use it before this final moment.

"Have you reflected as to the effect of this action of yours on Nancy when she hears of it?" he said. "I may run up against her. There are only ten thousand of us, you know. She will surely ask me what has become of you. What am I to tell her?"

Power had not spoken of Nancy during a month or more, and his friend thought that a sudden thrusting of her image before his eyes would startle him out of the semi-hypnotic condition in which he appeared to exist. But, to Dacre's chagrin and astonishment, the ruse failed utterly. Power evidently found the point thus unexpectedly raised somewhat perplexing.

"Tell her?" he repeated in a most matter of fact tone. "Is it necessary to tell her anything But, of course, you will say you saw the last of me, and a woman hates to be ignored, even by the man she has discarded. Tell her, then, that in India there are Hindoos of devout intent who measure two thousand miles of a sacred river by prostrations along its banks. These devotees have done no wrong to any human being, and their notion of service is sublimely ridiculous. But, if, among them, was a poor wretch who had committed an unforgivable crime, and he thought to expiate it by carrying sharp flints on which to fling himself each yard of the way, one could understand him."

"That is no message to Nancy," persisted Dacre.

"If she pouts, and says so, remind her of my mother's death."

"Oh, I shall leave you in anger if you talk in that way."

"No; you won't. You're really more than a little sorry for me. You think, perhaps, I am rather mad, but, on reflection, you will be pleased at that, because a lunatic can be contented in his folly, and I know you wish me content. Here's my train. San Francisco is a great jumping-off place. 'Last seen in San Francisco' is quite a common headline in the newspapers. Good-bye! I'll look you up in Devonshire, never fear. Mind you are there to receive me."

And he was gone. Dacre turned his face to the east. During the long journey to Washington, where he meant to visit some friends before crossing the Atlantic, he thought often of Power. Speaking of him one day to an attache at the British Embassy, he inquired if there were any means of keeping track of the wanderer without his cognisance.

"Yes," said the official. "We can send out a private consular note. Have you any idea which way he is heading?"

"Not the faintest. From a sort of hint he let drop he may intend joining a Buddhist community in India or Ceylon. At any rate, he had been reading some book on India. But the assumption is too vague to be of value."

"Well, I'll see what can be done."

By the next mail, every British consulate in the world was asked to report to the Washington Embassy if John Darien Power, an Englishman, with American domicile, appeared within its jurisdiction. No report ever arrived. Long before the inquiry reached the one consul who might have learnt something of his whereabouts, Power had vanished off the map, a phrase which, in this instance, happened to be literally true. Thus, Dacre's well-meant efforts to keep in touch with his friend were frustrated, and, for the time, he drops out of this history.

When Power arrived in San Francisco, though his definite project as to the future involved a long disappearance from the haunts of civilised men, he had not decided where to pitch his tent. He had actually thought, as Dacre surmised, of going to the inner fastnesses of the Himalayas; but his voluntary exile connoted something more than mere effacement—it meant suffering, and sacrifice, and the succour of earth's miserable ones—and the barrier of language shut out the East. Again, there was little, if any, element of danger attached to a sojourn in the hilly solitudes of Hindustan; it even appealed to his student's proclivities, so, for that reason alone, it was dismissed. Spanish was the only foreign tongue he was thoroughly conversant with, and his thoughts turned to Spanish-speaking South America. He made up his mind to go there, and search for his field.

San Francisco was the city of his young manhood. In happier conditions its familiar features, then unmarred by earthquake or fire, could hardly fail to evoke pleasant memories. The Moores lived there, and they, aided by a host of old-time acquaintances, would gladly have made him welcome, but he avoided such snares by driving straight to the offices of the Pacific Steamship Company, where he ascertained that the mail steamer Panama sailed for Valparaiso that day.

He was on board within the hour, and remained in his cabin until the engines started. Then he went on deck, and bade farewell to a land where he had worked, and dreamed, and endured during the full years of his lost youth. Practically his last intimate glimpse of the west, save for distant views of the Californian coast, and a fleeting call at San Diego, was obtained when the vessel passed through the Golden Gate. Bitter-sweet recollections warred in heart and brain as he watched the beautiful and well-loved panorama. Every bold promontory and sequestered bay of the miles of narrow straits were familiar to his eyes. If there was aught of weakness in his composition it must have made its presence felt then, but that there could be any turning back did not even occur to his vague thoughts. He might be moving swiftly into unfathomable night; his action might be deemed either stubborn or irresponsible; he might be regarded as the victim of self-delusion; but at least it must be said of him that he never flinched from the barren outlook or admitted the possibility of retreat. Hitherto love for his mother had exercised the most lasting and salutary influence on his life. The depth and intensity of that love was the gauge of his horror when he discovered that he had caused her death. His emotions were incapable of logical analysis. She was dead. His forbidden passion for another woman had killed her. She might have lived seven years. For seven years he would placate her spirit in weariness and painfulness, in watchings often, in hunger and thirst, in fastings often, in cold and nakedness.

His strength was that of the mind. He was of the order of chivalry. His renunciation would have been well understood by a few men who lived and had their being a thousand years ago. In the America of the early nineties, had his undertaking been known, which it was not, nor ever has been till this writing, the heedless majority must have wagged sapient noddles, and cried in chorus:—"He is mad!"

A discriminating purser allotted him to the captain's table, and at dinner that evening he found himself next to a Chilian merchant. This man sat on his left. On the right was an empty chair, which adjoined the commander's position at the head of the table.

The captain greeted him with the ready camaraderie of the sea.

"My ward has not put in an appearance," he said, nodding towards the vacant place. "She can't be ill yet, anyhow, but, like most women, I suppose, she is unpunctual."

"Is lack of punctuality a feminine failing?" said Power, seeing that he was expected to answer.

The sailor laughed.

"It is evident you are not a married man, Mr. Power, or you would not need to ask," he said.

"How true!" piped the Chilian, in a singularly high-pitched voice. The people at that end of the table grinned, and the Chilian instantly won a reputation as a humourist. Some days passed before they discovered that he had brought off his only joke thus early in the voyage. He possessed a fund of information about nitrate and guano, but these topics were not popular, so his conversational talent exhausted itself in that one comment. On this occasion it happened to be appropriate.

Power, who had summed him up as a dull dog at a glance, was surveying him with a degree of surprise, when he became aware that the missing lady had arrived. She had slipped into her chair quietly, and was apologising for being late.

"I am usually a most methodical person," she said, "but I mislaid a key—"

She broke off, in smiling embarrassment, because of the general laughter, and the captain had to explain that the wretched males present had been vilifying her sex.

"There was one exception, though," he rattled on. "Our friend on your left seemed to think otherwise. Mr. Power, let me introduce you to Miss Marguerite Sinclair."

Yielding to convention—most potent of human ties—Power turned with a polite bow, but not even his pre-occupied mind was proof against the feeling of stupefaction caused by his first impression of the captain's "ward." She certainly owned a girlish and graceful figure, and her brown hair was glossy and abundant, but her skin was withered, and that side of her face which was visible bore a number of livid scars. It was impossible to determine her age. The slim, willowly body and really beautiful hair apparently indicated youth, but the appalling disfigurement of the face, which extended from the top of the cheek to the slender column of her neck, simply forbade any accurate estimate. The pity of it was that her profile was faultless, and a little pink shell of an ear was almost fantastically opposed to the shrivelled and scar-seamed features adjoining it. Yet, in some indescribable way, she reminded him of Nancy, and the notion was so grotesque and abhorrent that he shuddered.

Luckily her attention was drawn for a moment by a steward, and he had recovered his wits before she looked at him. Then he found that her eyes were peculiarly brilliant. He noted, with positive relief, that they were not blue, like Nancy's, but brown. They had a curiously penetrative quality, too, which seemed to dispel the repugnant effect of the accident—he saw now that she must have sustained some grave injury—which marred her good looks.

"Thank you," she said composedly. "Usually I have to fight my own battles. It will be quite a relief to count on an ally so valiant that he draws the sword without waiting to see the person whose cause he espouses."

Her voice was cultured and incisive. It seemed to offer a challenge to all the world, yet it held an arresting note of cheerful irony that betokened an equable temperament. After the first shock of surprise, almost of dismay, had passed, Power fancied that she carried herself thus bravely as a protest against the brutality of fate.

GRAND OPERA.

"LOUISE."

The repetition of "Louise," entered upon with some fear and trembling by Mr. Thomas Quinlan, drew a packed audience to Her Majesty's Theatre on Saturday night. Evidently Gustave Charpentier's music-drama has "caught on" with Sydney audiences, and this entrepreneur, who has brought us so many good things, may rest assured that opera-goers here would rise eagerly to the opportunity of a third performance. Part of the enthusiasm on each occasion has been due to the fact that "Louise" is probably the best thing, outside Wagner, that the Quinlan artists have done. Jeanne Brola as the passionate Louise, who has found her mate and will not be drugged by the opiate of her father's love into the belief that a woman's happiness after such a discovery can still consist in the "baby-petting" of her parents' home, both plays and sings the central role with charm. Miss Edna Thornton's portrait of the rather shrewish but devoted mother who is loyal to her old man, would hold a theatrical audience on the acting alone; and Mr. W. J. Samuell is especially strong as the irascible, grief-stricken father, who vainly supposes that his "little girl" would sooner have him sing her to sleep than her lover! Mr. Maurice D'Oisly, as Julian, sings finely in the rapturous love-duet, and all the minor characters are well played. The whole production, with the beautiful orchestration, rendered with sympathetic delicacy under Signor Voghera's baton, well deserves the success it again achieved on Saturday, when all concerned were recalled amidst the proverbial "thunders of applause."

The Musical Association of New South Wales first approached Mr. Quinlan with a request for a repetition of this modern French work, and accordingly that body was numerously represented on Saturday. Mr. W. Arundel Orchard (president), Messrs. Joseph Bradley, Alfred Hill, Henri Staell, Reginald Goood, Lawrence Godfrey Smith, Hugh McMenamin, Ernest Wunderlich, and G. De Cairos Rego (hon. secretary) were amongst the many artists and amateurs present.

Wagner's superb comic opera "The Mastersingers" will be staged at 6.45 to-night, with the original cast, which will be altered only in one respect to allow of the appearance here of Herr Emil Greder as Beckmesser, a character he has frequently played in Germany and also at the Metropolitan Opera House, New York. "Rigoletto" will be staged at 8 p.m. to-morrow, and "The Girl of the Golden West" at 8 p.m. on Wednesday.

THE SYMPHONY MATINEE.

The Quinlan Opera Orchestra, reinforced by leading Sydney artists to a total strength of 70 players, will give a matinee concert at 2 o'clock on Wednesday. Dr. Tullio Voghera will conduct Mendelssohn's "Hebrides" overture, the lovely "Intermezzo" from "Manon Lescaut," and Tchaikowsky's "Symphonie Pathetique." Herr Richard Eckhold will direct Beethoven's "Symphony No. 5," the Vorspiel to "Parsifal;" also the "Prelude and Liebestod" from "Tristran and Isolde," with Miss Perceval Allen. The other soloists will be Miss Edna Thornton ("Invocazione" from "Un Ballo in Machera"), and Herr Franz Costa (Sword Song from "Siegfried"). The plan is at Paling's.

MISS MOLLIE CLAXTON'S RECITAL.

In Paling's Concert Hall on Saturday afternoon Miss Mollie Claxton, a pupil of Mr. S. Voet Janssen, gave an interesting violin recital. She was assisted in the programme by Miss Alicia Nolan (at the piano); Miss Dulcie Huxtable, who sang Puccini's aria, "Dost Thou Not Long for Our Cottage Secluded," from "La Tosca"; Miss E. Forsyth, and other pupils in a violin ensemble.

Miss Claxton, a young player with all her life before her, exhibited facile skill in De Beriot's "Concerto in G Major," "Radesca," "Gavotte" (Elvey, paraphrased by Mr. Janssen), "Concertstuck" (Scharts), "Deutscher Tanz" (Mozart-Burmester), and "Scenes Hongroises" (Lederer).

CRUELTY TO A HORSE.

At the Newtown Police Court, before Mr. King, S.M., Inspector Williams, of the Animals Protection Society, proceeded against Charles Waters for cruelly beating a horse over the head with a whip handle. The officer stated that he saw the defendant on the 28th ult. at St. Peters in charge of a cart, heavily laden with metal, with two horses attached. The animals were unable to pull the load, and the driver unmercifully flogged the leader, the hair being removed in places. Waters, who pleaded guilty, was fined 42s, with 4s costs, or one month's imprisonment.

AMUSEMENTS.

THEATRE ROYAL.

At the Theatre Royal on Saturday evening there was a large attendance at the entertainment given by the mysterious Jansen, and the many illusions kept the audience in a simmer of excitement. The last few nights are now announced, with a final matinee on Wednesday.

"THE CONFESSION."

"The Confession," a new American melodrama, by James Halleck Reid, will be produced at the Theatre Royal next Saturday by the William Anderson Dramatic Company. Miss Eugenie Duggan and Mr. R. Roberts (the latter as a parish priest) will play the central characters in this play, which enjoyed a run of seven weeks in Melbourne. The plan will open at Paling's to-morrow at 10.

CRITERION THEATRE.

"Within the Law" has such a firm hold upon Sydney audiences that many people were unable to gain admission to the Criterion Theatre on Saturday. Miss Muriel Starr, Miss Mary Worth, Messrs. Lincoln Plumer, E. W. Morrison, Reginald Wykeham, Eric Harrison, and other favourite artists are in the cast of "Within the Law," of which a matinee will be given on Wednesday next.

PALACE THEATRE.

A densely-crowded house greeted Mr. Allen Doone in "Barry of Ballymore" at the Palace Theatre on Saturday, when hearty laughter attended the comedy scene in which the heroine (Miss Edna Keeley) amusingly refuses to reveal her name to the gallant Barry. On Saturday next Mr. Allen Doone will revive the favourite play, "Molly Bawn" for six nights, and on November 22 he will appear in the romantic Irish drama, "The Rebel."

ADELPHI THEATRE.

A great audience filled the Adelphi Theatre on Saturday to witness "For the Term of His Natural Life," and it is now probable that this stirring dramatisation of the sufferings of Rufus Dawes and the love of Sylvia in the days of the early convict settlement in Tasmania will run longer than was at first proposed. Mr. Geo. Cross and the other artists of the Willoughby Company impressively sustained the interest of the story.

A Christmas pantomime on the subject of "Aladdin" will be elaborately staged at popular prices, with many novel imported attractions, at the Adelphi; but before that Mr. George Willoughby will revive the romantic drama, "The Monk and the Woman."

ROYAL PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY.

The Royal Philharmonic Society will give its next concert at the Town Hall on Thursday, November 27, when Rossini's "Stabat Mater" will be performed by the full chorus and orchestra under Mr. Joseph Bradley's direction. Mme. Mary Conly and Miss Eugenie Baird have been specially engaged, and Mr. Alex. Cooper, of Adelaide, and Mr. Percy Herford will also appear. In the miscellaneous programme Mme. Conly will sing "Let the Bright Seraphim" (with trumpet obbligato), M. Henri Staell will play the Beethoven Violin Concerto (with orchestra), and Beethoven's "Choral Fantasia" will be rendered, with Mr. Frank Hutchens as pianist. Subscribers now joining will be entitled to this concert, and the first three concerts of next year.

NATIONAL AMPHITHEATRE.

At the National Amphitheatre on Saturday Paul Pedrini and the Risby Baboon, Toby, were the star attractions. The turn comprised an original spectacular scena, "Pastimes on a Battleship," in which Pedrini introduced some exceptionally clever balancing and juggling on the feet. The baboon Toby proved to be an acrobat of no mean ability. Mons. Herbert, the musical waiter, opened a return engagement, with his musical dining table. The turn is excellent and entertaining. One of the most popular turns on the bill was that of the Two Storys, in ragtime songs. Callan and Emery, with their amusing and original turn, "The Bootblack and the Skivvy," and the Driscoll B-Hoys were also on the programme. Other turns of note were George Murphy, Jennings and Gerald, Lu Bates, the Creightons, and Matthews and Mack.

WAITARA MATINEE—CRITERION.

The organisers of Saturday's matinee at the Criterion, in aid of the Waitara Foundling Home, have every reason to congratulate both the home and themselves on the success of their aims. The house was filled. The play chosen was A. W. Pinero's "Dandy Dick"—written before the veteran dramatist had quite attained his noon, yet breathing throughout the spirit of genuine comedy, expressed in dialogue of delicious humour. The absurdity of the conception of a Dean who is arrested by the local constable for being in his own stables, "with intent," and rescued vi et armis by his friends, is redeemed from mere farce by the fact that it takes place off the stage, and unmixed laughter only is therefore evoked when one of the rescuers deprecates the thanks of the Dean's sister for thrusting the Dean's head into a sack to avoid his recognition, by urging that such acts are simply the common courtesies of everyday life.

The acting, for the most part, was that of an amateur cast, worthy of high praise. Undoubtedly the best acting was that of Mrs. S. Bennett-White, in the role of the horsey widow, in which the author's conception was admirably typeed. The Dean was also well played by Mr. A. G. B. White, while some clever character acting was noticed in Mr. H. J. Thynne, as the aged butler, with a penchant for punting, and for imparting "tips" instead of receiving them. Messrs. A. P. Thompson and E. E. Winchcombe, as Major Tarvey and Mr. Darbey, respectively, wooed the Dean's daughters, Misses C. Lee and D. Usher, with delightful humour on both sides. Mr. H. O. Broadbent as Sir Tristram Mardon, lacked finish, owing doubtless, to inexperience, but otherwise fulfilled his part agreeably. Mr. W. A. Lloyd, as the local constable, was thoroughly amusing, while Miss Dorothy Webb presented a charming figure as the young and (apparently) much too pretty wife. Mr. M. Younger, as the groom, made the most of a small part.

The performance was conducted under the patronage of his Excellency the State Governor and Lady Strickland, and under the direction of Mr. John E. [illegible] Programmes and chocolates were sold by the children of Mr. John McCormack for the benefit of the home. The musical setting was provided by the Band Orchestra.

CONCERT IN ST. JAMES' HALL.

A well-attended concert was given on Saturday evening by the Sydney Harmonic Choral Society, under the conduct of Mr. W. Bourne, and assisted by Mr. W. H. Williams, mezzo, Miss Dorothy Mason, elocutionist, Miss Jessie Sheath, soprano, Mr. Percy Herford, basso, and Mr. Carl Gotsch, 'cellist. The chorus showed a considerable improvement, and the audience expressed their opinion of the performance by warmly applauding. Encores in fact were the order of the evening. Miss Jessie Sheath followed up an agreeable rendering of Verdi's "Ernani Involami," with "Ye Banks and Braes"; and Miss Dorothy Mason gave "Abu Ben Adhem" as a sequel to "The Curse of the White Swan." Mr. Percy Herford also obtained an encore for "Blow, Blow, Thou Winter Wind." A thoroughly deserved encore was accepted by Mr. Carl Gotsch, whose 'cello renderings of Schubert's "Ave Maria," and the well-known "Menuet" of Boccherini, combined to form one of the most enjoyable numbers of the evening. As encore, Mr. Gotsch played the difficult scherzo of Van Goens. Mrs. W. Bourne and Mr. G. Vern Barnett shared the duties of accompanist.

MR. ERNEST TRUMAN'S RECITAL.

Rossini's "Stabat Mater," a beautiful work and one long popular with a large section of music lovers in Sydney, formed the piece de resistance at Mr. Ernest Truman's organ recital on Saturday night. Mr. Truman's performance of the "Stabat Mater" was distinctly one to be enjoyed and remembered, its interpretation infused something of a new charm even into such well-known passages as in the "Cujus Animam," while he fully brought out the pity and terror of the "Pro Peccatis," with its sombre bass, or the final majestic chorus, "In Sempiterna Saecula." The second half of the programme was occupied with the intermezzo from the "Cavalleria" of Mascagni, the "Prayer and Cradle Song," by Guilmant, and Lemmens's "Storm," assisted by mechanical effects.

"THE PRISONER OF ZENDA."

"Cross v Crescent" was shown at Spencer's Lyceum for the last time on Saturday. From to-night a dramatised version of Anthony Hope's "The Prisoner of Zenda," will take principal place in the programme. This story gained wide popularity in literary form, and this fact alone warranted its cinematographic presentation. James K. Hackett, an American romantic actor, will be seen in the chief role.

GLACIARIUM AND OLYMPIA.

Big houses ruled at the Glaciarium and Olympia during the presentation by West's of "Protea, the Adventuress." "Fortune's Wheel," which is to be screened from to-night, is said to be a drama possessing unique qualities.

CRYSTAL PALACE.

The Arnot-Paddon boat race on the Parramatta River is bound to draw thousands to the Crystal Palace Picture Hall to-day.

"The Battle of Gettysburg" will be the chief film attraction at the Lyric Theatre all this week.

The drama "Bloodhounds of the Law" at the Colonial, from to-day, will be supplemented by "Tivoli" (scenic), the "Gaumont Graphic," etc.

"The Wizard of the Jungle," "Max, the Ladies' Man," and the Warwick Chronicle, are to be the principal subjects for presentation at the Empress to-day.

ALHAMBRA THEATRE.

The programme on Saturday at the Alhambra Theatre included Little Marjorie, described as the greatest child wonder on the vaudeville stage, Ernesto and Doyle, magicians; Hart and Kenny, and the Four Kings. The performance concluded with the farce "Boomgem."

PRINCESS THEATRE.

Among the artists for the ensuing week at the Princess Theatre are Gascoigne, the herculean equilibrist; and Millie Doris, she of the hot cross bun. This is the famous English artist's last week. There is also the attraction of Little Verlie, the "juvenile wonder of the age."

IMPERIAL THEATRE.

The great film known as "London by Day and Night," is now being shown at the Imperial. The whole realm of London's fascination is pictured, beside the landmarks of the city, its social life is also featured. It is a fine film.

MELBOURNE THEATRES.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

The enthusiastic reception given by a thronged house to "A Butterfly on the Wheel" at the Theatre Royal last night left no doubt as to the success of the production. Mr. Lewis Waller played the part of the lover, Roderick Collingwood, instead of counsel for the petitioner, Sir Robert Fyffe, K.C., as in Sydney. "The Arcadians" is still a popular attraction at Her Majesty's Theatre, and the American Musical Burlesque Company is doing record business with "A Day at the Races" at the King's Theatre. Madame Lillian Nordica and her brilliant company gave another successful concert at the Town Hall last night.

THE WRECKED EUROKA.

The steamer Euroka, which is lying hard and fast on the rocks at Long Reef, near Dee Why, is beginning to present a battered appearance. To those on shore the vessel's back appears to be broken. She is resting amidships on a rocky ledge, and is washed fore and aft by each successive roller. Most of the fittings have been salved. The machinery was the first to go, then the deck gear, and the winches were secured by a small launch which manoeuvred alongside for the purpose.

ON THE LAND.

FARM AND STATION.

SCOTTISH FARMING.

It was to be expected that the criticism passed by a returned New Zealander on Scottish farming would arouse the resentment of some of Scotia's sons in this country, for they are nothing if not patriotic. As is often the case with such criticism, they have no difficulty in framing an effective retort for comparisons in these things are seldom safe unless very careful investigation is made. In that investigation full allowance must be made for the different conditions existing in the different countries, and it must be remembered that what suits one will not always suit the other. No doubt, most Australian and American farmers, accustomed to handling comparatively large areas with the most modern machinery, the only way in which they can be handled, would be inclined to view some of the methods, as regards machinery, in the old lands with astonishment and pity, which promotes the notion that the old-world farmer is very conservative and backward. In the same way the practical Scottish agriculturist, forced by environment to obtain the highest possible return from his land, and therefore to practise the most thorough farming methods as regards manuring, rotation of crops, conservation of fodder, and cultivation of fodder crops, is apt to view with horror the, to him, wasteful and careless methods of farming in this country. In both cases it may be taken there is ground for the feeling invoked, and in both cases local conditions are not fully understood. Probably old-world farming would be improved in many districts by a fuller recognition of the value of labour-saving machinery, and reports indicate that this is increasing in the best districts in both England and Scotland. And it is also certain that farming in this country would improve with the adoption of the careful, thorough methods of old-world agriculturists, after full allowance has been made for the difference in climatic conditions.

In some ways the old pioneer farmers, fresh from the old land, farmed better when they started in this country than their descendants have done, although, of course, they found that some of the methods they had been accustomed to were neither suitable nor necessary in the new land. Then the presence of unlimited areas of fertile land with a congenial climate led to easier-going methods, and the tendency—almost a necessity—was for larger areas less carefully tended. Thus we reached the stage of large areas handled mainly in a slap-dash manner, from which we are now emerging. The future agriculturist must work more on the lines of the old-world farmer in many ways, as he will have to pay more attention to the requirements of his soil, and study crop rotation, the growing of fodder crops, and the breeding and fattening of stock on sounder and more thorough lines. In all these things there is no doubt the best class of Scottish farmer can teach us much. We doubt if the best of our farmers could make ends meet working under the conditions that beset the tenant farmer in Scotland; therefore it is natural that those who realise this should resent criticism. It is indeed for that very reason that this country holds such splendid prospects for the Scottish immigrant, while we would learn, despite his raw new-chum attitude in many things we take for granted, much from his presence, just as an observant farmer should be able to learn a great deal, if he has the capacity to differentiate, by a visit to the farming districts of the old country. The success attained in breeding live stock, and in obtaining heavy crop yields from secondrate land cultivated for generations, is a standard we might emulate with considerable profit, and are not obviated by the fact that we may be more progressive in utilising the latest improved machinery or prone to do things generally on a bolder scale. And in the latter regard a correspondent makes a strong point when he refers to the way a great deal of ploughing is done in this country, for it is, to say the least, often crude and badly performed, and the time is approaching when it will have to be generally recognised that ploughing consists of more than simply ripping up large areas in record time. Just as the soil responds to careful treatment, so it deteriorates when harshly handled—a fact that centuries have taught the Scottish farmer, but towards which virgin fertility has tended to render the Australian farmer careless and forgetful. All things considered, we don't think our farmers can adopt a superior attitude at the present stage towards their Scottish contemporaries.

"Yanco" writes—In your issue of Friday last I noticed the experiences of a New Zealand farmer who has just returned from a visit to Scotland, where he claims to have studied farming methods, and found them so antiquated that it requires three men to run a double-furrow plough, and although, as he states, they mostly use the single-furrow plough, it requires two men even to manage that, and consequently he found nothing new there for Australian farmers to learn. Now, a wise and great American once published a little book of maxims on "Ways to Wealth," and one that caught my fancy as a boy runs thus:—

> He that by the plough would thrive,
> Himself must either hold or drive.

Evidently allowing for two men to the successful plough. I take it then that the Scottish farmers' ploughing is at least of a kind to thrive on.

No doubt the returned New Zealander glories in our use of the many-furrow plough, drawn by many horses, with our one-man driver. But sooth to say I have seen that fine spectacular feat of farming often performed in Australia when one felt impelled to deplore that the poor fellow did not stick to a single furrow, until he had learned the value of turning down the sod, instead of scarifying the surface, mostly in the interests of weeds and grasses.

Again, unless the New Zealand farmer studied Scottish farming on the steep sea-girt slopes of the outer Hebrides, Scottish farming methods are indeed decadent, and we who knew something of them at an earlier date may well ask the question, "Stands Scotland where she did?" for the writer is native of the furthest north, whereof our detractors aver that modern intelligence found it as impenetrable as did the Romans—and in his youth was familiar with the ploughing methods of Orkney, Caithness, and Sutherland, and even down to the Lothians, but never can I remember having seen, on any holding aspiring to the name of farm, two men on a single-furrow plough.

Moreover, in my youth I have often paused on the highway in admiration of the straight, well-turned furrows, reminding one of the closely-drawn parallel shading lines of a skilled draughtsman, almost merged, but each distinct. Seldom has such uniformity of workmanship arrested my attention on the Australian farm.

I trust the New Zealander's observation may claim the attention of some farming authority more recently connected with Scotland than the writer, so that we may really know if such criticism is fair and true, because the very opposite of "antiquated methods" was the writer's belief, otherwise how can the Scottish farmer, in open competition with the world, continue to till heavily-rented lands, some of them anything but naturally fertile, and claim to have any real existence.

ITEMS.

The recent rains are responsible for a luxuriant growth of grass, and the paddocks in many parts of the south and west contain splendid pasturage, rarely seen at this time of the year.

Around Cootamundra there are crops nearly six feet high, so luxuriant has been the growth since the rain fell. With other showers following, the recovery effected has been remarkable.

The late crops will benefit by the recent rains, and many believe that the yield of wheat this season should be a record one, as far as the aggregate goes, although many paddocks are not stripping as well as last year.

With a good summer assured there is some concern among the chaff growers as to the demand for fodder. With the comparatively dry summers of late year, chaff cutting has become a big industry, and gives employment to many men.

The potato crops in the Orange district will benefit by the propitious weather of the last few weeks. There is a large area under cultivation, and it is expected that the season will be exceptionally favourable.

Cherry-picking has started in the Young district, and hundreds of cases are being despatched daily to Sydney. While the fruit is yet on the small side, the demand more than compensates for the tediousness of packing.

YANCO.

"THE BEST OF OPPORTUNITIES."

Mr. A. V. Donnan, late of the Hawkesbury Agricultural College, gives the following particulars in the college "Journal" regarding the Yanco irrigation area:—Most of the soil on the area can be classed as a stiff red clay loam. In places it is more sandy and easier to work, but the stiff type predominates. The subsoil varies in character, but in general it is clayey, containing nodules of limestone. This clay is of a flaky character, consequently natural drainage is fair, as far as the percolation of water is concerned. In some places a band of red plastic clay, several inches thick, lies below the surface soil, and approaches to within a few inches of the surface in patches. The manager of the experiment farm, Mr. Chomley, has tried explosives to improve the drainage on one of these patches, and the results so far have been satisfactory.

The natural vegetation shows an abundance of legumes, medicks, trefoils, clovers, an evidence of a fertile soil rich in lime.

Of the agricultural crops lucerne stands first, and can be grown to perfection. The bulk of the lucerne on the area has been established for some years, at one time forming a part of Sir Samuel M'Caughey's estate. Most of it is too thin. There are several good stands of new planted lucerne on the area. That on the experiment farm has done well. A conservative estimate of the return from good lucerne fields, well cared for, would be four tons of hay per acre, including first cut and last growth, which extends into winter, and forms a good green picking for stock.

Wheat for hay has succeeded very well under irrigation, yields over three tons per acre having been obtained from Zealand variety in some portions of the experiment farm in 1912. The great danger with wheat grown under these conditions is its tendency to lodge. With regard to growing wheaten hay for an outside market, such a practice will only be profitable when high prices are ruling. At any other time the margin of profit would be low, and much less than could be obtained from many other products. The same remarks apply to oats, which have also been very successful.

Some failures have been experienced with maize crops for grain. Most of these happened with spring-planted crops, tasselling and cobbing during hot, windy weather in summer. These adverse conditions interfered with fertilisation, and a poor setting of grain was the result. However, by planting late varieties such as Golden Nugget, and early varieties such as Hickory King, in December, the tasselling and cobbing will take place under more favourable conditions. This year at the Experiment farms Hickory King, planted early in January, 1913, had hardly enough time to mature before frosts set in, yet it yielded 35 bushels to the acre, and the grain was obtained on well-set cobs. This crop was not grown under the best of conditions, consequently it is safe to assert that with good treatment maize will succeed on the area.

For green fodder good crops have been grown. There is no reason why maize should not be planted thickly for green fodder crops where water can be obtained. Thirty pounds per acre, in rows three feet apart should produce, under good conditions, 20 tons per acre.

On the heavy loams good crops of potatoes will be the exception rather than the rule. Some good results were obtained by settlers this autumn, which was a good one, as there was a good rainfall, and a small amount of irrigation was needed. The trouble with potatoes is that if once the soil is allowed to become dry, it sets hard, checks the plant, and when the water is again put on, second growth in the tubers is the result. In this connection the incorporation of a green crop would open the soil and allay considerably the cementing together of the soil particles, which happens in the present state. At any rate spring-planted crops are almost certain to fail. Autumn crops will have to be carefully watch d and tended to ensure success.

For green fodder and ensilage sorghum is a success. The ration for the experiment farm dairy herd for the last few months has contained sorghum ensilage from a crop yielding about ten tons to the acre. The sorghum crop was in rows 14 inches apart, and a maize binder would not work satisfactorily, since, when the rows are less than about two feet apart, the next row to the one being cut is damaged. A wheat reaper and binder, fitted with attachments, performed the work well. A 13-hole wheat drill, with all but the third, seventh, and tenth holes stopped up, will sow sorghum in rows 28 inches apart. At this distance the crop can be handled with a maize binder.

Barley, rye, and pumpkins have done well. Mangolds and turnips, and on the lighter soils sweet potatoes and onions, should also be successful.

At present barley grass gives a good picking of tasty green feed on the pasture lands. A grass is wanted, however, which will last longer in an edible condition. Rhodes grass at the experiment farm has been kept well eaten down by stock. With paspalum, once a seed head was formed, it was neglected by the stock, with the result that a coarse growth of grass developed by the winter. Paspalum is likely to prove a terrible nuisance in the ditches and drains. So far it has given some considerable trouble in this way at the experiment farm. Phalaris bulbosa is really yet only in the experiment stage.

Dairying is forming the starting point for many of the settlers. Some have taken it up as their mainstay, but the majority will make this industry return money until the other parts of their holdings, especially the orchards, are developed. Whether they will then continue it as part of a mixed farm remains to be seen. Very little idea of the profit in the work can be obtained in the settlement itself where the land has only been recently taken up, but at the Experiment Farm the herd has been longer in existence. This herd is composed mostly of pure Jerseys, and it has been demonstrated that dairying can be successfully carried out. The best cow during her last lactation period earned over £20. Lucerne hay and ensilage, both of which can be cheaply produced, will make the hand-feeding problem easy.

The profit with pigs will vary with the price of grain (maize), and the settler who grows a good crop of maize, or is able to buy at reasonable rates will be successful with pigs. The remaining crops necessary for feeding purposes all do very well—lucerne, rape, pumpkins, and others. Pigs in conjunction with the dairy will pay even better. With these animals, as in general with all others on the area, freedom from disease will be practically assured.

The Yanco Experiment Farm orchard has formed the subject of numerous articles dealing with its splendid performances. It is now five years old, and this year phenomenal returns were obtained from peaches and late table grapes. Each of these crops paid at the rate or over of £100 per acre gross. Apricots also did well, giving up to £50 per acre. The growth of all trees planted has been very good, and, taken all through, there is no doubt that orchards will play the biggest part in the development of the area.

With regard to Yanco as a farming proposition, there is no doubt that—for the small man—it is the best of opportunities to become independent. The probable rent and the water rate (for water used) would be 7s and 5s per acre per annum. The system of instalments at easy rates of interest involves very little money being laid down at the beginning, this leaving a settler practically all his capital with which to develop his holding. This, the permanent tenure, and the social and general advantages of a thickly settled area, are the chief features and reasons why Yanco stands in so favourable a light. A man with some experience of irrigation could start and make good with £300, but an extra £100 would save a good deal of labour and time in developing a 50-acre block.

Two sources of trouble at Yanco will be (1) firewood, and (2) drainage. As a matter of fact, all timber is and will be expensive. Drainage is rendered difficult, on account of the flat surface, and those who have a few feet fall between the ends of their blocks are lucky.

Yanco in a few years' time will be a sight worth going a long way to see.

SUGAR BEET AS CATTLE FOOD.

Some interesting experiments to ascertain the value of sugar beet as a cattle food were recently carried out by the Harper-Adams Agricultural College, Newport, England, and the results proved that as a fattener it has great value. The first test was made with dried beet slices, which were imported from Germany, and which were given at the rate of 12lb per day, after having been soaked with water for 24 hours, and took the place of 84lb of mangolds given to the other group of bullocks. The animals receiving the sugar-beet slices were given water to make up for the lack of moisture, and on an average they consumed 45lb of water each per day. The other ingredients, which both lots of bullocks received in equal quantities, were 8lb of cake and corn, and 7lb of chopped straw. All the bullocks were fed alike from November until the middle of January, when four of the eight were given the beet slices and water in place of the mangolds, and this arrangement was continued until the experiment ended eight weeks later. The average gains in live weight showed 1lb per head per week in favour of the beet slices or an average gain per head of 1.88lb, against 1.74lb.

SISAL HEMP

SHOULD BE A PROFITABLE CROP.

During last year 6000 tons of raw hemp were imported into New South Wales to be manufactured into rope and twine, and that a large proportion of this product could be profitably grown in the State is the opinion of a gentleman who has had practical experience in the growing of the sisal plant. He states that the inferior lands of the State—lands which are totally unfit for the use of graziers or agriculturists—are admirably suitable for the growth of the agave, or sisal, from which the hemp is obtained. The most suitable land for a sisal plantation is such as is poor, rocky, dry, loose, strong, or gravelly soil, but rich in lime. Swampy, moist, low-lying land cannot be utilised for its cultivation, and on such lands failure in the growth of the plant would be inevitable. In cultivating the plant there is no necessity for ploughs, as ploughing and general cultivation are not only unnecessary, but are distinctly undesirable and unprofitable. The pick, grubber, billhook, and crowbar are favoured. The trees on forest lands must be cut level with the ground, but there is no need to grub up the roots of the trees at the start, though while the roots remain the suckering of the tree must be studiously attended to, so that the suckers will not keep off the sun's rays from the plants, as sunlight is the breath of life to them. When the plantation is fenced, trees cut down, burnt, and cleared off, planting may be started. All that is needed is to mark the rows for the digging of the holes in which the plants are to be placed. The rows should be 12ft. apart, and the distance between the plants not less than 6ft. This will give, approximately, 600 plants to an acre. These holes must be 18in in diameter and 8in in depth.

Young plants, or "suckers," are sometimes purchaseable from some of the sisal hemp growers in Queensland, but if they cannot be there obtained they will have to be imported from countries where the sisal fibre industry flourishes—Yucatan, Sandwich Islands, Mexico, or the Bahamas. The price varies from £5 per thousand at the Sandwich Islands to £8 to £10 per thousand at Yucatan. When the young plants are secured, and holes dug ready to receive them, the dry leaves should be carefully removed before planting, and the main roots cut as short as possible. It is also advisable to pare the trunk all round as bare as safety will admit, but not so closely as to allow the leaves to fall off. Planting may be carried out at any season of the year, though during the spring is considered to be the best time in this State, because rain is more likely just then. The actual putting in of the plants is only a small detail, and it is estimated that a fair working hand could plant about an acre a day.

After the planting is done a fairly considerable spell elapses, but the young plants must be kept free of weeds, of which couch grass is said to be easily the worst pest, as it twines round the young plants' roots and retards their growth. Swamp cousin has been known to completely destroy a plantation. Suckers from the plants will be in evidence about the end of the first year, and by the end of the second year each plant will produce about 100 of them. These must be removed for the purpose of laying out new areas, and also to prevent the mother plants suffering for want of proper nutrition. These should find a ready sale if the possibilities of the industry are recognised. The first crop of leaves from the planted areas will, generally speaking, mature and be ready for cutting in from three to five years, according to soil, treatment, etc. The leaves should be three feet long before being cut, when they will weigh about three pounds each. The leaves must not be cut till they are ripe, nor should they be left until they become overripe. When they assume a dark green colour they are ripe. Such leaves will appear on each plant at about the age of four years, from 10 to 20 to each plant on an average. Later on they will yield from 40 to 50 each year. These should be cut as close to the trunk as possible. After the first plants have reached the leaf-bearing stage the work of the plantation becomes continuous, for when the plants are denuded of their leaves they set about producing another crop. The plants live for a very long time—even 100 years—and in some parts of the world they are called "century plants."

Various machines have been invented for the extraction of the fibre from the leaves, and these cost from £24 to £1000. In Mauritius a machine called the "grattè" is used, and in Yucatan the "raspadora" is generally employed. These are said to be simple contrivances and easily constructed and any handy bushman should, after overhauling one of them, be able to construct a similar type of appliance.

A reasonable crop should yield for a first cutting an average return of £10 10s per acre after deducting cost of labour, machinery, etc., but as much as £50 per acre has been obtained. The fibre is worth locally about 2½d per lb. As before mentioned there is no set time for harvesting, yet when once a start is made to cut the leaves they must be put through the machine during the day on which they are cut.

Points that favour the industry are:—The industry requires no special agricultural knowledge; the land that would be most suitable for it is the kind of land no landseeker rushes to take up; droughts and floods, except on low-lying lands, which should not be used for the purpose, cause no damage to the crop; neither heat nor cold and frost prove a detriment to the growth of the crop; failure of the crop on the proper kind of land is unknown; it is a very profitable crop and needs no skill and very little capital to produce; the work is not hard, and can be leisurely done.

HORSEBREAKING DEMONSTRATION.

A demonstration of how to break in a horse was given by Mr. Henry Lord, lecturer in agriculture at the Sydney Technical College, at Warrawee, on Saturday afternoon. A large number of pupils attended Experiment Farm the herd has been longer on Mr. F. Chilton's paddock attached to his orchard, and, being grassed with paspalum, was favourable for the exhibition. Mr. Lord, who had a very big horse as subject, proved himself an adept with horses, and the object of his demonstration was to prove that kindness and patience are absolute essentials to their quietening. By clever hitches and knots the lecturer showed how a minimum of effort need be expended in what is often made a most strenuous operation.

TUBERCULOSIS AMONGST CATTLE.

The report of Mr. T. Bavin, chairman of the Pure Foods Commission, in which he stated that 20 per cent. of the cattle in the coastal districts were affected with tuberculosis, has aroused considerable resentment amongst South Coast farmers. The opinion is freely expressed that Mr. Bavin had no justification for making such an assertion, which, whether true or not, is calculated to do considerable harm to the industry.

Mr. Hugh MacKenzie, president of the Nowra Agricultural Society, interviewed by a "Herald" representative on Monday, said that the statement made was merely the personal opinion of Mr. Bavin, and that he should be made to prove it. The farmers were being persecuted by Government officials, and the inevitable result would be that people would be driven to dishonest practices out of sheer obstinacy. The Dairy Supervision Act was never intended to apply to people who had big pastures, but only to the dairies around Sydney, which in the old days were often in a filthy state. No Act of Parliament would ever make a dirty man clean, but the average farmer was too sensible a man to allow his herd to be contaminated with any diseased cattle. The moment he sat down at the milking bail he knew if there was anything wrong with a cow, and at the slightest discolouration the milk was thrown out. Farmers were continually culling out the bad cows from their herds, and little supervision was necessary if they had their own interests at heart.

Mr. MacKenzie went on to say that it had never been proved that the milk of a tuberculous cow was affected. Over two years ago he had offered to donate £100 to the local hospital if the inspector or any expert could tell the milk from a diseased cow from that of other healthy ones, and his challenge had not been accepted. Despite the opinions of Government inspectors, he held that milk came from the pasture, and not from the cow.

While taking up a different line of argument from Mr. MacKenzie, strong disapproval of Mr. Bavin's remarks was expressed by Mr. J. B. Thompson, president of the Wollongong association. He characterised the report as absurd and without foundation, and said that such alarmist statements were to be deprecated. Nervous people reading Mr. Bavin's report would imagine that most of the milk supplied to them daily was contaminated. Tubercule bacilli could be found in the sweepings of any of the Sydney warehouses, and practically everywhere else. He had no hesitation in saying that the South Coast herds were cleaner to-day than they had ever been in the past, and there was probably 50 per cent. less tuberculosis now than 10 years ago. The disease was being gradually stamped out, every farmer being alive to the fact that he must cull out the weaklings if he was to carry on his business successfully. Mr. Thompson stated that he had been for some considerable time testing his own cattle, and so far he had not found it necessary to condemn 2 per cent. Weaklings were no good to any man, and any weedy heifers were promptly knocked on the head.

FRUITGROWERS' CONFERENCE.

MR. E. K. WOLSTENHOLME'S SUGGESTIONS.

"STUPID EVIDENCE."

BATHURST.—The recent Australasian Fruitgrowers' Conference in Adelaide was the subject of a highly interesting and important paper read before the Bathurst Fruitgrowers' Association by Mr. E. K. Wolstenholme, who was the official delegate of the New South Wales Chamber of Agriculture.

"In regard to arriving at a clear definition of the power of the election of State delegates to the annual conference," he said, "the conference was asked and declined to make any regulation other than the recommendation set forth in rule 3 of the conference, which reads: 'That this association shall be comprised of a president, a secretary, and three delegates from each State, such delegates to be appointed by representatives of the fruitgrowing interests in each State of the Commonwealth and New Zealand.' It is evident that the conference depends upon the States themselves to decide as to the method of selection of its delegates, which is as I think it should be; and, in view of this, I would suggest that a conference be arranged which would include, say, two members of each of the dominant fruitgrowing associations of New South Wales, to decide this matter. I have been assured by the secretary of the Fruitgrowers' Association of New South Wales (which body has been the moving spirit in securing this State's representation at the annual conference since its inception) that his association would welcome any conference with country representatives, with the idea of finally arranging this matter, as it appears that the difficulty in the past has been to arouse an interest or sympathy from country organisations. The resolution providing for the collection and publication of a bulletin containing every known use of fruits, also opinions of eminent members of the medical faculty upon fruit as an article of diet, would, at first sight, appear to be a big order; but if the varied interested bodies would co-operate it would not be a very difficult matter. At least something is wanted to counteract such ill-advised or stupid evidence as that given to the Pure Foods Commission by such a well-known medico as Dr. Arthur—stupid, I believe, because it is directly opposed to the opinions of the majority of eminent authorities throughout the world.

"The resolution recommending to the Pomological Society strict adherence to one word only in all future classification and nomenclature created some discussion. The important part of this simplification is, I am sure, fully realised, otherwise the pomological committee, which submitted a number of readjusted names to the conference for approval, would have adopted names in a more simplified form. I am satisfied that individual sentiment in regard to these names should be sacrificed for the sake of uniform simplicity. There is no doubt the pomological committees gave an amount of their valuable time for the sake of the fruitgrowing industry. But I believe they failed, inasmuch as they added to the confusion already in existence by giving two-word varieties a new combination of two words. In regard to the opposition offered to many apparently useful resolutions at the conference, more especially in regard to suggested legislation and regulations, it must be understood delegates represent a variation of interests, and that they realise that uniform Federal legislation, unless carried out with careful discrimination in regard to the necessities of each State, is likely to prove an assistance in one State and a menace and a hardship in another. For instance, there is no codlin moth or San Jose scale in Western Australia; Queensland depends more upon its bananas and pineapples than apples or pears. This is an instance only, and there are many others. It is apparent that the conference is asked to discuss wheels within wheels, and with the time at its disposal any great advance is impossible. However, with assistance from the State Department of Agriculture, many contentious matters will be adjusted satisfactorily.

"I regret to report that the motion in sympathy with the Commonwealth Government's proposal to establish a Federal Bureau of Agriculture was negatived. In supporting this motion, it seemed clear to me that it would be at least an advance. Many subjects, such as bitter pit, nomenclature, interstate trade, were within the scope of a Federal Bureau. State departments are valuable, but usually only efficient in the effort to assist local State conditions. Such assistance or State investigation could be made to dovetail into the larger field for research enjoyed by a Federal Bureau. However, there seems to be no doubt as to the Federal Government's intention to establish this bureau."

FARM LAND IN CANADA.

AN AUSTRALIAN'S IMPRESSION.

WAGGA.—Writing from Calgary, Canada, on September 17, Mr. Thomas Plummer, a Gobbagumbalin farmer, says, from what he has seen of Canada—"I like it very much. It is 50 per cent. better country than any I saw in the course of some thousands of miles of travelling in the rural districts of the United States. One may travel for miles and miles in Canada over country that is as level as the Goulburn Valley (Vic.), and which is all black soil. It is splendid country. I would like to have land there if it were not that the climate is so severe. From the beginning of November till February it is frozen up, and the thermometer commonly reaches down to 45 and 50 degrees below zero. As the country looks at present it is all that could be desired. I see that they are advertising, in American papers, cheap trips and free rail for landseekers to Australia."

COLD STORAGE AWARD.

HITS CO-OPERATIVE BUTTER FACTORIES.

WINGHAM.—Speaking at a meeting held by Mr. John M'Lean (organiser of the Farmers and Settlers' party), Mr. Singleton, of Mondrook (near Wingham), chairman of the Purfleet Butter Factory, pointed out that the cold-storage award had hit co-operative butter factories hard. The ridiculous part about the whole thing was that, whilst boys were allowed to wash the lids of cream cans, they were not permitted to wash the cans themselves. They were also allowed to paper the butter boxes, but prevented from packing the butter in them. "It sounded like romancing, concluded Mr. Singleton, "but unfortunately it was a fact."

SHEARERS' CONTRACTS.

A contract is a communicated agreement between two or more parties as to future conduct, which has a legal operation, that is, which is regarded by the law as valid and binding, and on which an action can be brought. This legal principle was forcibly brought home to some shearers recently in Queensland, in a case where a contract sheep-shearing firm brought an action against several shearers and a rouseabout for breach of agreement in refusing to shear and work under the following circumstances. The firm held a contract for shearing at two stations, and when one station was cut out they got everything in readiness to start on the other. The yards were full of sheep, and the machinery running, but on the shearers being requested to start work they refused, until the following concessions were granted them:—(1) That new and duplicate agreements should be entered into; (2) that the price of ration wages should be reduced; and (3) that a written guarantee be given that none but union carriers be employed in carrying the wool. The first concession was granted, but as the station owner supplied the sheep for rations, and arranged the carriage of the wool, the firm had no authority to grant the remaining concessions. The shearers thereupon refused to work. The magistrate, in recording a penalty for the breach, said that the agreement had not been carried out, and the contention that the agreement was null and void by reason that the dates in the first agreement had not been altered when entering on the second contract, was rebutted owing to the defendants acquiescence in going to the second station with the presumed intention of carrying out the agreement, if the question of the Carriers' Union and their trouble had not occurred, the obstacles would not have been raised to evade the contract. The carriers' trouble with the pastoralists had nothing to do with the shearers and rouseabouts who had contracted for the shearing.

BRONCHITIS IN CATTLE.

This complaint, generally the result of what is known as "catching cold," is described by the Government veterinary experts as an inflammation of the tubes forming the branches of the windpipe (bronchial tubes). It may be caused by inhaling irritating gases, or by the entrance of medicine into the windpipe in dreeching. The symptoms are:—Loss of appetite, elevation of temperature up to 104 deg. Fah. or 105 deg. Fah., the in-drawn breath is short and painful, and the expulsion of air is prolonged. A characteristic cough is present, which is painful, sudden, and incomplete. By placing the ear to the side of the chest a peculiar sound may be heard, resembling the breathing of a person suffering from asthma. Later these sounds may cease, due to the plugging of the tubes. In some cases the disease spreads to the lungs, and results in the condition known as broncho-pneumonia. Treatment:—Place the animal in a clean, well-ventilated box. Keep the bowels open with a mild laxative such as small doses of Epsom salts or sulphate of soda. Keep the body warm by rugging if necessary. The diet should be light and nutritious. The following draught may be given:—Extract of belladonna, 2 drams; solution of acetate of ammonia, 4oz. Give in half a pint of water three times a day. Or spirits of nitrous ether, 1oz; aromatic spirits of ammonia, 1oz; powdered camphor, 2 drams. Give in a pint of linseed tea three times a day.

Accidents AT HOME & AT WORK.

Accidents will happen even in the best-regulated families. Healthy youngsters seem to be always "in the wars." Housework abounds with mishaps for busy wives and harassed mothers; and the bread-winner often returns from work with a more or less serious injury. Just what every home needs is Zam-Buk. A pot and a bandage on a handy shelf where they are handy for instant use, save untold pain, time, and money.

When the little one runs in from his play with a wry face, and smarting, dirt-filled scrape on his knee, simply wash the part and smear with Zam-Buk. When father cuts or scrapes his hand, the handy pot of Zam-Buk again meets the emergency, and the housewife or mother continually finds it a real friend for the burns she receives while cooking, the scalds of a washing day, or the knocks, etc., of dusting. Children like Zam-Buk because it is cooling, soothing, and pleasant. Their elders value it still more highly because it is also antiseptic and a powerful germicide, preventing poisoning, festering, and disease; because it is a natural skin repairer, growing new tissue in Nature's way; and because it is good for the tenderest skin. Daily mishaps make Zam-Buk a daily need—therefore, keep Zam-Buk handy.

EVERY HOME NEEDS ZAM-BUK.

NEARLY SCALDED TO DEATH.

Mr. G. Green, of 67 Thomas-street, Camperdown, Sydney, says:—"My little son John upset a kettle of boiling water over himself, and was nearly scalded to death. The flesh presented a red, raw appearance. We all expected he would succumb to the fearful injuries, and it is a miracle that he is alive to-day. For nine months he was in terrible agony. The sores from the scald would not heal.

"After being attended to at the hospital, the doctor recommended a home treatment of Zam-Buk. We purchased a supply and continued with Zam-Buk until the wounds were completely healed and not a trace of scar remained of the fearful injury."

SEVERE BURNS AND POISONED WOUND.

"My husband, who is a jeweller," says Mrs. G. Armson, of High-st., North Botany, Sydney, "was one day working at the melting pot when the hot metal splashed over his forehead and arm, causing a very severe burn. The wound presented a raw and inflamed appearance, and caused much pain. I dressed the injuries with Zam-Buk, and in a little while completely cured the burn.

"A gathering of a poisonous nature broke out on the big toe of my little girl's right foot. The many things we did not do any good. We then commenced with Zam-Buk, which speedily drew out all bad matter and banished all trace of the injury."

SURGEON WANTED TO AMPUTATE FINGER.

Mrs. J. Boyle, of 12 Gipps-st., Balmain, Sydney, says:—"While cleaning some fish, the knife slipped and cut the little finger of my left hand to the bone. My finger became inflamed, and the pain I suffered was dreadful. I went to the hospital and the surgeon wished me to have my finger taken off, as there was a tendency for the poison to spread up the arm.

"At last the inflamed condition extended to my head and neck, and I was just going to give in and follow the doctor's advice and have my finger amputated, when a friend recommended Zam-Buk. I applied this balm, and after about three weeks the terrible injury was healed."

DIRT IN WOUND CAUSED INFLAMMATION.

Mr. J. Vaughan, of 14 Sorrig-St., Balmain, Sydney, says:—"I sustained a severe knock on the back of my left hand. Some dirt got into the wound, causing my hand to swell and inflammation to set in. The pain was terrible. Being recommended to try Zam-Buk, I obtained a supply, and after bathing the wound, applied this balm twice daily. In this way blood-poison was averted, the inflammation was allayed, and the pain arrested. After continuing with Zam-Buk, the swelling was reduced and all traces of the injury disappeared. Now my hand is well once again."

Zam-Buk is invaluable for Cuts, Bruises, Burns, Scalds, Scratches, Abrasions, Boils, Eczema, Pimples, Running Sores, Scalp Diseases, Poisoned Wounds, Festering Sores, Bad Legs, Ulcers, Abscesses, Ringworms, Diseased Ankles, Teething Sores, Barber's Rash, Swellings, Stiffness, Scabs, Itch, Bed Sores, Face Sores, Sore Lips, and injured and diseased conditions of the skin. VICTORIAN CARNIVAL ENDS.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL REPRESENTATIVE.)

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

The final day's racing of the Victoria Racing Club's Spring campaign was held on Saturday, in fine, bright, and pleasant weather, and there was a large assemblage to witness the sport, including the Governor-General and Lady Denman, and a large party from Government House. The going was first-class, and fast times were registered; while the surroundings were bright and spring-like.

STEEPLECHASE DAY DRESSES.

SUMMER GOWNS AND A CLOUDLESS SKY.

A day of gloriously bright warm sunshine, tempered by a light cool breeze, made the final day of the Cup Carnival one of great pleasure to the vast crowd assembled at the Flemington Racecourse to witness the Steeplechase Day programme of events. At an early hour bright weather prospects were assured, consequently the feminine mind had no misgivings as to the wearing of smart light dresses of delicate and ethereal fabrics.

After lapse of a few days to midwinter apparel, spring and summer novelties and dresses once again predominated, and graced the lawns and terrace, making a scene of unending interest to the "other woman," and an attractive picture, between the racing events, for the ever critical glance of "mere man." There is such an extensive range in the shades of all the well-known colours that tints may be found becoming either to blonde or brunette. Yet once again white frocks are in the ascendant, there being no doubt as to the favouritism bestowed upon them, as quite every second dress noticed, was of white embroidered voile or muslin, sponge cloth, ninon, lace, crepe de chine, or the heavier makes of Indian and Japanese silk, which are now gaining favour for summer tailored suits. One of the most striking of these costumes stood out on account of its simplicity. The skirt was slightly draped from deep flat pleats arranged at the back of the waist line, the fulness being caught in front at the right hand side, with a small silk braided cabochon, holding a full long silk tassel; the coatee was of the loose-fitting basqued style, around the waist line being a folded belt, and a sash end of white moire silk. The sailor collar was of similar silk, finished with a hemstitched border of the plain silk, whilst the hem of the skirt also showed small hemstitched perforations. This stitching is now to be found on all the most exclusive imported models, and one of these, which revealed the distinctive touch of the art of the couturiere, was fashioned of ivory cloth, so diaphanous and light in texture that it fell as softly and gracefully as crepe de chine. The fourreau was bordered with a narrow band of ermine, and over it was a wrapped tunic, set from the waist line in front, and carried in sweeping folds until it ended in a pointed train, this draping having a deep hemstitched border of crepe de chine; the bodice was of the loose Magyar cut, finished with a modified sailor collar of hemstitched crepe de chine, the long V-shaped corsage being partly filled in by a chemisette of cobwebby Milanese lace, and the waist line having a Bayadere sash of crepe de chine, with a hemstitched border. A hat of gendarme blue tagel straw, crowned with ivory wings set aslant, towards the back, and a narrow stole of tailless ermine, completed this toilette. A type of dress gaining favour amongst young slim girls, is that which is so fashioned as to give the wearer the appearance of the top part of a lamp, for the skirt is tube-like, in the form of the narrow glass chimney, and the pleated bodice caught to the waist, and from there falling in a deep kilted basque, gives the shape of a lamp shade. Many of these skirts appear so narrow, that when the wearer in standing still they seem to be less than a yard in circumference. However, they have elastic threaded in the hems, and so, when walking the slightly draped effect, stretches out until the skirt appears quite plain. A number of dresses of soft diaphanous fabrics showed charming draped effects, gained with lace and ninon, one of the most notable being worn by an Australian who has recently returned from Paris. The fourreau was of black crepe-de-soie, the graceful draperies being arranged deep down and caught at the right hand side with a cluster of Parma violets, and from thence they fell into a pointed train. The bodice and upper part of the skirt was of ivory crepe de soie. From the waist-line fell a graduated tunic of ivory Limerick lace, whilst above it was a second and shorter tunic of black Chantilly lace: a bolero effect was gained on the bodice by similar ivory lace, arranged with black ninon, and the corsage was finished with a modified Medici collar, outlined at the base by a wreath of violets, this being a charming neck finish, and matched with the violet satin belt and sash bows, which were set aslant at the back of the bodice. The hat worn with this dress was of fine black tagel straw, the brim being encircled with ivory ospreys, ending in a tall cluster at the back of the crown; a dome-shaped parasol of ivory lace, with a large tulle rosette in violet and black colouring, gave the necessary finishing touch.

Parasols and sashes were the accessories which gave attractive patches of colour to the majority of the toilettes, and amongst the first-named, none were more charming than those of lace and floral ninon, when surmounting a dress of filmy texture. For the lingerie frock, the parasols of broderie-Anglais, lined with soft pastel coloured silks and ninons, appeared charming. In most instances the belts and sashes were of the Bayadere and military type, and of a contrasting colour to the dress; but the dernier cri for a waist-finish, and one that is a marked change from the draped scarf and sash end, first depicts a shaped cincture in Persian or Indian embroidered work, and another style—yet in its infancy—is of moire silk ribbon, plainly set on the waist-line, to show, peeping out from strappings of the material, and then arranged in two loops set aslant at the back of the bodice, and confined by a draping of lace or ninon.

Small hats of tulle still predominate, in spite of the heavy showers of rain, which must have ruined many on Cup day, and as for the trimmings, often there is nothing but a high quilling of tulle, or a long stem holding a single rose, rosette, or tuft of plumage. Amongst the larger chapeaux, the flat shepherdess type is most favoured, the broad brim being trimmed at the edge, instead of near the crown, with sometimes a few stray roses set in a promiscuous fashion. Dyed wheatears are frequently seen as an embellishment for plateau hats, and these are set in a circle flat on the brims, and give an effect somewhat similar to that gained by the ospreys, which each year become more expensive and unattainable.

Although many of the interstate visitors took their departure from Melbourne on Friday, yet there was a very large attendance for the final day of the Cup carnival, among whom were the Governor-General and Lady Denman, whose interest in horse-racing is further exemplified by his Excellency's colours being placed in the principal race on Saturday. In the vice-regal enclosure the party also included the Lieutenant-Governor (Sir John Madden, Rear-Admiral Sir George Patey, the Hon. Harold Pearson, Lord Richard Nevill, Captain Sir Walter Barttelot, Captain Burnham, Captain Crespin, Captain Pollock, Captain Caro, and Flag-Lieut. Poe.

Lady Denman's distinctive dress was of pale lemon-tinted chiffon satin, draped with ninon in ecru colouring, bordered by three deep tucks; the bodice simulated a basqued coatee effect, gained by crepe satin mousseline, with an embossed design, resembling shadow lace, and trimmed with silk braided motifs, whilst a belt of ivory moire ribbon, ended at the back in two loops, set aslant. A small Medici ruffle of navy blue tulle was set at the back of the neck, and soft ivory lace made a becoming corsage finish, with a hat composed entirely of black tulle. Lady Madden wore a tailor-made costume of dark wistaria blue charmeuse, finished with a sailor collar of deep cream embroidered muslin, her small black satin hat having the crown encircled by a flat wreath of pink bebe roses, and being further embellished with a black tulle cravat bow, and a cluster of black ospreys. Miss Lesley Madden wore black crepe de Chine, and a black hat, trimmed with tulle and ostrich feathers. The Hon. Mrs. Harold Pearson, navy blue taffetas, with a draped scarf sash of tartan silk; her black satin hat having two upstanding blue shaded ostrich feathers. Alicia Knatchbull-Hugessen, saxe blue sponge cloth, made with a deep hip yoke confining a pleated skirt, and finished by a flat lace collar; her lime straw hat was veiled in blue tulle, and the brim was encircled with wheat ears.

THE RACING.

Despite the number of the active service brigade that had succumbed to the strenuousness of the campaign, the fields were of fair proportions, and the sport was of a highly interesting character. The only mishaps that occurred were those incidental to racing over obstacles, but, fortunately, they were not of a serious character; while the stipendiary stewards had very little to demand their attention.

Proceedings opened with the Spring Handicap, a race restricted to three-years-old, and for which 14 were stripped. The A.J.C. Grantham Stakes winner, Marculfus, was sent out at the head of the quotations, with Onazer next in demand, and there was also money for Eubulus, Crosska, Melodia, and Allansford. Crosska was out in command ere the end of the first furlong, and carried the field along at a sound pace to the turn, where he was joined by Onazer, and the pair battled it out on terms until the distance was cast behind. Then Melodia, on the outside, put in her claim, and, enforcing it in the run home, defeated Onazer by a narrow margin, while Scotch Malt filled the other situation. Marculfus never gave his supporters any hope, and though Eubulus was within striking distance of the leaders at the sheds, he faded out of it from that point. The winner, who is the property of his breeder, Mr. J. Wilson, jun., is by Curtain Lecture (imp.) from Cleis, by Wallace from Wigelmar, the dam of Beragoon, and is trained by Chris. Moore.

The scratching pen was pretty busy with the candidates for the Flemington Stakes, only a dozen of the 43 listed escaping its assaults. Scobie's stable furnished the favourite in Bay Malt, while Andesine and Fdelio disputed second favouritism, and Sarzana also received some attention from those in search of the winner. The favourite was one of the first to get going, but he soon lost his place, and finished near the tail of the procession. Hathor made the early running, attended by Andesine and Sarzana, but Fdelio tackled the Welkin filly at the distance, and scored rather easily at the end from Marissa, who came with a late run, while the other situation was filled by Prudent Action. The winner was bred by Mr. J. R. Osborne, in South Australia, and is by Positano (imp.) from Fides, by Mortyn from Fidelity, by Gang Forward, and is a half-brother to Takipono. He carried the colours of the veteran Victorian trainer, W. Hickenbotham.

Nine were saddled up for the V.R.C. Handicap, and there was most money for Wassail and Uncle Matt, the former of whom had a slight call in the market. Harpist and Matouree disputed second favouritism, while Hallowmas and Effervescence were the only others backed with any confidence. Uncle Matt quickly assumed the role of pacemaker, and with Harpist and Pearl King to escort him, carried his field along to the bridge, where Harpist ranged up alongside the pair, being succeeded by Wassail and Matouree, while Atora was acting as whipper in. Uncle Matt lost his place as they raced along the back, where Pearl King filled the vacancy alongside Harpist. But when they reached the abattoirs Pearl King, Harpist, and Uncle Matt were almost in line, and so they came round the turn, with Wassail and Matouree in hot pursuit. Harpist faded out of it as they rounded the turn; while Atora was making up his leeway in great style. Pearl King was done ere they reached the straight entrance, and Uncle Matt also beat a retreat, leaving Wassail at the head of affairs, and his victory was loudly anticipated, but Matouree, finishing with unusual gameness, cut down Wassail inside the distance, and beat him home. The stipendiary stewards held an inquiry into the apparent reversal of form shown by Matouree as compared with his running in the Hotham Handicap on Derby Day and November Handicap at Williamstown on the preceding day, but after hearing evidence they decided to accept the owner's explanation as satisfactory.

The field for the C. B. Fisher Plate was reduced to five, which included the three placed colts in the Derby and the older horses, Danaus and Uncle Sam. The dual Derby winner, Beragoon, who looked none the worse for his spring campaigning, was regarded as having a strong lien on the prize, and his army of admirers was called upon to lay odds of 6 to 4 on, while of the others only the chances of Radnor were seriously considered. Determined that the race should be truly run, C. Emerson, who had the mount on Beragoon, immediately sent the colt to the front, and the son of Multiform, swinging along in fine style, opened up a gap of a couple of lengths along the river-side and back stretches, with Danaus and Radnor at the head of the others. Nearing the abattoirs Danaus drew up level with the favourite, and the pair raced together in front to the turn, where Danaus beat a retreat, while Radnor moved up to the heels of the favourite. As they swept into the straight Uncle Sam slipped into third position, and Andelosia began to make a forward movement on the inside. When fairly in line for the judge's box Radnor threw out a bold challenge to Beragoon, but the son of Multiform failed to respond, and Radnor, heading him at the distance, came on and won easily from Andelosia, who finished resolutely, and just cut the favourite out of second money. The defeat of Beragoon came as a surprise, and evidently his opponents were better served by the difference in weights as compared with their Derby imposts. The time, 2m 23½s, is a record for the race, being 2s better than the previous record, put up by Alawa in 1909. They began slowly, the first half-mile taking 55½s. Then steam was clapped on, and they covered the next four furlongs in 49¾s, last in 48¼s, final six furlongs in 1m 13½s, and last mile in 1m 38¾s. The winner was bred by Messrs. Moses Bros., at Combadello stud (N.S.W.), and is by Earlston (imp.) from Burletta, by Wallace from La Tosca, by Robinson Crusoe from Nightmare, and belongs to the same family as the renowned Wakeful. Radnor cost 1275 guineas as a yearling, and during last season he won the Juvenile Stakes and Nursery Handicap at Tattersall's Club annual meeting at Randwick, and Sires' Produce Stakes at the A.J.C. Autumn Meeting, in which he was escorted home by Beragoon and Andelosia. During the current season he ran second to Beragoon in the A.J.C. Derby, filled a similar position behind Soltano in the Clibborn Stakes, third to Duke Foote in the Randwick Plate, second to Beragoon in the V.R.C. Derby, and his victory on Saturday was the first for the season. A few days ago Radnor was purchased by Mr. S. P. Mackay for 1500 guineas, and the son of Earlston was not long in repaying a considerable portion of the outlay. Radnor is engaged in the Western Australian Derby, to be run at Perth in midsummer, and, all going well in the meantime, his prospects of securing that classic event seem very bright. Radnor was piloted in the race by A. Shanahan, who had the mount on the Melbourne Cup winner, Posinatus.

There were eight starters for the Victoria Steeplechase, and favouritism was disputed by The Miser and Glenmore, with Myall Jack next in demand. Dunloe, Guncap, and W.T.S. also came in for good support; while Topmast, who carried the vice-regal livery, was the outsider of the party. The race furnished quite a chapter of accidents, half the field coming down at different stages. The first round of the course was accounted for without mishap, but the last set of the treble in front of the stand brought down The Miser, and Myall Jack was pulled up a little further on. The fall of The Miser, who had been in the fighting line for the first round, left his co-favourite, Glenmore, in the lead, and setting a merry pace the New Zealander, who flew his fences in grand style, opened up a commanding lead, which he easily maintained to the end of the trip. His pace completely demoralised the rest of the field, and Guncap came to grief over the obstacle near the abattoirs, while W.T.S. and Dunloe toppled over the next fence. Here Glenmore was about 100 yards clear from Topmast and Pinpress, who was the only other in the hunt, was nearly half a mile away; and so they passed the judge's box. Glenmore, who gave a grand exhibition of fencing, put up a time record for the race, clipping three-quarters of a second off that achieved by United Kingdom last year.

The meeting was brought to a close with the Final Handicap, for which only seven of the 51 listed were stripped for the fray, and the imported horse, Limelight, was sent out an even-money favourite; while of the others King Mostyn and Mala received most support. After Ireland and King Mostyn had each had a turn in front Lacus took charge, and drawing clear from his followers piloted them to the distance, where King Mostyn tackled the son of Grafton whom he beat home after an exciting finish.

Flaith, Matouree, and Harpist were first to show clear, with Atora last, but at the end of the first furlong Uncle Matt took command, and passed the judge's box, closely followed by Harpist, Pearl King, Flaith, and Wassail, who were succeeded by Matouree, and Effervescence, with Hallowmas last. Without change they turned out of the straight, and, with a lead of a couple of lengths Uncle Matt conducted the field along the riverside, followed by Harpist, Pearl King, Flaith, Wassail, Matouree, and Atora, with Effervescence last. Uncle Matt and Harpist were disputing the lead at the bridge, just in front of Wassail and Matouree, but, racing along the back, Pearl King joined Harpist, the pair being a length in advance of Uncle Matt, Wassail, Matouree, and Flaith, with Atora last. Pearl King was in charge at the abattoirs from Harpist, Uncle Matt, and Wassail, after whom came Flaith and Matouree. Uncle Matt, Harpist, and Pearl King formed the leading division as they came round the turn, with Wassail and Matouree in pursuit. Pearl King was done as they entered the straight, leaving Uncle Matt and Wassail at the head of affairs, with Matouree and Atora in their wake. Wassail ran to the front at the distance from Matouree and Atora, and Matouree challenging the son of Maltster at the half-distance, beat him home by half a length. Atora was four lengths off third, closely followed by Hallowmas, Flaith, Harpist, and Uncle Matt, with Pearl King last. Time, 2m 3¼s.

C.B. FISHER PLATE. A sweepstakes of 10 sovs, with 1000 added, second horse to receive 200 sovs, and third 100 sovs out of the stake. W.f.a. 1½m.

Mr. S. P. Mackay's b c Radnor, by Earlston—Burletta, 3yrs, 7st 9lb (A. Shanahan) 1
Messrs. A. D. Murphy and M. Sheldon's br c Andelosia, by Fortunatus—Diffidence, 7st 9lb (G. Lambert) 2
Mr. J. E. O'Brien's br c Beragoon, by Multiform—Wigelmar, 3yrs, 7st 9lb (C. Emerson) 3

Other starters: Danaus, 9st 5lb (McLachlan); Uncle Sam, 9st 4lb (Connell).

Betting: 6 to 4 on Beragoon, 9 to 2 v Radnor, 5 to 1 each v Uncle Sam and Danaus, 14 to 1 v Andelosia.

Andelosia and Beragoon were smartest off the mark, but the latter immediately took up the running and turned out of the straight two lengths from Danaus and Radnor, who were closely attended by Andelosia, with Uncle Sam seven lengths away. Beragoon held his advantage along the riverside from Danaus, Radnor, and Andelosia, with Uncle Sam still in the rear, and that order was preserved to the bridge and along the back, where the favourite's lead was reduced to half-a-length. When they reached the abattoirs, Danaus was level with Beragoon, the pair being two lengths in advance of Radnor, after whom came Andelosia and Uncle Sam. The field closed up at the sheds, with Andelosia in the rear, but Danaus faded out of it as they swept round the turn, leaving Beragoon a length in front of Radnor, with Uncle Sam and Andelosia next, and Danaus last. Coming on with great resolution, Radnor headed Beragoon inside the distance, and a little farther on Andelosia ran into third place. Radnor drew clear in the run home, and won by two lengths from Andelosia, who beat Beragoon by half a neck for second place. Uncle Sam was two lengths off fourth, and six in advance of Danaus. Time, 2m 33¼s.

VICTORIA STEEPLECHASE. A sweepstakes of 5 sovs each, with 500 added, second horse to receive 100 sovs, and third 50 sovs out of the stake. About 3m.

Mr. H. J. Cameron's b g Glenmore, by Captain Webb—Sonnes Mare, aged, 12st 2lb (W. Adams) .. 1
Lord Denman's br g Topmast, by Flagship—Scuttle, 6yrs (Connell) 2
Mr. A. T. Creswick's br g Pinpress, by Penance—Princess, aged, 12st 1lb (Edward) 3

Other starters: Dunloe, 11st 9lb (Hawkins); Guncap, 11st 1lb (McCabe); W.T.S., 10st 6lb (R. Gray); The Miser, 10st 2lb (McGregor); Myall Jack, 9st 11lb (T. Woods).

Betting: 4 to 1 each v Glenmore and The Miser, 5 to 1 v Myall Jack, 10 to 1 each v Dunloe, Guncap, W.T.S., and Pinpress, 33 to 1 v Topmast.

The Miser sailed off in front of Guncap, Myall Jack, W.T.S., and Topmast; and the Miser turned out of the straight clear of Myall Jack, W.T.S., Pinpress, and Dunloe, with Glenmore whipping in. That order was preserved along the back and past the abattoirs, when Glenmore ran up fourth, followed by Dunloe, while Pinpress dropped back last. Rounding the turn, W.T.S., took charge from the Miser, Glenmore, Dunloe, Myall Jack, Guncap, and Topmast, with Pinpress still in the rear. Without change they flew over the first fence in the straight, and the Miser showed the way over the first of the treble, succeeded by W.T.S., Glenmore, Dunloe, Guncap, Topmast, and Pinpress, with Myall Jack last. The Miser came a cropper over the last of the treble, leaving Glenmore at the head of affairs, and he opened up a gap of six lengths along the riverside from W.T.S., who was ten in front of Dunloe, after whom came Guncap, while Myall Jack pulled up. Glenmore ran past the bridge four lengths from W.T.S., who was followed at long intervals by Dunloe, Guncap, and Topmast, with Pinpress a bad last. That order was preserved along the back, and at the abattoirs Glenmore was ten lengths clear from W.T.S. and Dunloe, after whom came Topmast; while Guncap fell. The fence near the sheds brought down W.T.S., and Dunloe, leaving Glenmore fifty yards in front of Topmast, and, coming on alone, Glenmore won by 20 lengths from Topmast, while Pinpress was a couple of furlongs away third. Time, 6m 24s.

FINAL HANDICAP. A sweepstakes of 6 sovs, with 500 added; second horse to receive 100 sovs, and third 50 sovs out of the stake. 1¼m.

Mr. W. T. Nowlan's b g King Mostyn, by Mountain King—Alice Mostyn, 4yrs, 7st 3lb (R. Brennan) 1
Mr. E. S. Wragge's br h Lacus, by Grafton—Loch Trenville, 4yrs, 6st 7lb (R. Smart) 2
Messrs. H. and G. Masons' ch h Limelight, by Lally—Umbrosa, 5yrs, 8st 7lb (W. H. McLachlan) 3

Other starters: Ireland, 9st 3lb (Connell); Captain White, 8st 5lb (W. Smart); Mala, 7st 9lb (Emerson); Yandilla King, 7st 9lb (Killorn).

Betting: Even money on Limelight, 5 to 1 v King Mostyn, 8 to 1 v Mala, 10 to 1 each v Yandilla King, and Captain White, 12 to 1 each v Lacus and Ireland.

King Mostyn and Ireland moved off in front, but when they settled down, Ireland took charge from Lacus and King Mostyn, with Yandilla King last. Nearing the bridge, King Mostyn ran to the front, and passed that point, closely attended by Lacus, Ireland, and Limelight, with Yandilla King still in the rear. Racing along the back, Lacus took charge from King Mostyn and Limelight, who were succeeded by Ireland and Mala, with Captain White last. Without material change they raced past the abattoirs, and Lacus came round the turn, with Limelight, King Mostyn, and Mala in pursuit, followed by Ireland and Captain White. Lacus turned into the straight from Limelight, Mala, King Mostyn, and Captain White, but inside the distance King Mostyn headed Lacus, and beat him home by half a length. Limelight was two and a half lengths away third, followed by Ireland, Captain White, and Yandilla King, with Mala last. Time, 2m 8¼s.

CARNATION SHOW.

OPENED BY LADY CULLEN.

Lady Cullen opened the fourteenth annual exhibition of the Carnation Society of New South Wales at the Concordia Hall on Saturday afternoon. There were large attendances during the afternoon and evening. Lady Cullen said she thought the carnation one of our most beautiful flowers, and one which would never be made into a freak. She hoped the growers would encourage others to cultivate them, and send them along to hospitals and other places where they were needed. She congratulated exhibitors on the fine showing, despite the thrip pest, and hoped that the birds, which were the natural enemies of pests which attacked flowers, would be encouraged. Lady Cullen was presented with a handsome bouquet of carnations.

The principal prize-winners were—

Twelve carnations, dissimilar: S. Griffiths.

Perpetual Flowering Classes.—Fifteen carnations: G. Naish, 1; W. E. Chidgey, 2.

Novice Division.—Two vases: J. Scutts, 1; F. Moxey, 2.

SURF-BATHING.

MR. GRIFFITH AND NATIONALISATION.

At the official opening of the North Steyne surf-bathing accommodation on Saturday, Alderman G. W. Walker proposed the health of the Minister for Works.

Mr. Griffith, in responding, said that surf-bathing was a national asset, and should be nationalised by the Government. The sheds now being constructed on the beaches were not altogether constructed for the local people. He outlined a scheme whereby surf-bathers should be encouraged to take on endurance tests. The encouragement of long-distance swimming ought to make surf-bathing an athletic sport.

Senator Oakes, replying to the toast of the visitors, commended the Government's action in building accommodation for the surfing public. On another occasion, he added, when he was connected with the Government of New South Wales, some dispute arose over the question of allotting funds from the public Treasury towards providing accommodation on one of the eastern suburbs' beaches. He knew the justice of the demand, and strongly advocated granting assistance, with the result that something like £1000 was expended. The people were now reaping the benefit of the expenditure. Surf-bathing should be encouraged, and he agreed that it was a national sport.

CRICKET.

FOURTH ROUND CONCLUDED.

UNIVERSITY AND GORDON STILL UNBEATEN.

TRUMPER SCORES 157 NOT OUT, AND MIDDLETON 119 NOT OUT.

MASSIE AND KELLEWAY BOWL WELL.

The fourth round of grade matches was concluded on Saturday in fine weather, and on good wickets. However, a strong, cool southerly wind did not make cricket-watching very pleasant, and the players were also somewhat hampered thereby, especially late in the afternoon, when the weather was quite chilly.

At the beginning of the round University and Gordon were the only unbeaten teams in the first grade competition, and although neither was defeated, University won outright against Sydney, but Gordon could only manage to play a draw against Glebe, so that the margin of points between the two teams on Saturday's play is only 1½, Gordon earning that number for playing the draw, and University 3 points for their outright win.

Following are the results of the games:—

Gordon, six for 260, and Glebe, 360, played a draw.

University, 142 and one for 39, defeated Sydney, 68 and 111, by nine wickets and two runs.

Balmain, 191, defeated Redfern, 170 and five for 147, on first innings, by 21 runs.

Central Cumberland, 80 and four (closed) for 241, defeated North Sydney, 61 and four for 201, on first innings by 19 runs.

Western Suburbs, five (closed) for 332, defeated Middle Harbour, 226 and 66, by an innings and 40 runs.

Petersham, 352 and one for 27, defeated Paddington, 273, on first innings, by 79 runs.

1689 runs were scored on Saturday for the loss of 64 wickets, giving an average of 26.39 runs per wicket, as against 20.46 on the previous Saturday.

The spectators at the Sydney Cricket Ground witnessed a dour struggle for supremacy between Glebe and Gordon. The former had lost eight wickets for 335 on the first day, but Warren Bardsley was of opinion that the position did not warrant him in declaring, as "Victor might get going, you know." Therefore, Glebe, who continued, added 25 more runs, and then Gordon had to face a total of 360, with the clock showing 20 minutes to three. Trumper and Hill started, and after Cotter had bowled one over Kelleway completely nullified any chance Gordon may have had of making the runs by dismissing Hill, Maclean, and Boyce with the third, fifth, and sixth balls of his first over. And the position was even worse when five wickets had fallen for 75. At the fall of each wicket the Glebe fieldsmen gathered together in little knots, evidently elated at their great success. However, their last grouping took place at 3.50, as from that time to the finish—at four minutes to 6—Trumper and Johnston defied all efforts to dislodge them, the latter only being bowled in the last over of the day. Owing to the bad shadows cast by the grandstand, the two captains had decided that play should cease at the end of the over in which Johnston was bowled. Trumper played a masterly innings. He was keen in getting as much of the strike as possible, and he never took a risk during the three hours and a quarter he was at the wickets. From 37 to 68 he scored very fast, but thereafter his defence was as safe as a sandbank. Trumper scored 75 out of 120, 100 out of 168, and 150 out of 252. He gave a chance when 67 to Bardsley at deep square leg off a full toss from Cullen. He was also caught off a no-ball sent down by Cullen at 118, and Watson might have caught and bowled him subsequently. He hit 12 fours. It was one of the most valuable innings the Gordon captain has played. Johnston, who is a big man and generally hits very hard, played with commendable restraint for 51, made in two hours five minutes. He was also caught off a no-ball when 9, Kelleway being the bowler. The latter bowled grandly against the southerly breeze, his record being five wickets for 57 in 23.3 overs. He kept a splendid length, made the ball swing slightly, and also fly off the pitch. None of the other bowlers appeared dangerous. Glebe fielded excellently.

At University Oval Sydney were easily defeated outright by University in a small-scoring match, the margin being nine wickets. On the first Saturday Sydney were dismissed for 68, but University could only manage to notch 142. On Saturday Sydney did very little better with the bat, the second innings totalling 111, R. J. A. Massie again bowling phenomenally, by taking eight wickets for 48, which gives him a total of 13 for 80 for the match. Toby (50) and Dr. Wilcocks (17) were the chief rungetters, but H. L. Collins failed to score. Harbour scored 26 not out of the 39 runs required by University to win the match.

At the Birchgrove Oval Balmain, who had two wickets down in response to Redfern's 170, passed their opponents' score with six wickets down. In the end, however, the margin was only 21 runs, the last four wickets falling for 31 runs. A. Ratcliffe played dashing cricket for 50, practically throwing his wicket away after Wall (14 not out) had made the winning hit. J. J. Mahony (14) was the only other batsman to reach double figures on Saturday. Mailey's bosies were responsible for five Balmain batsmen at a cost of 64 runs. Mailey bowled a good length, no fewer than 10 of his 23 overs being maidens. Emery took two wickets for 79 in 78 balls, and Grummett two for 35 in 84 balls. In Redfern's second innings Thatcher (77 not out) and F. Rix (39) stopped a collapse, by carrying the score from five for 65 to 147 without further loss. Thatcher played easily the best innings of the match. He imparts plenty of power to his strokes, and in addition he has a very sound defence. About half his runs came from boundary shots—some of them real gems. He was missed in the 30's by Elder off Folkard. Wall, with three for 41, was Balmain's most successful bowler.

The result of the first day's play at North Sydney Oval was in reality not affected by Saturday's cricket, Central Cumberland defeating the local team by 19 runs on the first innings. The Parramatta team continued their second innings until 4.35, when it was declared with four wickets down for 241. All the batsmen scored well, though the play was rather slow, Smith, in particular, taking nearly two hours to make 34 runs. Cranney (71) and Pye (55 not out) batted in good form, the latter being very sound in the on-drive. North Sydney were set the task of making 261 runs in about an hour and a half to secure an outright win. They chose the alternative of playing out time, and gaining one point, Middleton, however, could not restrain his natural propensity for solid, vigorous, and well-timed hitting. He gave a display that must rank as one of the most brilliant and spectacular in the history of district cricket, and, mainly through his agency, North Sydney reached the total of 201 for four wickets in 85 minutes. Hordern batted solidly for 39, but Middleton's contribution of 119 not out fairly thrilled the spectators—who were anticipating a somewhat tame finish—and created a scene of stirring enthusiasm. His innings was not exactly chanceless, but his boundary hits alone totalled 95 (11 sixes and 8 fours), and his runs were made in 55 minutes. Coogan bowled consistently in obtaining three wickets for 36, but, generally speaking, the bowlers' records were in distinct contrast to those of the previous Saturday.

At Pratten Park Western Suburbs secured their initial win since the club has changed its name by defeating Middle Harbour. The end was very exciting, on account of the race against the clock, and it was a praiseworthy feat of the suburban team to win. P. W. Docker and H. G. Pratten continued their incompleted innings, and soon brought the hundred up, when Walton relieved Bull, and bowled Docker with a leg break with the score at 161. Randell was bowling full-tosses, with the object of getting the batsmen to hit out. From one of these Pratten was caught at square-leg by Bull. Prentice, Diamond, and Reid did not remain in the creases long, and five wickets had fallen for 220. However, M'Mullen, by patient batting, and Taylor, although very fortunate, took the score to 332, when the closure was applied. Altogether Taylor had four lives, and, with the exception of a hard return to Randell, they were comparatively easy chances. In his 92 were included nine fours. He hit very hard. Walton was the most successful bowler, taking four of the five wickets that fell, the other going to Randell. Middle Harbour's second innings was a harvest for the bowlers. Lowe made 21 by solid batting, and Williams reached 14 by cautious play. He was bowled by a no-ball from Dive, and was finally dismissed by Owen through hesitating. Woolcott was the only other batsman to make double figures. The innings closed for 66, when the ninth wicket fell, owing to the absence of Gee, thereby giving the victory to Western Suburbs by an innings and 40 runs.

At Petersham Oval Paddington failed by 79 runs to reach the local team's total of 352. Mahony and Francis made a good start against the bowling of Scott and Oram. At 35, however, Andrews relieved the latter, and disturbed Francis's wicket with his second ball. Cody helped Mahony to carry the total to 118, when Andrews was again instrumental in breaking the partnership, Mahony being well caught by Newton at mid-off. In his 50 Mahony hit seven fours, and was batting 70 minutes. Trenery was out at 136, and at 148 Sayle, Cody, and Dwyer were dismissed in his second balls, Sedgers bowling the two lastnamed in his second over. Cody's 33 occupied 55 minutes, and included a six to leg off Law and three fours. Callaway played brightly and solidly for 29, and Winning played a valuable and patient innings in the face of disaster. He negotiated Andrews' bowling with confidence, and was the only batsman to do so. He was batting for 92 minutes, and his 48 included seven fours. At no time did the rate of scoring suggest the possibility of a win for Paddington, but when Winning and Callaway, and later Munn, were at the crease a draw seemed possible. When the last wicket fell, however, 40 minutes still remained for play. Andrews was again responsible for the bulk of the bowling, and he registered a remarkable performance in securing eight wickets for 95 off 24 overs. Bowling against the wind, he kept an excellent length, turned the ball both ways, and judiciously varied his pace. None of the batsmen, save Winning, a left-hander, seemed comfortable when facing him. Scott, bowling with the assistance of the wind, was unsuccessful, although bowling well at times. Harvey allowed 21 byes, mostly off Scott's bowling, and was not up to concert pitch. The fielding was good. In half an hour Petersham scored 27 for the loss of one wicket before stumps were drawn.

STATE ELECTIONS.

PROMOTION ACT KILLED.

MR. WADE'S COMPLAINT.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL REPORTER.)

TEMORA, Sunday.

A vigorous onslaught on the Labour land policy and administration was entered upon by Mr. Wade when addressing a gathering of over 350 in the Victoria Hall on Saturday evening.

Mr. Wade said he wished to draw a comparison between the Labour party's promises and performances, and the work carried out by the Liberals. They were told with a flourish of trumpets that almost took the people off their feet 2½ years ago that Mr. Nielsen, the new Christopher Columbus of New South Wales, had discovered 10,000,000 acres of Crown land which had been lost by the neglect of previous Liberal Governments. The ordinary man gasped at the Liberal wickedness, but the first shock came when they made the announcement to the Farmers and Settlers' Conference. The roars of laughter almost took the roof off the building. So far from being new-found land, it had been offered for the last 30 years, but it had been so unfit for productive purposes that the practical man had either turned it down or left it to the foxes and rabbits. The story failed to carry conviction. The last story brought forward, close to the eve of the election campaign, was that they had struck an area of improvement leases which they said had been locked up by the Wade Ministry at a merely nominal rent. The plain facts destroyed the house of cards. The Liberal tenure meant improvement, but once it was fit for settlement it was to be made available to the public. Twelve years ago the system was abused when Mr. Crick was the Minister, but the Liberals were always overwhelmed and silenced. The party that kept the Government in power was the Labour party. The Liberal party carried out its duty to the people of New South Wales. (Hear, hear.)

The Liberals realised that Crown lands could not always be available, and they decided to build railways to tap good wheat Crown lands of low capital value. The Labour party had made no practical move to carry out that work. He had promised to attend to the Wyalong-Hillston and Pilliga Scrub districts in the north-west. The Labour party said they proposed to do that also. For three years they had been promising and the Pilliga land was still untouched. After much delay one line was sanctioned to Cudgellico, and six months later Mr. M'Gowen turned the sod to the tune of brass bands. (Laughter.) On the eve of the election the Government tried again to humbug the people by sending up a few horses and carts and a dozen men to turn a few other sods. (Laughter.) The same ceremony was gone through at Barellan. That sod was still there, and, he believed, was growing a young tree. (Laughter.) On the Dubbo-Werris Creek line Mr. Griffith turned a sod. (Renewed laughter.) Fifteen months ago a sod was turned on the Nimitybelle-Bombala section, and men were only there a few days ago. (Laughter.) This was how the Government attended to land settlement. The Liberals took the right to resume private lands near railways as another method of meeting the land hunger, and made use of something like 600,000 acres, providing about 1600 farms.

SETTLEMENT PROMOTION ACT.

To meet the case of the men without means the Liberals passed the best Act ever passed in that regard. He referred to the Settlement Promotion Act of 1910, which gave power to advance 95 per cent. of the purchase money in solid cash. The man had only to repay instalments over a term of years. Had the Act been properly used men could have built up homes for themselves and their descendants. The present Ministry had had three years to use it. The bank was authorised to advance £1,000,000 a year for those who needed it, and the Government should have increased the number of valuation boards, instead of reducing them. They actually expected one could do the work for the whole State. Applications came in by the score, men were kept waiting for months and months, and the delay became so disheartening that the men threw it up in disgust. A man might lose a whole season in a state of anxiety, and it was not safe to go on with the work. There was the old Byamble Estate, near Mudgee. The men sowed their crops for the ensuing season, believing as they were told, that the price had been approved of. Only a couple of months ago it was found that the Government's finances had come to an end. Word was sent that the transaction could not go on. The men were deluded by the Ministry, and the owner naturally wanted the land or the money. If the truth only came out the Government was carrying out experiments in socialism instead of using money to help the real strugglers. Although the law provided for advances of £1,000,000 a year, the total amount advanced for Labour's three years was just a few pounds over £1,000,000, and in no single year had the bank advanced £500,000. The amount applied for during the three years was £2,500,000. The Act had been killed by unsympathetic administration. Which party had more at heart the interests of the man on the land?

NATIONALISATION.

The Labour policy in itself was hostile to land questions. Their plank was leasehold only, and the Liberal policy was leasehold with the right to convert, or freehold. (Cheers.) In a free country a man should have perfect freedom in his choice of tenure as long as there was no building up of large estates. Yet in a democratic country the Labour party said a man must be a prisoner on his land. As soon as the land increased in value, what was the result? The Labour party put up the rent. The only thing was to elect the party pledged to give the right to convert. (Cheers.) If there was no difference between leasehold and freehold, provided there were safeguards against reaggregation, where was the Labour objection to the freehold? That objection was deep-seated. One of the Labour platforms was nationalisation, which could only mean in the end something approaching confiscation, as they could not find the money to pay for the land proposed to be taken. Therefore, a confiscatory land tax was suggested, in order to buy the land when its value was destroyed. The leasehold was a step towards land nationalisation, and the man on the land should realise the truth before the danger was before him in a practical form. The Liberals proposed to allocate money to be spent on improvements on each Crown land holding, the amount to be repaid by easy instalments. The settler would not have to endeavour to arrange a loan, for which he might have to pay a high price. The idea was not his, but the outcome of a conversation with their candidate, Mr. Tom Spring, who he hoped would be their member in a month's time. (Cheers.) No man should be called upon to live on less than a living wage, but the claims advanced by the Rural Workers' Union, if acceded to, would bring disaster in their train. The farmer could not charge more for his produce, and they could realise how serious it would be if they were called upon to pay more than they were able. Apart from this, the Government proposed to legislate for a minimum wage. The objective was a wage of 11s a day.

A voice: Where do they get it?

Mr. Wade: That's the problem, and that's not all. The Labour conference resolved last year in favour of six hours a day, though it was withdrawn subsequently owing to fear of alarming the cockies during the Yass by-election. (Laughter.) Mr. E. H. Farrar, M.L.C., shortly after his appointment, no doubt flushed with success, went to Melbourne, and told his friends there that the idea he had in his mind was not eight or six, but four hours a day. (Loud laughter.) They seemed to think that the farmer was to be easily fooled, but farmers were realising that the Labour party had not their interests at heart. (Hear, hear.)

A RAILWAY COMPARISON.

Touching on railway matters, Mr. Wade referred to the actual number of miles of line constructed in the life of each Ministry. This he said would be a fair test. In their three years the Liberals constructed 280 miles of new railway, as against 230 by the Labour party in three years less one month; yet it was said that the Liberals were asleep all those years. The Labour party commenced railways in various parts of the State, and not one had been completed during the life of the last Parliament. Railways should be pushed on to completion, and put to productive use, so as to pay interest on the capital invested. They had spent the best part of £1,000,000 on eight railways, not one of which had been brought to completion. The Forbes-Stockinbingal extension had been stagnant for months. But they were busier now, of course, near the election. After two and a half years of expectation not a single penny piece was being drawn in revenue from the lines under construction. It was a muddling policy, to provide baits for the electors. Expense crept up, waste occurred, and they would have heavier taxation in the near future. Duplication was initiated by his own Ministry, and they decided to raise £2,000,000 to be used for that one purpose. That money had been spent by their opponents, who only signed the cheques. He had no objection to that, but he objected to their surrounding themselves with a halo of glory for doing what an ordinary clerk could do. Duplication was going to be more and more necessary, as the produce of this and adjacent districts was increasing by leaps and bounds. Duplication must keep a step in advance of new railway construction to prevent the congestion that existed too frequently in the harvest season. (Hear, hear.)

STATE FINANCES.

MR. WADDELL'S CRITICISM.

CARCOAR, Saturday.

Mr. Waddell, M.L.A., addressing a large meeting in the Carcoar School of Arts on Friday night, said that the action of the Government in delaying the general elections till near the end of the first half of the financial year was unjustifiable in every respect. It would prevent the Estimates being passed till nearly three-fourths of the year had expired. It was of the utmost importance that the people's representatives should have an opportunity of scrutinising the way in which their money was being expended. The Government, without just reason of any kind, had made that impossible until most of the money had been spent. It was, unfortunately, too apparent that the whole financial position had got into a state of almost hopeless confusion and weakness.

The chief account into which the revenues of the country were paid, and from which the whole of the current expenditure of the country was drawn, showed an enormous deficiency. Although the Government had ruled during the great prosperity, when every source of revenue was yielding its maximum, it had, by its utter incompetence and reckless expenditure, failed to make ends meet, and had left the country now to face an empty Treasury, and, worse still, with enormous liabilities to meet in the shape of replacing the millions of trust funds it had used.

Although it had long been apparent that the new tax to raise large sums would have to be proposed to make good the huge deficit, neither the Premier nor the Treasurer had taken the people into his confidence, and stated how this money was to be raised and what new taxes would have to be imposed. Surely, at such a time, the people were entitled to know what fresh financial burdens would be imposed on them.

The Government had lent a willing ear for requests for expenditure in all directions. Millions were now urgently required for the completion of the duplication of the railways and the erection of appliances for bulk-handling of wheat, and yet, notwithstanding all the money the Government had received, it had an empty Treasury, and Ministers, instead of singling out works of the most pressing urgency and concentrating the financial power of the Government upon them until completed, had done the very opposite. A powerful reason for making the most of the money borrowed was the fact that the Government was borrowing money at higher rates of interest than had been paid by any other Government for 40 years. Its sinking funds were a sham. In order to create them it was piling up debt in other directions. Its whole financial policy was characterised by incompetency, and, worse still, by utter indifference as to what new and permanent financial burdens it placed upon the backs of the people. Financial transactions of any Government were of such magnitude that if wisely handled they would do much to promote the supply of capital at reasonable rates of interest for the people, but if mismanaged they would have the opposite effect.

ANNANDALE.

MR. BRUNTNELL'S CRITICISM.

The selected Liberal candidate for Annandale (Mr. Bruntnell) addressed a meeting of the electors at the corner of Crystal-street and Parramatta-road on Friday evening; Mr. W. H. Keam presiding over a large attendance.

Mr. Bruntnell said he was fighting the Minister of the great spending department of the State, a gentleman who had stated in Parliament that it was immoral and dishonest finance to spend one shilling of public money on work that would not pay interest and allow for a sinking fund. Mr. Griffith had repeatedly done that, and to such an extent that it had become a grave menace to the financial position of the State. The hon. gentleman had also stated that to exceed the amount allowed by Parliament on public works was such a grave and unconstitutional offence that an English monarch had lost his head for it. Mr. Griffith had done things in a manner unequalled by any of his predecessors; and, without saying that Mr. Griffith ought to lose his head, he (Mr. Bruntnell) certainly thought he should lose his seat in Parliament. (Laughter.) The Minister for Works was hypersensitive to any criticism that came from the Liberal side, but some of the most severe censures upon him had come from members of the Labour party.

Mr. Bruntnell said that Mr. Griffith was now promising the electors cheap money, cheap rents, and cheap meat, but he had failed to give them any tangible scheme under which those promises could be crystallised into practical legislation. The cry of combines that was being raised by the Labour party was manifestly bogus, in view of the fact that nothing had been done by legislation during the past three years to deal with the alleged combines; and it must be remembered that the Minister for Works and the Cabinet were prepared to hand over millions of pounds worth of public works to a big foreign syndicate of capitalists.

In constitutional, educational, and industrial reform the Labour Government had acted recreant of their trust, and in direct opposition to their platform, and while they now excused themselves on the ground of their not having had a sufficient majority, Mr. Holman was boasting throughout the country that on every critical vote testing the strength of the House the Government had had majorities ranging from 4 to 12. Surely they could have risked a test on some of the important planks of their platform. Mr. Bruntnell was satisfied that his record was a good one. During the past three years he had represented the electors without fear or favour, and could look forward confidently to the result of the poll on December 6.

Mr. Dick, M.L.C., in supporting Mr. Bruntnell's candidature, delivered a trenchant address, in which he stated that the Labour party had held office for nearly three years under false pretences. Not one important plank of their platform, and hardly any promise they had made to the people at the last elections, had been carried out. There was no sound constitutional principle which they had not violated, and in that respect Mr. Griffith had been the chief offender.

The usual vote of confidence was carried unanimously.

MR. FITZPATRICK'S ADDRESS.

Mr. J. C. L. Fitzpatrick addressed a large meeting at the corner of Parramatta-road and Catherine-street on Saturday evening, in support of Mr. Bruntnell. He said there was not even one plank of the Labour party's platform that the Government had been true to. One of the first planks in the platform was the abolition of the Legislative Council, yet instead of abolishing the Upper House, they had strengthened it by the appointment of about a dozen new members. Three years ago, if a member of the Liberal party attempted to address a meeting in Redfern, Newtown, and other strongholds of Labour, he was howled down and twitted about leg-irons, etc. To-day the Liberal speakers received a fair hearing, for the reason that a large number of persons, who were prepared to give the Labour party a chance at the last election had discovered what awful political frauds the Government had turned out.

The members of the Ministry were, said Mr. Fitzpatrick, travelling through the country boasting of the good work they had accomplished. In his opinion they had certainly done one thing well—they had by their extravagant legislation "done" the country. He had no quarrel with Mr. Holman, Mr. Griffith, and other members of the Government as individuals, but as Ministers of the Crown they were beyond the contempt of every decent person. It was only by sheer accident that Mr. Holman belonged to the Labour party at the present time. Some months ago there was a conspiracy between Mr. Holman, Mr. Beeby, and other Labour members, and certain members of the Liberal party to break away and form a new party. Everything was cut and dried, but before the arrangements had been thoroughly completed, two Labour members resigned their seats as a protest against the leasehold policy of Mr. Nielsen, and the consternation that followed nipped the breakaway in the bud. He was not running down the Labour movement, which was an excellent thing in proper hands, but he was running down the "barnacles that were living on it." No one knew better than the Government themselves that so surely as the sun would rise the following morning, they were going to a dishonoured grave on December 6.

BATHURST.

BATHURST, Sunday.

Mr. Elijah Field, of Sydney, who claims to be the selected Liberal candidate for Bathurst, and who has repeatedly announced his determination to stand for the seat, now states that if he retires from the contest he will probably demand from the Liberal Association £100, the refusal of which "may very probably be met with legal proceedings claiming £1500."

HAWKESBURY.

PENRITH, Sunday.

Mr. T. S. Crawford, M.L.A., delivered an address here last night in support of Mr. Webster, Labour candidate for the Hawkesbury. Referring to machine politics, the speaker said the Liberals used to deny the existence of such, but present-day events showed that the machine was about all that was left of Liberal politics. The machine had taken supreme control, and had started on a journey of annihilating every thought of freedom. Mr. Wade still stood to the machine, and regarded disobedience to its crushing tactics as intolerable mutiny. The method of selection at Willoughby showed that either the machine had been loaded or that well-known men had suddenly lost respect for their own pledges.

CAMDEN.

MR. HUNT'S CANDIDATURE.

Mr. J. C. Hunt, selected Liberal candidate, delivered an address in the Campbelltown Town Hall on Wednesday to a large attendance of electors. Alderman A. Bursill (Mayor) presided, and a vote of thanks was accorded to the speaker.

GLOUCESTER.

Mr. H. J. Stephens, central secretary of the Country Party Association, writes:—"Mr. Robert Malcolm, who opened his candidature for the Gloucester seat at Jones's Island on Saturday night last, is not, as stated, a Country party candidate. He may be an estimable man with a statesmanlike policy, but he ought not to claim a name that is likely to mislead the electors. The Country party candidate for Gloucester is Mr. D. Cowan, of Taree."

MOSMAN.

Mr. F. B. Colquhoun, the selected Liberal candidate, is carying out a comprehensive canvass of the electorate. He has been very busy in organising the whole of the executive committees of the various branches of the Liberal Association's and the Women's Liberal League. Mr. S. R. Innes-Noad and Alderman A. D. Walker, two of the defeated candidates, are actively assisting in the campaign.

PHILLIP.

Mr. Eden George has acceded to the request to contest the Phillip electorate, and his candidature has been endorsed by the executive of the Liberal Association of New South Wales. Mr. Eden George is a strenuous campaigner. He won the Belmore seat in 1901 from Sir James Graham, and was returned again in the succeeding election for the Ashburnham seat. He was defeated at the 1907 election through over-confidence on the part of his supporters, and since then has spent his time largely in travelling in England and on the Continent.

SOCIALIST CANDIDATES.

The following candidates have been selected and endorsed by the Australasian Socialist party to contest the electorates named at the forthcoming State election:—Darling Harbour, F. J. Riley; King, J. W. Roche; Belmore, A. A. Rutherford; Balmain, J. Brice; Leichhardt, J. G. Kilburn; Newtown, L. Jones. These candidates stand for the abolition of the present capitalist form of society, and the inauguration of the social ownership, with democratic control of the means of production, distribution, and exchange. They have no programme of palliatives.

ENROLMENT.

LARGE NUMBERS ADDED.

The time for enrolment on the supplementary rolls closed on Friday night. In city electorates large additions have been made. The Labour party have been particularly active in the crowded electorates, and for weeks past members of leagues have been making a house-to-house canvass, with the result that they have been instrumental in adding considerably over a thousand names to each of the rolls.

ISSUE OF WRITS.

Writs for the election to be held on December 6 were issued on Saturday.

LABOUR ENDORSEMENTS.

The P.L.L. executive has made the following endorsement of nominations for the State elections:—Gordon, F. F. Cowdroy; Clarence, Clement Johnson; Hastings and Macleay, J. Purcell; Mosman, E. Cohen.

The following electorates will be dealt with during this week:—Ashfield, Byron, Wollondilly.

The following selections have been made for Federal seats:—Nepean, V. Molesworth; Dalley, R. Howe, M.P.; Eden-Monaro, H. Lestrange; Robertson, J. A. Fraser.

LABOUR LAND POLICY.

GILGANDRA, Saturday.

Mr. Trefle addressed a meeting here on Friday night. He spoke for three and a half hours, and dealt at length with the Labour land policy. He stated that the letter of Mr. Campbell published in the "Herald" was written in reply to a different set of figures and other matter than referred to in any speech made by him (Mr. Trefle). The remarks quoted by Mr. Campbell, he said, had reference only to figures used in comparing a homestead farm, valued at £2000, with a conditional purchase of the same value.

TRADES AND LABOUR.

BUILDERS' LABOURERS' AWARD.

The award of the Builders' Labourers' Union (Building Trades Group No. 2, Metropolitan and Newcastle) has been made, and has not been received with general satisfaction by the men. Following are the principal provisions:—Hours, 48. Wages:

Pick and shovel men, men sand-shifting, carpenters' labourers, men engaged as generally useful, demolishers, 1/1½ per hour. Concreters, barrowmen, labourers carrying to plasterer, men scaffolding in rooms under 14ft high or outside building, on one story, excavators other than pick and shovel men in muck work, 1s 2½d per hour. Plasterers' labourers who mix lime, cement, or colours, scaffolders for outside work on any building more than one story high and on inside work in rooms over 14ft, crane hands (men in charge), gear hands, dogmen on power cranes, gantry hands, labourers mixing lime or cement, or scaffolding for bricklayers, 1s 3½d. Bricklayers' labourer, supplying by hod, 1s 4½d. Overtime: Time and a half for the first four hours, and double time for all time thereafter. Sundays and holidays double time. Provision is made for night shifts, travelling, and country work. The loads will be as heretofore, 12 bricks to a hod and 40 to a wheelbarrow. Piecework is not allowed. The usual clause regarding preference to unionists is included.

Mr. M. Watson, president of the union, said he was dissatisfied with the award all through, especially regarding grading and the rates of wages. The grade was not clear, and likely to cause complication and friction among the men. It was to be hoped, he added, that the Federal award would soon be out.

FEDERATED ENGINEDRIVERS.

Mr. H. A. Mitchell, general secretary of the federal council of the Federated Enginedrivers and Firemen's Association, which has been meeting in Melbourne for the last few days, has returned to Sydney. He says that correspondence was read from all the States complaining of unsatisfactory conditions. It is regretted, too, that the forthcoming award of the Commonwealth Conciliation and Arbitration Court will not cover everyone. Logs were drawn up on behalf of members complaining with a view of formulating demands on employers for improved conditions where members are not covered by either Federal arbitration or agreements. It is hoped to obtain agreements on the lines of the award. If this is not done it is likely a further case will go before the Commonwealth Court.

PRESERVING INDUSTRY.

Amalgamation has been in the air for some time among the Cold Storage and Ice Employees and the Meat Packers and Preservers' Unions, and next Thursday will see a joint meeting of the two unions to hear an address from Mr. J. Barnes, Federal organiser of the A.M.I.E. Union. Ballot papers will be issued and the proposal voted upon.

BUILDER'S FOREMEN.

The recently-formed Australian Builders' Foremen and Clerks of Works' Association, has its headquarters at 291A Pitt-street, with Mr. J. Woodbury as president, and Mr. A. Somerville as hon. secretary.

BABY'S WHOLE FACE DISFIGURED.
Norway, N.S.W.—"My baby at about the age of three weeks became covered on the face with small red spots. I thought it was just one of the rashes that babies are often subject to and would soon disappear, but it seemed very obstinate, although I kept on using home remedies for several weeks, and instead of getting better it got gradually worse. You could hardly see a space between the spots. The baby's whole face was scarlet and very much disfigured and I did not like to take her outside the house. Having read of the Cuticura Remedies I sent for a sample tin of the Cuticura Ointment, and used it as directed with some Cuticura Soap which I bought. The result was so favourable that I bought some more of the Cuticura Ointment, and after using the best part of one tin the rash had almost disappeared, leaving just a few isolated spots, which soon faded away, leaving the skin in a splendid condition as it is now." (Signed) Mrs. S. Wilcox, September, 1912.
Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world, a sample of each, with 32-page Skin Book, will be mailed free on application to R. Towns and Co., Dept. T., Sydney, N.S.W.—Advt.

THE FARMERS' VOTE.

How suddenly solicitous has the State Government become for the farmers' vote. During those long years in which Labour has been in office and has had it in its power to do something for the agricultural and pastoral interests of the State, what has it done? It has attempted to tinker with land tenure. It has given the railway workers an increase in wages, and raised rates on produce to enable this to be done. It has promised to introduce the bulk-handling system for grain, but has been slow in the accomplishment. It has spent money on railways with a lavish hand it is true, but the lines that it has actually completed ready for use are few and far between, the interests of the workers engaged on these works rather than the interests of the farmers seemingly being the most important consideration. It is the means that is important, not the end. Meanwhile it has clapped on more taxes upon farmers and others, and it has still more under promise. With many uncompleted railway works all over the country eagerly crying out for completion, the Government has so depleted its Treasury chest and so exhausted its credit in London that there is quite a likelihood of its works being long hung up for lack of loan funds. It has managed to run all the public accounts dry except the Closer Settlement Fund, which it has hardly operated on at all. After a spasm of immigration activity it has virtually shut down and left the farmers with a more or less bare labour market wherewith to shift the largest harvest on record. By its preachings and its avowed policy of industrial organisation of class against class, it has stirred up the rural workers into unwonted activity, which portends trouble for those on the land just at the moment when the crops are in their most critical stage, between ear and bag. All these things it has done and left undone, and yet it has the effrontery to look for the farmers' vote at the coming elections.

If there is one thing above all others that is dear to the average farmer's heart it is his indisputable title to the land he occupies. The "magic of ownership" is ever a stimulus to greater and greater effort. It keeps his heart from failing when the seasons are most adverse. It assists that hope to rise which is eternal in the human breast. The freehold tenure is the anchor of his hopes and of his aspirations, and it is this that the Labour party is attempting to undermine. But we are told by Labour apologists that leasehold is just as good as freehold. Some even aver that it is better. They point out that there are many with limited capital who cannot afford to buy a freehold right out, but who could readily finance a leasehold. This is quite true, but it merely means that those whose financial position is not too strong must be content with something inferior to enable them to get a start. Given the means there is no doubt as to which tenure the landseeker would prefer. And, even in such cases in which a lack of means makes him content with the less secure tenure, there is ever the hope that some day, when times improve, it may be possible to make the farm really his own. In this country the landlord coming in between the producer and the land is not liked, and it matters very little whether the landlord is a private person or the State. The farmer desires to save rent just as the city dweller does, and for the same reasons. As a matter of fact, the leasehold system is not without its uses. It does assist the poor man to get on to the land at an earlier date than might otherwise be possible. Where leaseholds are wanted they should be granted. Those who are prepared to settle on the land should have a perfect right to say whether they will have a freehold or a leasehold. But if they have to be content with a leasehold it should be regarded as a mere stepping-stone to something better later on. In other words, there should always be a right to convert on terms that are equitable alike to the lessee and the State landlord.

What is the secret of Labour's preference for the leasehold system? Why do Ministers so insistently endeavour to persuade the man on the land that he is ignorant of where his real interests lie? The motive is plain. It is one of the planks of the Labour platform that all land should be nationalised. To-day that is an impracticable plank. The Government is not ready to buy out landowners who hold freeholds, nor is it yet strong enough to tax them out of their proprietorship, though it has made a beginning in that direction. It fully realises all this, but it also realises that every additional alienation of Crown lands makes the plank harder of ultimate realisation. The State is already the greatest of all landlords. It is the object of the Labour party to make it a still bigger landlord. The farmer who takes up the virgin forest and by hard work and indomitable pluck turns it into fields of golden grain is to have no advantage from his enterprise. The so-called "unearned increment" is all to go to the State, that is partly to Labour's supporters in the city factories. If only the Government could get the new generation of farmers to adopt leasehold and eschew freehold, the next move would be to deal with those who have already under the law of C. land received freeholds. Differential taxation would be their lot till the day came in which it would pay no man to be a freeholder. Then the Labour ideal would be accomplished and nationalisation of the land would speedily follow. Of course, the farmers are not being told this. Instead of that they are being fed with new promises. They are being bribed with suggestions of the spending of still more borrowed moneys, though the Government does not yet know where it is to get them. The previous Government did not spend so much money as this Government has done; but, then, the previous Government did not run the finances to a standstill as Mr. Holman and his colleagues have done. The previous Government reduced taxation, the present Government has clapped more on. The previous Government left the public accounts in surplus, the present Government has them more largely in debit than any other Government has done in the history of the State. We hope that the State will be pulled out of its difficult position without untoward injury resulting, and we have confidence in the permanent heads of the Treasury seeing some way of doing so. But more than that we cannot reasonably expect. There must be a cessation of the orgy of extravagance that we have been experiencing, because of pressure from without rather than because of pressure from within. It is clear that Ministers do not fully realise the seriousness of the position. This being so, farmers may well discount their promises and be content if works now in progress are not unduly delayed owing to the financial muddle at the Treasury.

FOREIGN POLICY.

All the time that every Parliament and council in the Empire is busied with its absorbing private affairs, there is at work one constant policy which has changed little in centuries. Its object is to enable all these hundreds—thousands, indeed—of parliaments and councils to indulge in their private squabbles without interference from outside. Englishmen and Australians scarcely realise that such a policy exists, because no living Englishman or Australian has ever known what it is to have his private politics interfered with. That freedom is one which the Anglo-Saxon race has enjoyed more or less since before the Armada, and we scarcely realise that it is a privilege even now enjoyed by comparatively few nations. It is not once in a twelvemonth that the average Anglo-Saxon even gives a thought to the existence of a foreign policy. And yet all the time, whatever else happens, there is always one man in the Empire, a man dissociated as far as is possible for a Cabinet Minister from internal politics, who is charged with the sole duty of so manoeuvring the British Empire along the crowded fairway of international traffic, that the rest of us may be free to thrash out our various antagonisms inside our own big ship without finding the side suddenly tumbling in upon us, and the blue sky and the hawse pipes of some angry foreign ship of state peering in at us through the opening.

The Foreign Minister does not often talk about his work, because it goes better without talking. His chief duty is to avoid trouble, and provided the ship of state, with its busy interests inside of it, gets through each tangle without a collision, the object of the people inside is fairly well served. There is no one so quick to cause offence as a talkative Foreign Minister, because nations are, for some reason, the most easily offended units in the world. Therefore, although the main lines of the foreign policy which keeps the British Empire out of trouble are well known, the occasions on which the British Foreign Minister talks about them are so rare that they are always interesting. Sir Edward Grey has clung, if ever anyone did, to the traditional British policy. The aim of that policy—which is centuries old—was, as he explained it last week, to play for safety all the time by ensuring that there should never arise a state of affairs in the world in which any nation or combination of nations should be so far stronger than all the others as to have it in its power to crush the British Empire. "The Foreign Secretary," he said, "had to secure that no political changes in the world combinations should arise which would be likely to threaten the security of the Empire or the maintenance of communication between the separate parts of the Empire. He was not called on to make striking diplomatic victories. Every great "diplomatic success," as he said—and recent history has proved it again and again—has to be paid for sooner or later; and the more it is boasted about the higher the price. The foreign policy of the British Empire simply requires constant steering—and that Sir Edward Grey has given it, in difficult times, with complete success. Britain's policy involves just one risk—that she must always keep the world evenly divided by tacking herself on to the weaker side, and therefore must inevitably find herself always in the path of whatever nation is strongest for the time being. Many have doubted whether that risk is justified. But although it has brought England very near to war in recent years, it seems to have been justified by the result. Although war came close, it never actually came—its prospect was too formidable, and too doubtful. British policy of late, in the hands of a Minister like Sir Edward Grey, and Ambassadors like Mr. Bryce, has been very consistent. Those who know the inner history of the late Balkan crisis know by what unlimited patience and constant care European trouble was avoided. The second half of the Empire's foreign policy is, within the limits of safety, to throw all its weight on the humanitarian side. It is this policy which is the best guarantee of the constant friendship between England and America which shows signs of reasserting itself in the Mexican trouble, and to which the American President referred in his cable to the Pilgrims' banquet in London.

NEW ZEALAND'S CRISIS.

The most serious news with regard to the New Zealand strike is that a condition of affairs approximating to a general strike exists in Auckland, and that attempts are being made to extend the cessation of work in Wellington and other centres. In Auckland carters, carpenters, bricklayers, general labourers, waiters, and other groups of the workers are already on strike, and the citizens are clearly faced with a general paralysis of the communal life, which must have a disastrous effect on the commerce of the country, and before long jeopardise the supply of the necessaries of life. The one satisfactory feature of the situation is that the authorities appear to have the position well in hand in both Wellington and Auckland. The wharfs are at present adequately protected by formidable barricades, and a large force of ordinary and special constables. But the temper of an unemployed, angry, hungry mob is always uncertain, and we must be prepared for serious collisions with the police if the strike continues. The employers, supported by the Citizens' Defence Committee, have maintained their firm attitude against the acceptance of any terms which do not involve the registration of agreements under the Arbitration Act in order to ensure their observance or penalties against breach. The whole principle of industrial arbitration is at stake. There is no antagonism against unionism, or even a serious dispute with regard to the conditions of labour. But the Federation of Labour is attacking a system under which the workers bind themselves to observe certain conditions of employment, to refer disputes to impartial arbitrament, and to subject themselves to penalties if agreements are dishonoured. It was inevitable that such an attack would be resisted to the utmost.

Sir James Mills makes clear in the statement which we publish this morning how trivial was the original dispute, and how unjustifiable was the breach by the waterside workers of the agreement with the shipowners. There is still some doubt as to how far the seamen and firemen are striking in sympathy with the other workers. Their widespread participation would be the most serious incident of the strike yet recorded so far as Australia is concerned. We can only hope that both the men and the employers in the Commonwealth will keep their heads over the matter. There is at present every reason to anticipate that no rash, ill-considered action will be taken, or is even contemplated by the unions in circumstances which do not directly concern them, and by no means reflect credit on their fellow-workers in New Zealand. Nothing would more certainly help the Liberal cause in the ensuing four weeks than a general dislocation of work consequent upon the trouble yonder. We have already been given cause for complaint as a community because some of the trade unions in this State care little or nothing about the public; and if the New Zealand strike were to extend to New South Wales, at a time when a Labour Government was trying to persuade the people that it was to be trusted in every emergency, there would be something like annihilation for the party next month. It may be expected, therefore, that unionists on this side will be reasonable. Our immediate business as a State is to see that local peace is preserved, and that the State elections are fought out on a basis of absolute fair-play.

QUARANTINE.

To-day the presidents of the various States' Boards of Health are to meet in Melbourne, where they will consider the best way of dealing with the smallpox outbreak in this city. It is to be hoped that one result of their conference will be the removal of the embargo which has now for so many months been laid upon Sydney. To persist in declaring Sydney a quarantined area will, in view of the later history of the outbreak, do little to safeguard the rest of Australia, and will involve Sydney in inconvenience and loss quite incommensurate to the advantages gained by such a course. No one can blame the Federal authorities for quarantining Sydney in the earlier stages of the epidemic. Smallpox is a disease usually associated with a high degree of infectiousness, and a high death rate, and any local sacrifice seemed preferable to allowing it to run its course unchecked through the continent. However, the lapse of time has taught us two things. In the first place this variety of smallpox is comparatively mild, and though we were told that it would develop into a much graver form, this prophecy has not been justified by the event. There has not been a single death which can be properly attributed to smallpox; most of the victims' sufferings have been inconsiderable, and there is absolutely no ground for believing that the virulency of the disease is likely to increase. In the second place, so far from the area of infection increasing, it is rapidly growing smaller. Every week sees a progressive diminution in the number of patients, and though there are still cases here and there, their existence can hardly be said to constitute a menace to the community any longer. Clearly the epidemic is dying out, and under the circumstances the people of Sydney feel that the continuance of the quarantine is unnecessary and unfair.

If Sydney were really a centre of infection which must be cut off from the other States at all costs, it is remarkable that the country, with which we have had free intercourse, has not suffered to a greater extent. Right through the epidemic there has been constant communication with the country districts. Goods have been sent from Sydney; travellers have gone to and fro without let or hindrance. And yet the number of cases which have come from the country has been negligible. Surely this is a proof positive that there is nothing to be feared from communication with Sydney. And yet, though the country, exposed as it is to greater opportunities of infection, has been practically immune, the other States, despite their vaccination laws, which safeguard them in the completest possible manner, shrink from contact with Sydney as if her touch were death. How illogical the position is can be seen from the case of Newcastle. Here is Newcastle, a city comparatively close to Sydney, with a great deal of traffic with Sydney. Here, if anywhere, we might expect to see the disastrous results of such intercourse, but in point of fact there has been no outbreak there. Why, then, should Melbourne or Brisbane fear a worse fate? There is nothing to be gained by persisting in the embargo. The actual damage to business which has resulted from the quarantine is hard to estimate in figures, but there is no doubt whatever that it is immense. Every firm has the same story to tell, and if the present prohibition continues much longer it will be an extremely serious matter for the commercial community of this city. It is too late to undo the past, and we shall have to put up with the previous loss as best we can. But there is no reason why it should be permitted to go on, and the resentment of Sydney is the more bitter because we feel that we are being made the victims of an excessive and wholly unnecessary precaution.

Qualifying Certificate.—To-day upwards of 16,000 boys and girls, averaging about 13 years of age, will undergo examination for the qualifying certificate. Of these 6800 come from schools in the metropolitan area, and 9700 from schools in country centres. Success at this examination is a necessary condition, not only to the gaining of a qualifying certificate, but to secure promotion beyond the fifth class standard of a primary school. The award of scholarships and bursaries tenable at a high, district or technical school, or at a registered secondary school, will also be determined by this examination. As a general rule, the worked papers will be forwarded to head-quarters by post immediately after the close of the examination. In the metropolitan district, however, it will probably be found more convenient to send the papers by special messenger. Vans will call in rotation at the following schools, and in some cases it may be convenient for teachers to convey the papers to the nearest school at which a van is to call:—1. Burwood, Croydon, Ashfield, Summer Hill; (2) Petersham, Dulwich Hill, Crystal-street, Camperdown; (3) Stanmore, Newtown, Enmore, Camdenville; (4) Chatswood, Crow's Nest, Mosman, Neutral Bay, North Sydney; (5) Balmain, Birchgrove, Rozelle, Orange Grove; (6) Kegworth, Leichhardt, Glebe, Redfern; (7) Waterloo, Gardener's-road, Bourke-street, Crown-street.

Sir George Reid's Jokes.—Some of Sir George Reid's jokes from the hustings when he was an active participant in political fights are recalled by Mr. B. R. Wise in his book, "The Making of the Australian Commonwealth," as showing his readiness at repartee. During the 1898 election campaign he was, while addressing a meeting at Newtown, struck by a small paper bag of flour. The flour smothered his face, but he made no attempt to wipe it off. Bowing his head toward the crowd, which laughed heartily at him, Sir George seized a moment of silence to drawl out, "You see, even my opponents make me look a white man. The more they attack me, the whiter man they make me." An interjector at another meeting called out, when Sir George was advocating the adoption of the Amended Draft Commonwealth Bill, "Double-faced!" "Look at him," said George, screwing his eyeglass in eye and pointing to the interjector; "I'm sure he hasn't got two faces, for if he had he would have left that one at home!" When a meeting of miners at Zeehan greeted his rising to speak with organised bellowing he waited till they paused to take breath, and then he piped out with an inimitable look of innocence, "Well, I only called you 'Gentlemen'!" Once, however, according to Mr. Wise, the composure of Sir George was "temporarily upset" during the final struggle for Federation, when a man at a meeting in the Sydney Town Hall mounted on a chair and silently reversed his coat.

Greater Sydney Commission.—The Greater Sydney Commission is not dead, but merely sleeping. More than six months have gone by since the commission entered upon its task, and it is nearly three months since the taking of evidence ceased, and the report is not available yet. As to when the report will be presented no information is to be obtained from members of the commission, but it is presumed that it will be issued some time before the end of the year.

Smallpox Conference.—Dr. Paton, Chief Health Officer, left last night for Melbourne, to take part in the conference which is to consider the question of lifting the quarantine embargo. The Government had previously decided not to send Dr. Paton to the conference, but this decision has been reviewed. All the States will be represented at the conference.

Fined for Resigning.—By tendering his resignation as a member of the Melbourne City Council, Alderman J. M. Pratt has rendered himself liable to a fine of £50. A letter from Alderman Pratt, in which he has submitted his resignation, will come before the council to-day. When it has been read the council will "proceed to fix the penalty to which he shall be liable in consequence of such resignation." Probably as Alderman Pratt is a first offender against the laws of the City Council in this respect he will escape with a nominal fine. A caution might meet the case, but it appears that some penalty must be imposed. Should the council demand that the full penalty of £50 shall be paid Alderman Pratt may console himself with the thought that if he were Lord Mayor and desired to retire from office, it might cost him £100. These penalties are provided in the Melbourne City Corporation Act, which was copied largely from an old English Municipal Act. Alderman Pratt has been a member of the City Council for 25 years. His retirement is due to ill-health.

A Child's Adventure.—One of the crew of a Manly cargo boat last Thursday discovered a little boy 2½ years old sleeping peacefully among the cargo. The boat was then alongside the Manly wharf, and, as nobody knew whom the child belonged to, he was handed over to the care of the police. The police at once got into touch with the other stations, but it was not till 10.30 p.m. that the little fellow was claimed by his mother, living at Darlinghurst. She had left him outside a church in that suburb while she went in to her devotions, and on coming out she found that the boy had disappeared. How he managed to get to Manly is a mystery. When found he was minus the boots and socks he was wearing when his mother last saw him at the church door.

Troublesome Agents.—An election circular, in which a candidate offered to act as agent for the first 40 people who were ready to take advantage of the extension of the Savings Bank Act to persons desirous of erecting houses in the suburbs, afforded Mr. Cann some amusement on Saturday. After glancing through it, he said: "Our friend is moving very rapidly. In the first place, no regulations have been framed under the Act yet to meet these cases. In the second place, the department would not welcome his services, for experience has shown that these agents are nuisances around the department. We prefer to deal directly with the borrower, for we find it saves trouble in the long run."

Two-headed Penny.—A number of men who bet on race days in Broken Hill on what is known as "The Dump," and vary time between races by games of chance, quarrelled on Saturday afternoon, owing to the introduction by one of them, it is alleged, of a two-headed penny. A couple of score indulged in a kind of "Ballyhooley," hitting when and how they could. The rioters included several professional pugilists. One man was knocked out, one sustained a broken arm, and was attended to by a surgeon, and several others were more or less severe sufferers.

FEDERAL SESSION.

SHELVING OF THE CENSURE MOTION.

AN ADROIT MOVE.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

Now that the Cup meeting is over, one of the principal places of interest in Melbourne will be the House of Representatives. Notwithstanding the counter attractions last week the galleries were filled long before the House assembled, so it can be confidently expected that this will be repeated on Tuesday, when once more the battle of wits between Mr. Cook and Mr. Fisher will be resumed. So far it must be said that the Government has gained almost all the points scored. Mr. Fisher got a trifling lead a fortnight ago by adjourning the Loan Bill second reading, but since then Mr. Cook has been the winner of all encounters. His last victory was on Friday, when by drawing the attention of the Speaker to a standing order not usually enforced, he got the censure motion and a motion directed at the Speaker put back on the business paper in a position where they can interfere but very little with the Government business.

Government business now occupies first place on the list. It is in the following order:—Government Preference Prohibition Bill, Committee of Public Accounts Bill, Norfolk Island Bill, Invalid and Old-Age Pensions Amendment Bill, Audit Bill, Electoral Bill, Tasmania Grant Bill, Public Debts Bill, Bureau of Agriculture Bill. The motion of Mr. Thomas's, "That the Speaker has lost the confidence of the House," stands at the top of the list of private notices of motion, and the no-confidence motion is the first order of the day under the same heading. This means that they will not be further heard of this session, unless the Government desire it.

The Prime Minister, when asked what he would do if another motion of censure was launched against the Government, said that if it was of the same nature as the other that was now on the business paper, he would not treat it as a no-confidence motion. He would not give up valuable Government time. Of course, he would judge all motions on their merits, as the public had to be considered as well as Parliament. There was to be no more scope given to time-wasting motions.

The Prime Minister was asked whether it might not be possible that the Speaker would like the motion directed at him definitely disposed of one way or other. Mr. Cook replied that the Government had the fixing of the notice on the business paper, and he did not see why it should afford time which might be devoted to the business of the country to be wasted in an attack on the Speaker by a few members.

GREAT RECORD OF PROGRESS

THIRTY YEARS' REVIEW.

Developments in education are dealt with in a pamphlet issued by the Department of Public Instruction.

Comparing 1882 with 1912, great expansion is shown in the intervening period of 30 years. The number of schools increased from 1602 to 3234, the average attendance from 90,944 to 171,027. The number of teachers more than doubled, rising from 2926 to 6559. The total cost of education also more than doubled, being £618,800 in 1882, and £1,526,302 last year. The total cost of administration in the first year mentioned was £55,036, and in 1912 it was £62,973, the percentage of administration to total cost falling from 8.8 to 4.1.

One point of interest is the difficulty experienced in keeping pace with the large increase in attendance. In December, 1910, the enrolment at Randwick was 640. For the quarter ended December 31, 1912, the enrolment had increased to 827, and additional accommodation had been provided. On June 30, 1913, the enrolment had increased to 907, so, in order to meet the additional need, portable schoolrooms had to be supplied. Three of these classrooms were erected, each capable of accommodating 45 pupils, and they will remain in use until further additions have been made.

The case at Bondi is even more marked. For the quarter ended December 31, 1910, the enrolment was 880. Two years later it had gone up to 998, while on June 30, 1913, the enrolment reached 1227. At Little Coogee the enrolment on December 31, 1910, was 96; the enrolment went up to 148 in 1912; and on June 30, 1913, it had more than doubled, the enrolment being 380.

Coogee had 169 pupils on December 31, 1910; 317 two years later: and on June 30, 1913, the enrolment had gone up to 394. As it was impossible to keep pace with such rapid increase by additions to the existing school, a pavilion classroom and a portable classroom have been provided.

The case at Campsie is even more striking. On December 31, 1910, an infants' school was in operation with an enrolment of 242. A primary school was then opened, and on December 31, 1912, the enrolment reached 755. On June 30, 1913, the enrolment was 850.

It is stated that at the present time work is in operation at over 300 schools, the total amount involved being approximately £270,000.

PERSONAL.

Sir George Reid, High Commissioner for the Commonwealth, will arrive in Sydney from Melbourne on Wednesday. A citizens' welcome will be tendered to him in the Town Hall on Friday evening.

Mr. Groom (Minister for Customs) arrived in Sydney on Saturday, and left again by the express last evening, on his return to Melbourne.

The State Treasurer, Mr. Cann, left last night for Broken Hill, via Melbourne and Adelaide. He will be absent from his office for about three weeks.

Mr. A. Edden, Minister for Mines left Newcastle by the Glen Innes mail on Friday night, to address meetings at Black Mountain, Uralla, Rocky River, Hillgrove, and Emmaville. Mr. Edden expects to return to Newcastle about Thursday next.

Mr. W. P. Small, managing director of the Hotel Metropole Company, is returning from a trip to Europe by the German mail steamer Roon, which will arrive in Sydney in a few days' time.

Mr. W. F. Foster, builder, of Sydney, who returned from a trip to Europe last week, was entertained by a number of his friends at a dinner on Saturday evening.

NOMINATED PASSAGES.

All friends to immigration will welcome the striking paragraph in your issue of to-day under the above heading (writes Mr. H. E. Easton, hon. secretary of the British Immigration League). It is too true that the restrictions which have been placed recently upon the right of new arrivals to nominate their relatives have caused much hardship and disappointment. For instance, it appears that while a father is allowed to nominate a son, a mother is not eligible for nomination by a daughter. My league has recently investigated 27 cases in which want of means is preventing men of excellent character from obtaining nominated passages for their wives and children, to the number of 103. I am to-day authorised to make the following offer:—The British Immigration League will immediately provide £100 towards the £535 required, and it hopes that others may come forward with the balance. The money is not required to be given, as it will be returnable by instalments spread over periods according to the circumstances of each particular applicant. I would mention that these 27 cases have been thoroughly investigated, and the result shows that the 103 relatives for whom the nominations are wanted would come to assured homes and employment. The matter is a very urgent one, as the writers intimate that unless they can receive assistance they will very reluctantly be compelled to leave New South Wales, where they are well established, and return to the Old Country, where, some of them state, "the chances are we shall fail to find employment."

CAMPAIGN NOTES.

LIBERAL V. LABOUR.

The writs for the State elections were issued on Saturday, and are returnable on December 22. Nominations close at noon on Saturday next, and polling takes place on Saturday, December 6.

Organising work is going on at high speed, and leaflets and other electioneering literature are now flooding the country.

A circular letter has been sent to all branch secretaries where Labour leagues exist, and to supporters in other centres, inviting them to form organising committees at each place where a polling booth is established.

"It is generally recognised," says this circular, "that the setback received by the party at the recent elections was due mainly to the lack of effective organisation, to the apathy of our own supporters in omitting to record their votes, and to the very excellent organisation of our opponents."

The situation in Willoughby, where Sir William M'Millan is opposing the selected Liberal, and so splitting the vote, is to be regretted; but, according to a correspondent, it will prove a blessing in disguise. "It is the almost universal opinion," he writes, "that Liberals can only be aroused to interest themselves in the contest by the very thing that is erroneously thought to be a danger." It will make all true Liberals rally round the selected candidate and leave nothing to chance.

"Ratepayer" writes:—"I notice that our council clerk is seeking election as a Liberal in this (Mosman) electorate. If he is a true Liberal there is only one straightforward course to pursue, i.e., support loyally the selected candidate. I would like to know if the council clerk has severed his connection with the council, or does he purpose acting in a dual position if elected?"

Another correspondent, "Watchdog," writes:—"We have unfortunately in this election three parties, and candidates with so-called Labour and Liberal tactics trying to wrest the seats away from their respective representatives. These vote-splitters are not only a menace to the parties, but are before the public to try and throw dust in the eyes of those electors who are weak-minded enough to give them their support. I appeal to all followers of true Labour and Liberalism to stick to their respective parties, and not to be gulled to support these so-called Labour, Liberal, and Independent candidates. We have had too much trouble in the politics of this country in the past with these gentlemen."

The Labour party is making the most it can of its forward policy in education. This is one field in which the party has certainly been successful; and there are few more important fields.

"We have spent £1,100,000 more on education than the Wade Government did," says Mr. M'Gowen. "What we want to know is whether, if returned to power, the Liberals will reduce the education vote and put teachers back on the old conditions?"

The Labour party, he adds, has also spent £800,000 more in railway servants' wages. "Ask the Liberals if this expenditure has been extravagant, and whether they will alter it."

It is much easier for a Government to raise wages than it is to lower them.

Mr. McGowen, moreover, is apt to take credit to himself and his party for things the Liberals did. He tells us in one breath that the Liberals can take no credit for advanced legislation, and in the next he tells us that we have led the world with our old-age pensions, invalid pensions, and the Miners' Accident Relief Fund. He might have added our arbitration and wages board systems to the list. Mr. McGowen should tell us how many of these "advanced" measures the Labour party passed.

Let us be fair in these things. It is fair that we should give the Labour party credit for assisting to pass much of this "advanced legislation;" but Mr. McGowen should not forget that the Labour party has only been in power during the last three years, and these things were law long before that.

The art of electioneering speeches is to make your hearers deaf and blind to the other side. Speaking at Wyalong the other day, Mr. Wade said: "Mr. Holman can only find five measures of any consequence that I passed. Has he forgotten the Invalids Pension Act, by which a means of subsistence is guaranteed those who are permanently disabled by sickness or injury from earning a living? Has he forgotten the Minimum Wage Act? Has he forgotten the Workers' Compensation Act, which provides compensation to every man for injury in the course of trade? Has he forgotten the subvention to friendly societies, the benefits of which are appreciated by every friendly society nowadays?"

As to the wages boards, the Opposition leader said: "Mr. McGowen was pledged to repeal the wages board principle, yet he re-enacts it in his measure, and, lastly, through pandering to Trades Hall cry, no persons are allowed to approach the Court unless they belong to a union. This provision has struck a blow at the unorganised women workers of the State. Under the Wade Act they had access to the Court, although not unionised, while by Labour law they are excluded."

One of the things this last Parliament did was to increase the salaries of members of Parliament without first referring the questions to the electors. There were only a few members who declined to take the extra money.

One of the things to be found in the platform of the Liberal party is "that no increase be given to members of Parliament without the prior consent of the electors, and that members of Parliament be compelled to attend the House 75 per cent. of the meetings in each session."

Another is "to maintain to members of Parliament and the press the right of free criticism of any bills brought before the House." This reminds us of the attempts that were made to stifle free criticism in the last Parliament.

Mr. Holman has raised the question, "Are the farmers of the State united?" He believes, he says, that some of the farmers will vote for the Labour party, declining to be considered as "a joint in the tail of the Liberal party."

But it does not follow that, because the Liberal land policy is the policy favoured by farmers, the Farmers' and Settlers' Association is "a joint in the tail of the Liberal party."

The point is this: Will the farmer vote for Liberalism and the freehold, or for Labour, whose policy is leasehold and land nationalisation?

Mr. Campbell, general secretary of the Farmers and Settlers' Association, says:—"It is easy to understand why the Premier dexterously tries to draw this herring across the trail. It's a very serious position for his party, even if not, indeed, for his own political career in Cootamundra, to have the farmers organised and solid for the support of their own candidates. The dissension which he now says is in existence has certainly been the case in the past, and Mr. Holman knows perfectly well that for that reason his party was able to capture a number of country seats. He is, however, deluding himself very seriously if he really believes that there is now any of this dissension which will make for the benefit of the Labour party."

"I have a vivid recollection," he says further, "of attending a Labour conference four years ago as an interested spectator. I then heard Mr. Holman deliver an eloquent and effective speech to the delegates, urging them not to saddle the Labour party with the proposal for an eight-hours day in the rural industry. 'We are in a minority now,' Mr. Holman had said, 'and we require to capture 14 'cocky' constituencies. Let us capture these seats first, and get into power; then we can take action to reduce the hours in the rural industry to eight per day, or even less than eight if we wish.' Will Mr. Holman go before the rural constituencies he is now so jealously wooing, and talk an eight-hours day, or even less, to them?"

BRITAIN'S DEFENCE.

STRATEGIC WEAKNESS.

DISCLOSED BY NAVAL MANOEUVRES.

LONDON, Nov. 8.

There is much comment because the report of the naval manoeuvres has not been issued.

It is stated that the report has not been made public on account of Vice-Admiral Jellicoe's so-called German fleet having captured four bases on the east coast, and landed 60,000 troops without disaster.

The "Pall Mall Gazette" states that the Admiralty stopped the manoeuvres, fearing that the results would give an impetus to Lord Roberts's campaign of universal service.

NAVAL SECRETS.

FOREIGN POWER PAYS LARGE SUMS.

LONDON, Nov. 9.

The case is in progress of Karl Hentschell, a British subject, who was remanded at the police court last month on a charge of inciting George Charles Parrott, a dismissed gunner, formerly attached to H.M.S. Pembroke, to convey official secrets to a foreign Power. Parrott was convicted in January last.

Hentschell, who has been charged on his own confession, was born in Germany and naturalised in Australia. He taught navigation and languages at Sheerness.

Mr. A. H. Bodkin, counsel for the prosecution, who announced that it would be undesirable to make Hentschell's statements public, confined himself to general references. Hentschell declared in his confession that he purchased confidential books from Parrott, sold the contents, which dealt chiefly with gunnery, torpedoes, and signals, to a foreign Power, and received substantial payment. He paid Parrott large sums, besides a monthly retainer of £160.

The Rev. Mr. Tozer stated in evidence that he had known Hentschell since 1909. He was absent for nine months during 1911-12, and told him that he had been to Australia.

Accused was further remanded.

LORD ROBERTS' CAMPAIGN.

LONDON, Nov. 7.

Sir Arthur Lawley, speaking at a demonstration held in Hull in connection with Lord Roberts' national defence campaign, said: "Our home defence force is a counterfeit thing of shreds and patches."

He added that it was to be hoped the patriotic example of Sir Robert Lucas-Tooth, who recently gave £50,000 as the nucleus of a fund to promote boys' organisations on the lines of the Australian cadets, would find many followers.

THE THAW CASE.

EXTRADITION ORDERED.

NEW HAMPSHIRE, Nov. 8.

The Governor has ordered the extradition of Harry Thaw to New York State on a charge of conspiracy and escape from the asylum where he was detained.

The case is now automatically transferred to the Federal Courts, where a writ of habeas corpus is pending.

WEDDING PARTY POISONED.

THE ACT OF A JEALOUS RIVAL.

PARIS, Nov. 8.

Of 80 guests at a double wedding at Cholet, 40 were poisoned by eating custard.

Eight of the guests died from the effects of the poison, and 10 are in a critical condition.

The outrage is attributed to the jealousy of a rival of one of the bridegrooms. Both of the bridal couples recovered.

THE IRISH QUESTION.

DUBLIN CASTLE PERTURBED.

ULSTER MAY BE EXCLUDED.

LONDON, Nov. 8.

It is stated that the business men's meeting at Belfast has seriously disconcerted the Dublin Castle authorities, and that the Government is beginning to realise the seriousness of the situation.

The "Spectator" states that conversations which are proceeding between the Prime Minister and Mr. Bonar Law relate to the exclusion of Ulster from the Home Rule scheme, with the sole view of avoiding civil war.

Col. Hickman, M.P. (Unionist), states that he has been mainly instrumental in sending agents throughout England and Scotland, where 8000 men have been enlisted in the cause of Ulster. If Home Rule is forced upon the country without an election, he declares that he will pay his own expenses, and go to help Ulster.

ANTI-HOME RULE VICTORY.

The Reading by-election, in respect of which Home Rule was the main issue, has been won by the Unionist candidate. The voting was as follows:—

Capt. LESLIE WILSON (Unionist) 5144
G. P. GOOCH (Liberal) 4013
J. BUTLER (Socialist) 1063

THE MILITANTS.

MR. LLOYD GEORGE TALKS STRAIGHT.

CRIMINAL TACTICS CONDEMNED

LONDON, Nov. 8.

Mr. Lloyd George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, replying to a deputation of women suffragists, said his views on the question had not changed, but the feeling against woman's suffrage had grown inside and outside Parliament owing to the criminal tactics of militants, and as long as those tactics continued women would never get the vote.

Continuing, Mr. Lloyd George said that, supposing half the Cabinet resigned, every great question for which the Liberals had been working all their lives would be wrecked. The outrages perpetrated by the militants had alienated more women than men. Two-thirds of the Liberals favoured giving women the vote; but did any one imagine it was possible to convert a cherished leader by throwing pepper in his eyes?

Mr. Lloyd George added that he would vote for the bill in all its stages, and if unable to get a larger bill would vote for a smaller.

BRITISH TRADE.

A REACTION PREDICTED.

LONDON, Nov. 8.

The returns of the Board of Trade for the month of October show that imports increased by £710,382, exports decreased by £1,711,283, and re-exports decreased by £488,580, compared with the corresponding month last year.

The "Financial Times" says that the returns confirm the belief that reactionary movement has begun, and that there is likely to be a very material reduction in industrial activity in the coming year.

STRIKES AT MUSIC HALLS.

ORCHESTRAS GET HIGHER PAY.

ARTISTS HOOTED.

LONDON, Nov. 8.

The orchestras in four London music halls downed instruments to enforce their demands for higher remuneration. In three instances increased pay was obtained.

The demand of the orchestra at the Surrey Varieties was refused, whereupon the audience hooted the artists, and the next performance had to be countermanded.

AIRMAN'S DECEPTION.

M. GUILLAUX SUSPENDED.

PARIS, Nov. 8.

The Aeronautical Sporting Commission has suspended M. Guillaux for a decade for utilising a similarity of names in two localities—Brokel and Brakel—thereby claiming an extra 50 miles of flight in the Pommery Cup competition.

WESTERN AUSTRALIAN LOAN.

LONDON, Nov. 7.

Underwriting is proceeding in connection with the Western Australian loan of £1,000,000, bearing interest at 4 per cent., and which is being issued at 97.

The final instalment will be due on January 1, when six months' dividend becomes payable.

The loan is repayable in 1942-62.

The "Financial News" says that the issue suggests that the congestion in the underwriting market has been relieved by the respite of the last few weeks.

The "Financial Times" writes that jobbers will welcome the issue, as existing 4 per cents are in short supply.

LAWN TENNIS.

COVERED COURTS CHAMPIONSHIP.

WON BY WILDING.

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 9.

In the final of the covered courts championship A. F. Wilding beat M. Germot, of France, 5-7, 6-2, 6-3, 6-1.

LONDON, Nov. 7.

Scores at the close of to-night's session in the match between Reece and Gray were:—Reece, 8522; Gray, 6271.

Grey made a brilliant hazard break of 314, 166, and 104. Out of the latter 99 were off the red.

Reece's best break was 289.

LONDON, Nov. 9.

When play ceased on Saturday night the scores were:—Reece, 9283; Gray, 8289.

Gray made breaks of 820, of which 305 were off the red ball, and 816, which included 297 off the red.

Gray scored 2018 against his opponent's 761.

The starting price of China Cock was 20 to 1 against.

MEXICAN CRISIS.

U.S. BATTLESHIP ARRIVES.

WAR FEVER RUNS HIGH.

VERA CRUZ, Nov. 8.

There is much war fever here since the U.S. battleship Rhode Island anchored inside the harbour, commanding the fortress of San Juan.

The newspapers recall General Huerta's pronouncement that the presence of American warships in Mexican waters would be regarded as evidence of hostile intent.

General Carranza, the rebel leader, is gaining much headway in Northern Mexico. He is appealing to Washington to recognise him instead of General Huerta. So far his appeals have been ignored, but the State Department has requested full particulars of the strength of his followers and the growth of the revolutionary movement.

MEXICO DETERMINED TO FIGHT.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 8.

The British Minister has conferred with the American Ambassador (Mr. Lind) regarding the situation.

Neither is likely to agree as to what is the best course.

It is understood that considerable British capital has been secured to enable General Huerta to carry on the government for some time.

Rumour is persistent here that General Huerta is fully prepared to go the length of war with the United States, rather than submit to American dictation. Some circles rather welcome the idea of war as tending to make the Mexicans unite against the foreign invader.

REBEL DETACHMENT ANNIHILATED.

ELPASO, TEXAS, Nov. 8.

Official Federal messages state that the Federals trapped 1200 rebels, and practically annihilated them, few escaping.

The rebels were hurrying to Chihuahua to aid the general assaulting that town.

HUERTA MENACED.

ATTACKED IN THE STREET.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 7.

While President Huerta was driving through the streets to-day a man, who has not been identified, seized the carriage horses and flourished an automatic revolver.

The animals became frightened, reared, and struck the man, stunning him. He was immediately arrested, and taken to the hospital in a dying state.

GENERAL FELIX DIAZ.

HAVANA, Nov. 7.

General Felix Diaz, who was stabbed by an assailant yesterday, is progressing as well as can be expected.

SOCIAL PROBLEMS.

SCANDALOUS HOUSING CONDITIONS.

MINISTER PROMISES REFORMS.

LONDON, Nov. 9.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer (Mr. Lloyd George), in a speech at Middlesborough, dealt with the subject of urban districts.

He dwelt upon the scandalous overcrowding of workmen's dwellings, and said that he intended to give the municipalities power to acquire land easily at fair prices, without robbing the landlords or the taxpayers. He proposed to relieve the municipalities of certain public services, including education, of which the Government would carry a larger share of the burden.

The Chancellor also dealt with the evils of the leasehold system, and said that he would make a complete national survey of the whole housing problem.

DENVER STRIKE.

HOSTILITIES RENEWED.

RIOTS AND BLOODSHED.

DENVER (Colorado), Nov. 8.

The strike war has been resumed.

Fights, assaults, and dynamiting continue. Five non-unionists have been killed. Four railway bridges have been burnt.

The strikers forcibly deported a number of State guards after attempts had been made to suppress the riots.

PILGRIM FATHERS.

AMERICAN PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

LONDON, Nov. 7.

The Pilgrim Fathers were entertained at a banquet in the Savoy Hotel by Mr. James Bryce, ex-British Ambassador to the United States.

Mr. W. H. Page, American Ambassador to Great Britain, read a message from President Wilson, stating that few men had done more than Mr. Bryce to strengthen the ties of friendship and brotherhood, which united Great Britain and the United States, thus setting a high example to the world.

Mr. Bryce said he believed the Panama question would be solved satisfactorily because of Dr. Wilson's high rectitude and elevated sense of honour.

SIX DAYS' BICYCLE RACE.

BOSTON, Nov. 7.

Hehir has retired from the six-days' bicycle race. Grenda was forced to reteam, thus losing a lap. With Carman he spurted, and recovered the lost distance, but Fogler and Root, forcing the pace, went ahead, and are leading the competitors.

Up till 10 p.m. on Friday 1043 miles had been covered.

BOSTON, Nov. 8.

Joseph Fogler and Iver Lawson (Americans) won the race, covering 1940 miles. M'Namara (Australia), with Eddie Root (Boston), finished second. Percy Lawrence and Jake Magin (Americans), were third.

The winner led by one mile, and made a spurt towards the close.

ELDON LAW SCHOLARSHIP.

LONDON, Nov. 9.

Mr. C. K. Allen, of Sydney, has been awarded the Eldon Law Scholarship at Oxford.

Mr. Allen was educated at Newington College. He is a son of the Rev. W. Allen, of Greenwich. He had a very successful career, both at Newington and the Sydney University. A great many prizes and scholarships came to him, and he took a brilliant University degree. He won the travelling scholarship at the Sydney University, and on the strength of it went to study law at Oxford, where he took his degree with first-class honours. At present Mr. Allen is acting as private secretary to Professor Vinogradoff at Oxford.

FOOTBALL ABROAD.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.

Stanford University defeated the University of California at football by 13 points to 8. Hill, of Australia, refereed, at the request of both Universities, and his decisions were unquestioned.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 8.

The New Zealanders continue their victorious tour. They defeated the University of Southern California by 40 tries to nil. The game was one-sided throughout. The Californians were unable to make the slightest impression in trying to pierce the New Zealanders' defence. The conditions were good.

NEW HEBRIDES.

FRANCE AND BRITAIN TO CONFER.

ISLAND MAY BE CEDED.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

A conference on the present dual control of the New Hebrides will take place in six months' time between the British and French Governments, and the decision arrived at will be of great importance to Australia.

It has been stated on information received by the Victorian Presbyterian Foreign Mission that unless Australia takes decisive action in the meantime, the British Government may permit the French Government to assume absolute control.

It was announced yesterday that the Prime Minister (Mr. Cook) did not think that there was any ground for the rumour, but the Rev. F. H. L. Paton, secretary to the mission, when questioned, said that the sources of the information were absolutely reliable, and could not be lightly disregarded. In fact, at no time in the history of the islands had there been more reason for grave concern by Australia regarding their control. The French were making it a point of national honour that the islands should come under their protection, and the present amicable relations between the two Governments made those in England very reluctant to raise any points of dispute. Only by vigorous action on the part of the Commonwealth would they maintain a firm attitude in the matter.

In conclusion, Mr. Paton said that he was not at liberty to divulge the sources of the information, but of their accuracy and good faith he had no doubt.

BERRIGAN TRAGEDY.

MURDER CHARGE.

A BROTHER'S STATEMENT.

BERRIGAN, Saturday.

The inquest concerning the death of Mrs. Kate Fox, who was found at her residence three miles from Berrigan on Saturday last in an unconscious state in her bedroom, which was on fire, with burns all over her body and stabs and cuts about the head, arms, and face, and who died on Sunday morning, has been concluded. Frank Cowell, her brother, was present in court.

Senior-Sergeant Simpson said that he had visited the scene of the tragedy since the opening of the inquiry, and had found a wooden mallet, of which Cowell had said that he knew nothing; but after being cautioned, he made a statement to the police. He said that he went to the place about half-past 12. He saw a light in the house. After it was extinguished he waited for some time before going in. He had a bicycle lamp alight in his hand. He went to the bedroom and hit the woman while in bed. When she got out of bed he hit her again, and she fell down, knocking the lamp over. The girl, Hilda Cowell, came into the room at this time, and he hit her twice with a tomahawk. He saw a little child, Isabella Fox in the bed and also on the floor. Then Alexander Cowell came in. He hit him with an empty bottle, and fought with him through the passage to the back door, and then went back. He picked up the bicycle lamp and threw it on the floor and went away.

The Coroner returned a verdict of wilful murder against Cowell and committed him for trial at Darlinghurst, on Monday, November 24.

HIGH PRICES.

JUDGE'S REMARKABLE REMEDY

A HUGE WAR.

PERTH, Sunday.

In the Arbitration Court yesterday, after Millars Company, in the timber-workers' case, had cited figures showing that the company's earnings would not suffice to pay £129,000 additional, which the workers demanded, Mr. Justice Burnside gave his views on the cost of living and wage increases. He said that personally he would agree to a round robin from the workers, advocating that everyone should get £1 a day minimum. The upshot would be that the cost of everything would be increased correspondingly, and the problem would find its level in time. There was no reason why the minimum wage should not be the same in all occupations. The maximum wage was different. If wages were increased, the cost of commodities was bound to go up. A large proportion of the cost of production was simply wages. The problem was like a snowball running down hill, and the people had to pay for it in the end. The matter would go on until some world-wide arrangement fixing the rates and the requirements of everybody were specifically stated. A more determinating factor would be a hugh international war, which would demand all available cash. The public's stomach would have to be satisfied with food. That would result in the setting aside of awards and the reductions of existing rates down to a bare minimum.

MARCHING OUT.

TRAINEES LEAVE LIVERPOOL.

A SUCCESSFUL CAMP.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL REPORTER.)

The sixth infantry brigade completed its camp at Liverpool on Saturday after a week's hard and satisfactory work. The first detachment left shortly after 2, and the last during the evening, and, despite delays in the train service, due to various outside causes, the entraining was expeditiously carried out.

Colonel Holmes, V.D. D.S.O., who commands the brigade, expressed himself as completely satisfied with the camp. "No one has been idle, and there has not been one misdemeanour committed during the whole time," he said. "Everyone worked, even the men who had to fall out from the marches owing to sore feet, were employed, the sick men hearing lectures and other instruction in their duties. We have had pickets in Liverpool every night, but there has been no real need for them; the lads behaved splendidly."

This encampment has been by far the most completely organised of any of the infantry brigade, and the facilities provided could scarcely be improved upon. Complete camp telephone inter-communication was provided, and an efficient direct telephone and telegraph service was maintained between "Encampment" and Sydney and Melbourne. The greatest credit is due to the line staff of the G.P.O. for the promptness and efficiency of their work. Another feature that greatly aided the smooth running of the brigade was the issue of the printed syllabus and brigade standing orders to the various battalions and corps previous to the camp. The credit for these admirable arrangements is largely due to Colonel M'Glynn, the brigade major.

In reviewing the work done, it is impossible to specify in which direction the greatest improvements were shown. All the officers are unanimous in praise of their lads, and especially of the young non-coms, who have shown a wonderful grip of their responsibilities.

A return obtained from the Y.M.C.A. field service officers shows that no less than 2096 letters were written in the Y.M.C.A. tents, on their paper, and posted in their letter box, this number is equal to one letter from every man in camp, with 25 over. The tents were eagerly availed of by all the men, who were glad of a retreat where they could rest in the evening. A great deal of the success that has attended this venture is due to the able management of Mr. Armstrong, the officer in charge.

To sum up, the trainees of the brigade have abundantly fulfilled the good promises they made at the previous camp, and have done a great deal to establish the traditions that Australian citizen soldiers are keen, active, and in every way fit to be enlisted in the defence of the country.

MR. G. R. GEE.

SUPPOSED VICTIM OF AN ACCIDENT.

STRANGE DISAPPEARANCE.

The mystery attaching to the disappearance of Mr. George R. Gee, solicitor, has not yet been cleared up. As reported in Saturday's "Herald," he left his home at Marrickville on Thursday morning last, after apparently meeting with an accident that was not considered serious at the time.

A resident of many years' standing in the Marrickville district, Mr. Gee is very well known throughout that suburb, as well as in the city. He has been closely associated with the church life of the district, was a warden of St. Clement's Anglican Church, Marrickville, and is a member of the Anglican Synod. He is also a prominent member of the Western Suburbs Cricket Union. He is a brother of Mr. Dan Gee, a well-known first-grade cricketer attached to the Middle Harbour District Club.

Mr. Gee left his home in Enfield-street, Marrickville, at about 8.45 on Thursday morning last, which was his usual time to leave home to catch a regular train at Marrickville station for the city. That morning, however, there was some disorganisation of the railway service owing to an accident at Redfern, and the trains were running very irregularly. At a few minutes after 9 o'clock he returned to his home, but was seen only by his youngest child, a girl of 6 years of age. He told the little girl that his trousers were torn, and he was going to change them. He went to his own room, and was seen by his wife running, apparently for a tram. Knowing that he was later than usual she did not stop him, but entered his room, and was very much surprised to find that the trousers he had worn when he first left home that morning were badly torn both back and front, and also showed a number of cart-grease spots.

At about 10 o'clock that morning, Mr. Gee was sitting in a Marrickville tram when it reached the railway stopping-place. He was seen by a lady acquaintance of the family, who alighted from the tram at that place, and who says that he recognised her and lifted his hat. That is the last that has been seen of him since by anybody who knew him.

The disappearance is a complete mystery. The supposition is that he received a serious shock, which has either robbed him of his memory or unhinged his mind. His wife and four children are distracted at his disappearance.

The police are endeavouring to ascertain particulars of any accident that may have occurred near the Marrickville railway station or tramline at about 9 o'clock on Thursday morning last.

LABOUR SCHEMES.

TO CAPTURE SEATS.

HOW TO HANDLE VOTERS.

The Political Labour League has entered on a very vigorous campaign in regard to the State elections.

A circular has been sent to each branch secretary and many other Labour supporters, setting out a scheme for capturing members. Organising committees are to be formed at each place where a polling-booth is established.

"Such committee shall agree to collect for organising purposes the sum of 6d per head, with a minimum for each committee of, say, 10s per month," is the second clause. These funds are to be forwarded to the executive for organising the electorate subscribing.

An organiser is to be appointed for each electorate by the local electorate council, and he is to be paid from the funds collected as above mentioned. It is recommended that the selected candidate, where the sitting member is not a Labourite, shall, wherever possible, be the organiser.

The circular proceeds to point out that if the Labour party were to turn the tables at the next appeal to the electors, an effective scheme of organisation must be sedulously applied. No house, tent, or humpy must be missed. Young men and women nearing 21 must be noted. The opinion of every man and woman in the electorate ought to be definitely known, and should be put down in a purposely-prepared book.

"If an elector is clearly against us, don't waste a single moment more on him. If he is clearly for us, see (a) he is on the roll; (b) that he is kept there; (c) that he votes on the day of the election. If he is doubtful, find out why. Try him a hundred ways with a hundred arguments. If you can't manage him, mark his name down for the organiser to tackle. If he can't manage him, send to headquarters so that someone else may try. . . . Only by continuous and strenuous work can we hope to retrieve our position," concludes the paper.

MR. CHINN'S FEES.

A PROFITABLE INQUIRY.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

There has been no apparent hurry to bring the Chinn inquiry to a close. It has dragged on wearily since August. A fact which came to light on Saturday is, perhaps, the most interesting that has been adduced so far, that Mr. Henry Chinn is being paid for attendance at the inquiry.

Mr. Chinn is treated as a professional witness, and he is receiving an allowance which is stated to be between 30s and two guineas per day. The standing orders for select Senate committees provide that the payment for professional witnesses is to be "such amount as may be determined." Ordinary witnesses receive an allowance of 10s 6d per day for attending an inquiry of the kind.

The select committee of the Senate, which is inquiring into the circumstances attending the dismissal of Mr. Chinn, sat on Saturday.

William H. O'Brien, of the Auditor-General's Office, Victorian Railways Department, who had had considerable experience in Western Australia, was examined by Mr. Chinn. He said it was certainly not customary to call on the engineer of large works to perform accountancy work. It was not treating Mr. Chinn properly to have left him without a staff from April, 1912, till the end of the year.

The inquiry was adjourned till 11 o'clock on Monday morning, when the first witness will be, it is understood, Mr. King O'Malley, former Minister for Home Affairs.

THE NAVY.

NEGOTIATING FOR BRITISH OFFICER.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

After spending a week in Melbourne Rear Admiral Sir George Patey will leave for Sydney on Tuesday to rejoin the flagship Australia, which is about to engage with other ships of the fleet in battle practice at Spencer Gulf.

During the week-end Rear Admiral Patey and the Minister for Defence (Senator Millen) spent a great deal of time together discussing the future of the Naval Board and the training of the fleet.

Negotiations are at present proceeding with the British Admiralty with a view to securing the services of an experienced admiral to fill the position of first member of the Naval Board, from which Rear-Admiral Sir W. R. Creswell intends to retire at an early date.

SECOND BALLOT ACT.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Sunday.

The Government has introduced in the House of Representatives a bill repealing the second Ballot Act, but providing for no other method of election. The Opposition strongly opposed the proposal, and it is predicted that there will be a determined stonewall.

THE CAMPAIGN.

MR. WADE INDICTS THE CAUCUS.

NO LABOUR PLANK ENACTED

PARTY OF PROMISES.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL REPORTER.)

TEMORA, Sunday.

In the course of his address to a crowded meeting here on Saturday night, Mr. Wade stated that a wave of hysteria had not a little to do with the last election, and the cries of leg-irons and Peter Bowling were used as stepping-stones to power for the Labour party. There was also the cry of "Give us a show, and you will find that we won't do worse than the Liberals." The result was that the people had had three years of the Labour Ministry in power. They claimed to rule by a majority so strong that there was no need to appeal to the country for further approval from the electors, and under those conditions they must accept the responsibility if they had failed to fulfil the promises made at election time, and to realise the expectations formed of them on the strength of their promises made year after year. For something like 19 years the people had had evidence of the actual achievements of both parties. Everybody liked to have a party composed of a body of men who at all events commanded respect. Men might make mistakes and still command respect. The first question the people would ask was if the Ministry had not fulfilled its promises, and if they had not gone back on and destroyed their platform for the sake of votes. Their supporters would say fairly enough that people who had broken their pledges and violated their platform were untrue to the movement, and could not command their respect at the next polling day.

He would say without fear of contradiction that as the people analysed the work of the last three years they would find beyond doubt that the present Ministry had been a party of promises—profuse promises. A Ministry which lived on promises only, and not performances, must forfeit the confidence of the people at large when the time came for passing judgment on their conduct.

He would make this challenge: Let them bring forward the most ardent Labour supporter to tell the country what leading planks in their platform in the three years of promise and three years of opportunity they had placed on the Statute Book. He had always paused and waited for an answer to this question, but never yet had a reply been given him, for the best of all reasons, that no reply could be forthcoming.

Let them peruse their copies of the fighting platform of the Labour party. There were the abolition of the Legislative Council, establishment of State ironworks, regulation of the hours of labour, cessation of all borrowing except for reproductive works, etc. Not one of those matters, which were made leading features in their platform for years past, had been placed on the Statute Book; and not only was that so, but no real effort had been made to place them there. The people might fairly ask the question, "What had they been doing all this time, when Mr. Holman said he ruled by a majority of 10 or 12?"

A voice: "What are you going to do?"

Mr. Wade: "You know all right; turn them out. (Loud cheers.)

On the motion of Mr. J. E. James, seconded by Mr. John Watt, a vote of thanks was carried by acclamation.

MR. HOLMAN'S VOTE.

HOSTILE TO THE FARMERS.

MR. WADE QUOTES PREMIER'S RECORD

(FROM OUR SPECIAL REPORTER.)

TEMORA, Sunday.

Mr. Holman has frequently voted in Parliament in a manner hostile to the interests of the man on the land."

This statement was made to a crowded meeting at Temora on Saturday evening by Mr. Wade, who followed it up by quoting specific votes. During the last Parliament, he said, the Labour party had been tested on such questions as leasehold, the repeal of the Conversion Act, giving powers with regard to the rural workers, and the Arbitration Court, and so on. He had a record of Mr. Holman's, and every one of those votes was hostile to the man on the land. The first question was raised by a motion of censure early in the life of the new Parliament, when the Government was challenged on their refusing the settlers the right to acquire the freehold. On that issue Mr. Holman voted against the Liberals. Mr. Holman voted with his party to destroy the freehold on a motion condemning the Government for the attack in proposing to repeal the Conversion Act. Mr. Holman again voted in favour of its repeal on that far-famed motion which led to the resignations of Messrs. Dunn and Horne. When the Opposition challenged them again on the leasehold policy and stopping the resumption of private lands, Mr. Holman and party again voted to destroy the freehold and stop resumptions. It was moved in the Arbitration Bill that the rural workers should be excluded, because to include them would involve hardship on the men on the land, and Mr. Holman voted with his party to compel their inclusion. Later on, in the Crown Lands Bill, he (Mr. Wade) moved an amendment to give all men a right to convert those Labour leases to the freehold tenure. Mr. Holman again voted to deprive the settler of the right to convert. On the Income Tax Bill, a little time afterwards, there was an amendment to except from income tax all land liable to land tax. Mr. Holman voted to tax that land, not only with land tax, but with income tax as well, and, later on, in the Arbitration Bill once more, an amendment was moved to exclude from the bill all persons engaged in rural occupations. Mr. Holman voted to include them, the effect would be to force upon the farmers unreasonable terms through the medium of the wages board machinery.

There they had Mr. Holman's record, and that of his party as well. On about eight different occasions, when they were challenged, they voted in a way clearly hostile to the man on the land. How, therefore, could they expect to receive anything but hard terms if Labour was returned to power. Their whole policy spelt city interests to the disregard of those of the country. (Cheers.)

MR. M'GOWEN HITS OUT.

A QUOTATION FROM MR. LLOYD GEORGE.

Mr. J. S. T. M'Gowen, Minister for Labour and Industry, addressed a meeting at Bondi Junction on Saturday night in support of the candidature of Mr. J. Fingleton, the selected Labour candidate for Waverley. The ex-Premier devoted himself to a defence of the Government's financial administration. "When the Liberals say we have been extravagant," said Mr. M'Gowen, "ask them if they intend, when they get the power, to cut down our expenditure on education. Ask them if they will send the teachers back to their old starvation rates of pay and intolerable conditions. Ask them if they will put the hospital and asylum attendants back to the miserable minimum of £97 per year and 56 hours a week." In this way, the speaker claimed, the deficit of the Labour Government had been built up. "We have spent £1,100,000 more on education than did the Liberals. We have spent £300,000 more in the Chief Secretary's Department, which administers the hospitals and asylums, than the Liberals," declared Mr. M'Gowen, "and this represents more than our deficiency." The speaker also claimed that the Labour party, with the legislation it had been primarily responsible for when in Opposition, and with the measures it had put upon the Statute Book since rising to power, was entitled to the credit of the attention being paid to New South Wales's progress in social legislation throughout the world. "When I was in England," he said, "Mr. Lloyd George told me personally that the success of our advanced legislation had made it possible for him to fight the House of Lords, and secure the enactment of the present British Cabinet's democratic policy." Especially was New South Wales commended, he said, for having led the world with old-age pensions, invalid pensions, and miners' accident relief fund legislation. For no portion of this, he declared, was the Liberal party entitled to any credit. But for its name, the Liberal party was identical with the most crusted conservatism of the old world, and relied for its financial backing upon the greatest Tories in the country.

DAY WORK.

BALLOT TAKEN BY BAKERS.

STALE BREAD LIKELY.

The N.S.W. Operative Bakers' Association on Saturday counted the papers in the ballot taken all over the State regarding the making of bread in the daytime. The decision was in favour of day-baking by a very large majority. Over a thousand bakers voted, the totals being 972 in favour and 57 against.

Similar ballots are being taken in the other States, and it is expected that the results generally will be the same.

Voters were also asked whether, in event of the employers refusing to grant a conference with the Bakers' Federation, or such conference proving abortive, they were prepared to abide by the decision of the federation. The voting on this was practically the same, namely:—Yes, 967; no, 63; informal, 15.

The result of the ballot was made known at Saturday's meeting of the union, and was received with great enthusiasm. When the results of the voting in the other States are to hand the federation will go ahead, and endeavour to arrange a conference with the Master Bakers' Association. It is expected that the matter will be settled amicably.

Mr. W. H. Gartrell, ex-president of the Master Bakers' Association, says that this resolution, if carried into effect, will mean that the people of Sydney will have to put up with stale bread. The bread that is baked one day will be delivered on the next. It will also diminish the sale of bread, because people will bake scones rather than put up with this stale bread. It will demoralise the trade. It will mean ultimately that about one-third of the men will be out of work. If the smallgoods man is not allowed to do his baking at night—that is, the one who also bakes bread—he will have to cut out that part of his business. Bread and smallgoods cannot be baked at the same time.

CATHOLIC VOTE.

ACTION BY THE FEDERATION

EDUCATION SYSTEM.

The Catholic Federation of New South Wales, which at its foundation a few months ago was declared to be a non-political body, has issued the following questions to all candidates, except those described as International Socialists:—

1.—Are you in favour of allowing pupils from all primary schools to compete for all scholarships offered by the State, and of allowing winners to take them either to Public High Schools or to registered High Schools, as they may prefer?

2.—In rural districts children attending Public schools at a distance, are carried free on the railways, and where there is no railway, a van or steam launch is provided. In towns children attending Public High Schools are carried free on the railways. Are you in favour of extending this privilege to children attending any school?

3.—Provision is being made for the medical inspection of children in Public schools. Are you in favour in the interest of public health of giving this attention to all school-children?

4.—Besides the hospitals working under the Hospitals Act, there are a number of well-known hospitals, whose doors are open to the sick poor, without regard to creed or colour. Are you in favour of granting substantial State assistance, based on the number of free beds, to help these worthy institutions to extend their charitable works?

5.—Besides the orphanages established by the State, there are a number of institutions where orphaned and destitute children are maintained, educated, and taught some trade. As far as we can ascertain, New South Wales is the only State in the Commonwealth which does not supplement private charity by aiding these homes. Are you in favour of granting to these institutions Government assistance on the same lines as in the other States?

6.—The Public Instruction Department proposes to give school materials free to Public schoolchildren. Under the circumstances, are you in favour of giving them to all school-children, since all citizens are called upon to pay for them through the taxes?

7.—In view of the fact that only 74.8 per cent. of the school-children in New South Wales are being taught in Public schools, while in Canada the percentage is 99, and in Prussia where it is 96.8, there are only 287 private schools in 37,700; and, considering that one-fourth of the community cannot avail themselves of the New South Wales system, for conscientious reasons; and, seeing that many other leading citizens have expressed themselves as favouring the teaching of religion in education if it were practicable; and, furthermore, taking into account the effect of secular education on citizenship, and its influence on social and religious life, are you in favour of appointing a Royal Commission to hear evidence on the above and other points, with the view of ascertaining if it is not practicable to frame a system which will be accepted by all classes of citizens?

The answers to the above questions will be published and supplied to members of the Federation for their information and guidance, but no candidate will be endorsed by the Catholic Federation.

ON A REEF.

THE STEAMER MELBOURNE.

News has been now received from Manila to the effect that the cargo steamer Melbourne, which was reported some time back to have been wrecked while on a voyage from Newcastle (N.S.W.) to Cebu (Philippines), struck on a reef four miles north of Siargao Island on October 9.

Captain Harder, after a four days' trip in a small vessel, succeeded in reaching Surigao on October 13. He stated that the vessel's bows were out of the water, while there was a depth of 24ft at her stern. The engine-room and hold were flooded.

Siargao Island is in the Philippine group off the north point of Mindanao. Surigao, the town at which Captain Harder arrived, is the capital of the province of Surigao, in the north-east part of Mindanao, and is situated about 380 miles directly south-east of Manila.

GALES AT SEA.

ROUGH PASSAGES FROM THE EASTWARD.

Vessels arriving here on Saturday and yesterday from the eastward report meeting strong gales some distance to the eastward of Australia.

Although heavy seas and gales were met by the French gunboat Zelee, and the steamers Wonganella and St. Louis, none of the vessels sustained damage.

The Zelee, which came here from Noumea for repairs, was buffeted by south-west gales and heavy seas for the last four days of the run.

The steamer Wonganella arrived here from Ocean Island on Saturday, and came up the harbour yesterday morning. She left Ocean Island on October 29, and met strong westerly and south-westerly gales, which lasted until she arrived off Smoky Cape. She called here for bunkers, and has 5750 tons of phosphates for Melbourne.

The steamer St. Louis, which arrived here yesterday from Noumea, also met heavy south-west gales on the way across. She is in ballast, and is here for dry docking and repairs.

GENERAL STRIKE AT AUCKLAND.

TRADE PARALYSED.

HOTELS CLOSED.

UNION OFFICES RAIDED.

A STARTLING FIND.

AUCKLAND (N.Z.), Sunday.

The waterside workers' strike has now extended to the carpenters, bricklayers, painters, carters, enginedrivers, Harbour Board employees, coal miners, general labourers, cooks, and waiters.

Other unions are stated to have indicated to the strike committee that they are ready to join issue.

In other trades men are idle because of the shortage of coal.

Tramway men to the number of 800 are amongst those out of work. It is estimated that approximately 5000 men are out on strike. With the tramway men and employees in other trades there are nearly 6000 out of work.

The general strike was precipitated by the arrival on the water front at daylight yesterday of 800 special constables. The unions above enumerated had carried resolutions affirming the intention to strike the moment the constables arrived at the water front. Consequently when the men belonging to the various unions arrived at the places of occupation word was given to cease work. The men went out on the passive resistance principle, and proceeded stright to the Trades Hall. It is understood that the union leaders made a strong appeal to the men to avoid aggressive tactics and street disturbances.

The arrival of the special police was carried out in accordance with a very well-arranged plan of campaign. Three hundred spent the night at the drill hall, and at 5 o'clock started for Queen's Wharf. These men arrived simultaneously with a detachment of 500 specials from the mounted camp at the Domain, and took possession of the waterfront without hindrance. Formidable barricades were erected across the city end of the Queen's Wharf. Throughout the morning a strong detachment of mounted men allowed the crowd no nearer to the waterfront than the Central Post Office.

RESTAURANTS SHUT DOWN.

During the morning seven Northern Company boats berthed at the wharf. No free labour, in the unionist sense of the term, is being employed on the wharfs. The men working boats are members of the new union which was recently formed and registered under the Arbitration Act. It is understood that it is not proposed to use free labour at all. The work will be undertaken by unionists only. Adequate measures are being taken for the protection of the city by night and day. One thousand special constables are billeted in the drill hall and in a big shed on the Queen's Wharf, and at two other places in the heart of the city. Four hundred mounted men are within call of the waterfront day and night.

At the direction of the magistrates all hotels have been closed. The stopping of the tramcars has caused great inconvenience, but in spite of the fact that great crowds of strikers and onlookers paraded the streets yesterday and last night it was only occasionally that ugly incidents occurred. Trouble was averted by the tact of the police. The proceedings otherwise were most orderly.

The offices of the Watersiders' Union were searched by the police. The search resulted in the discovery of heavily-loaded batons, a mixture of cayenne pepper and sand, lumps of concrete, and other substances useful as missiles. Later another search was made, and it is stated that a bag was found containing a hundredweight of pepper, also iron piping cut into useful lengths, in a chimney in the room above the union office. The strike committee denies the slightest knowledge of the articles found.

The strikers assembled this afternoon, and marched in procession to the Domain, where a meeting was held.

As a result of the cooks and waiters being called out the majority of the restaurants are closed. Heavy meals prepared in view of the races were wasted, as the employees walked out. Many hotelkeepers are in difficulties, as there is nobody to wait upon the guests.

Numerous steamers are still anchored in the stream. It is proposed to deal with the coastal fleet first, and then the loading and unloading of the others will be commenced.

"ALL UNIONS OUT."

TELEGRAPH LINES CUT.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Sunday.

The federation secretary (Mr. Hickey) announced to-night that all unions in Wellington, Christchurch, and Dunedin will be called out to-morrow to join with Auckland in the general strike.

The telegraph lines from Wellington to Palmerston North were cut to-night.

A LABOUR CONGRESS.

SUPPORT FOR STRIKERS.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Sunday.

Representatives of the Wellington trades unions, at the instigation of the Federation of Labour, met in the Trades Hall to receive a statement from the executive of the federation. The following resolutions were declared carried:—

(1) "That this meeting of unionists thoroughly desire to assist the workers involved in the strike, and instruct the various members represented to down tools when they are expected to handle or use material handled by scab labour."

(2) "That this meeting of union representatives express confidence in the executive of the United Federation of Labour now conducting the strike, and therefore pledge ourselves to do all in our power to reinstate the men on the water front, and by so doing bring about industrial peace."

(3) "That this meeting protest against the registration of scab unions under the Arbitration Act, and feel it a slur on genuine unions to be associated with such."

NOT A LOCKOUT.

SIR J. MILLS'S STATEMENT.

Sir James Mills, managing director of the Union S.S. Company, who has been in Wellington in connection with the strike, when interviewed, said it was perhaps as well that he as representing the company should take some notice of the misleading statements which had been made by officials of the Federation of Labour. He referred particularly to the assertions that the present trouble was due to the waterside workers being locked out by the shipping companies, also that it was part of a carefully-laid scheme to crush trades-unionism. These statements had been clearly repudiated by the Citizens' Defence Committee; but it was as well he should reiterate the incidents out of which the strike originated. The facts were that a dispute arose between the Shipwrights' Union and the employers in connection with the demands for increased pay, etc.—a small matter, which should have been capable of adjustment after full discussion, and if necessary a reference to an independent authority to bring about equitable settlement. The shipwrights, however, merged their union into the Waterside Workers' Union. The latter body decided to take up the dispute, and arranged to hold a meeting to consider what course it should adopt. Instead of holding the meeting in their own time, the waterside workers elected to call a stopwork meeting after 3 o'clock in the morning. The union, notwithstanding that the employers protested that this would be a flagrant breach of the agreement, insisted, but intimated to the employers that the men would turn up between 7.45 a.m. and 8 a.m., so their names could be taken down for work immediately after the meeting was over. This promise they failed to make good. The men did not turn up, so that when they straggled back to work after the meeting it was a case of first come first served, and other members of the union were taken on to the various jobs, not outsiders, as stated. And as it happened, some of the men who had been at work the night before were not reinstated on the jobs they had left. The executive of the union demanded that all mn who had been at work the night before should be reinstated on the same jobs, and that the substitutes engaged should be dismissed. This the companies declined to do. The executive forthwith withdrew all labour from the ships in port. This applied not only to ships of the Union Company, but also to those of oversea companies. It is clear, therefore, that the trouble did not arise from a lockout, as the public was asked to believe, but from the deliberate withdrawal of labour by the union executive. This was clearly in defiance of clause 28 of the agreement, which provides in case of any dispute arising, work is not to be stopped, but the dispute shall be referred to a committee to be composed of three representatives of the union and three representatives of the employers for their decision, which is to be binding. If no decision be arrived at an independent person to be chosen. If his decision be not acceptable the matter to be referred for further negotiation to the Federation of Labour and employers concerned.

"THIS IS ABSURD."

"As regards statement," Sir James Mills went on, "that an attempt is being made to crush unionism, this is absurd. It is merely a revival of an old cry. As a matter of fact, all large employers recognise that their interests are best served by the workers being organised, so that the conditions of labour may be properly regulated, and that there may be some assurance that all employers will be placed on the same footing. By their precipitate action in extending the area of the strike the federation find themselves in the position that, instead of the dispute being merely with the shipping companies alone, they have created the dispute with employers and producers throughout the Dominion, and have raised such a storm of public opinion against themselves that the direction of all proceedings in connection with the trouble has passed out of the hands of the shipping companies, and producers have made the quarrel theirs, so that it is out of the power of the shipping companies to deal with the matter alone. I need hardly say that the dislocation of the company's services is a matter of great regret, and involves a serious loss both to the public and to the company, but it is a position which has been forced upon us. There is good hope that it may be possible to resume many of our services at a very early date, as there is reason to believe that a number of our seamen and firemen will abide by the agreement now current between the Seamen's Union and the shipping companies."

At a meeting of the Wellington Seamen's Union delegates were appointed to confer with representatives from Auckland and Dunedin with respect to the present position.

If no complications ensue, the Willochra will leave for Sydney on Tuesday. What course her firemen and seamen will take is not yet ascertainable. One factor that will doubtless influence them is that they have two months' pay due to them—in addition to being liable to a month's imprisonment—which they will forfeit if they come out on strike.

At a meeting of the Citizens' Defence Committee to-day an intimation was received from the Prime Minister with regard to the new suggestions made by the waterside workers for a further conference. The suggestions put forward to the Prime Minister as the basis of such conference were (1) that men be given the right to enter into an agreement with employers; (2) the said agreement to be enforceable under the Trades Union Act in the Magistrates' Court, the penalty, if any, to be at the discretion of the magistrate, as in the case of any civil action; (3) that the union be protected by an amendment to the Act to the effect that where the union is registered under the Trades Unions Act it shall not be permissible for a union in the same industry and in the same district or locality to be registered under the Act. The Citizens' Defence Committee having considered the proposals, adopted the following resolutions:—That the proposals submitted by the Prime Minister be not entertained, and that as a new union has now been formed which has been registered under the Arbitration Act no further negotiations can be entered upon with any other organisation. No policy declaration was made by the Citizens' Defence Committee with respect to the basis of settlement put forward by the representatives of the farmers on the one hand and the conciliation commissioner on the other. On the contrary, there is every reason for believing that the employers will not in their present temper depart one step from the position they have taken up, that any agreement they make must be with the workers registered under the Arbitration Act. It is possible that some system of industrial legislation will be devised with a view to effecting a settlement, but it is apparent that such legislation must be on the lines of giving absolute protection as regards insurance of work.

"ARBITRATION ACT OR NOTHING."

The workers' representatives have discussed the advisability of registering agreements under the Trades Unions Act, but it has been definitely stated, though not publicly, that the Employers' Federation will not consider the particular proposition. It is with them the Arbitration Act or nothing.

The conciliation commissioner (Mr. Hally) states that his proposal has been turned down by the employers on the ground that there is a union of workers comprising some 200 or 300 who are already working under the Arbitration Act. Under the circumstances the employers feel disposed to stand by these unionists.

Christchurch advices state that the strike committee asked Mr. Orchard, manager of the New Zealand cricket team for Australia, to make a statement regarding the report that he had asked members of his business staff to volunteer as labourers on the wharfs. Mr. Orchard refused to make a statement. The committee stated that word would be sent to Australia to boycott the matches.

It is uncertain when the Moana will sail for San Francisco, via Rarotonga. The Willochra, en route from San Francisco to Sydney, will in all probability be delayed at this port for some days. Her passengers booked through to Australia are proceeding by the Maunganui. The plimsoll mark of the Athenic was 6ft above water at midday on Saturday, when the shipping of cargo was continued by two gangs of the members of the new Labourers' Union. Another gang of men shipped the mails. The probability is that coaling operations will be commenced by the crew on Monday. It is doubtful whether the steamer will reach Home in time for Christmas, as was originally intended, unless she leaves within three or four days.

The suggestion that the vessel's cargo would not be handled by dockers in London is emphatically refuted aboard the vessel. It was stated that the dockers had not nearly recovered from the recent strike, which nearly starved them out, and had no wish at present to be drawn into another struggle.

There was considerable delay before the unloading of cargo on the Moana was resumed to-day. Firemen and seamen left the vessel on Friday night. It is understood that on Saturday morning the engineers refused to supply steam for working the winch, but were quite willing to keep the refrigerating machinery supplied. They considered that, in the terms of their New South Wales agreement, they were not called upon to keep the winch going. The difficulty was overcome through some of the arbitrationists getting up steam.

"THE STRIKE IS BEATEN."

Representatives from the New Zealand Farmers' Union and the National Dairy Association attended to-day's meeting of the citizens' defence committee as a deputation. After expressing appreciation of the work already accomplished by the committee, they gave an assurance that all the support necessary would be forthcoming from the country districts. The following resolution was carried unanimously:—"That this meeting desires to express its great admiration of the work at present being done by the mothers, wives, and families of the country representatives, who have in such a generous manner responded to the call for assistance."

In the Wellington Magistrates' Court several men were convicted of various offences. For calling out "scab" to mounted specials a man was fined £5 or 21 days' imprisonment. Another man, for threatening behaviour, was fined £5, with a month's imprisonment as an alternative. Two tramway employees, who were charged with interfering with mounted specials, were remanded on heavy bail. Last night a prominent member of the United Labour party said frankly that the strike was beaten. His intention was to warn labour that the continuation of the struggle would injure the cause of Labour. This candour was unpleasant to the revolutionary representatives, who were not willing to listen to the member's argument.

ATTEMPTED MURDER CHARGE.

Several further arrests have been made in connection with the riots. John Patrick Habsett is charged with attempting to murder Police Commissioner Cullen in Tory-street on Monday night.

LABOUR FEDERATION.

APPEAL TO THE COMMONWEALTH.

The executive committee of the Labour Federation of Australasia held a meeting at the Trades Hall on Saturday, and as a result of their deliberations issued a manifesto in regard to the strike. There was a full attendance of committeemen from various parts of the State and Victoria. The secretary (Mr. Rosser) was instructed to cable the federation's sympathy and wishes of success to the New Zealand Federation of Labour. Following was the manifesto:—

The Labour Federation of Australasia deeply regrets the unfortunate struggle now existing in New Zealand, and urges upon all unions the necessity of closer organisation, as set forth by this Federation of Labour, for the purposes of safeguarding the rights and privileges of the members of the various unions.

We deprecate the action of the New Zealand Government in unnecessarily resorting to acts of physical force, thereby inciting the anger and resentment of peaceful and law-abiding citizens, provocative of injury to the entire community.

In view of the far-reaching influences upon industrial centres throughout the Commonwealth in any upheaval that may take place in any one centre the necessity of a central controlling body is hereby exemplified.

As a federation of labour comprising large industrial interests, we commend the decision of the Wharf-labourers' Union in their refusal to handle "black" goods.

That the Federal Government be urged to take the necessary steps to prevent New Zealand ships coming to our shores which may involve the peaceful relations of the industrial affairs of the Commonwealth.

In the event of the continuance of the New Zealand struggle, we recommend to our various affiliated unions that financial support be afforded to the New Zealand Federation of Labour.

POSITION AT SYDNEY.

CARGO BOYCOTTED.

The wharf-labourers in Sydney are maintaining their embargo on all New Zealand cargo. The Warrimoo, of the Union Company's line, left Sydney on Saturday without any cargo in accordance with the company's intention.

The Maheno arrived from New Zealand on Saturday with the same cargo as she had on leaving Sydney. Of course, no attempt was made to unload it. Some quantities of fruit, being perishable, were landed by the sailors and taken charge of by the consignees, who arranged for the carting away.

NO CARGO HANDLED.

BRISBANE, Sunday.

The Brisbane Waterside Workers' Union has fallen into line with the decision of the Sydney Wharf Labourers' Union, and has decided not to handle cargo from New Zealand until the strike is settled.

FEDERAL FINANCE.

DECREASED REVENUE.

INCREASED EXPENDITURE.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

Details of the financial operations of the Commonwealth for the first quarter of the financial year were made available by the Treasurer (Sir John Forrest) on Saturday. The outstanding features are the decreased revenue and the increased expenditure. As compared with the same period of last year, the receipts from the Customs Department have fallen off by over £200,000, although the postal revenue shows a slight advance.

The expenditure has been increased by over £1,000,000, but £530,000 towards old-age and invalid pensions, and £182,075 for the maternity bonus (which did not come in to operation until October last year), have helped materially to swell the total, while the expense of the Postal Department has also increased considerably. The details of the quarter's operations (given in round numbers) are appended:—

B.M.A. ULTIMATUM.

ACTION BY ROYAL FORESTERS.

The B.M.A. ultimatum to the Friendly Societies was discussed at a special meeting of the Royal Foresters, at which the whole of the representatives and branch court officers were present.

The following resolution was unanimously carried, viz.:—"That the recommendation of the board of control be endorsed by this meeting—"that this society fall into line of action with the Friendly Societies Association's proposals in combating the B.M.A. ultimatum, and recommends to the whole of the branch courts of the order that such proposals should be supported.

ANOTHER STREET DELUGE.

A second bursting of the 30-inch water main in Parramatta-road, Camperdown, occurred at about 5 a.m. on Saturday. For a while a great stream of water spurted from a 4-inch fracture in the pipe, and the street resembled a swirling pond. The Water Board authorities were quickly informed, and the leak was temporarily stopped. By 2 p.m. the workmen had placed a new pipe in position.

AMERICAN POLITICS.

CANADIAN RECIPROCITY ENDANGERED.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.

There is much perturbation in Democratic circles over the discovery that the new tariff law is likely to repeal the Canadian reciprocity measure, as passed by Congress under ex-President Taft's aegis.

It is understood that the Democratic tariff law actually repeals many of the Canadian provisions which the Democrats fought hard to retain while their own measure was passing Congress this year.

ATLANTA (Georgia), Nov. 7.

Senator La Follette, commenting on the results of the recent elections, said he thought the Progressive Party was dead.

He declared that Mr. Roosevelt, the leader of the party, might as well stay in South America permanently, as his influence had completely gone.

SLINGSBY CASE.

MEDICAL ATTENDANT'S CONFESSION.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7.

Dr. Fraser, a witness in the Slingsby child substitution case, has confessed that he aided Mrs. Slingsby to substitute an adopted child for a stillborn baby.

A fortune of 1,000,000 dollars is thus likely to go to heirs in England, who are contending that Mrs. Slingsby procured false evidence as to the birth of her alleged child.

The Californian Grand Jury has been making an investigation with a view to deciding whether or not a charge of perjury shall be brought against certain witnesses involved in the Slingsby legitimacy case. Lieutenant S. H. Slingsby, of the British navy, and his American wife, are endeavouring to prove that the child, Charles Slingsby, aged three years, is their legitimate son; whereas other members of the Slingsby family, living in England, seek to show that the child was changed at birth, and that the parents were a Santa Rosa High School girl and a chauffeur. Large estates depend on the issue of the case.

INDIANS IN SOUTH AFRICA.

LONDON, Nov. 7.

The "Morning Post" says that South Africa's treatment of Indians closely resembles the treatment of Jews in Russia.

The paper suggests that the Indians should be transferred to the irrigation works in the Soudan within determined limits, for the purpose of developing East Central Africa.

CAPETOWN, Nov. 7.

Ghandi, upon whose advice the Indian miners objected to pay the poll tax and crossed the Natal frontier, has been arrested.

A further contingent of 200 Indians has crossed into the Transvaal unmolested.

The Linlithgow by-election resulted as follows:—Pratt (Liberal), 5615; Kidd (Unionist), 5094.

[This by-election was caused by the recent appointment of Mr. Alexander Ure, K.C., Advocate-General, as President of the Scottish Court of Session. The Liberal majority has been more than halved. In December, 1910, it was 1070; it is now 521. Mr. Kidd was the Unionist candidate at the last election. One interesting fact with regard to the figures is that, although the Liberal poll has decreased by only 220, the Unionist poll has increased by no fewer than 1329. Linlithgowshire has been represented by a Liberal since the redistribution of seats in 1885, with the exception of a short period from 1893 to 1895 Mr. Ure had been the member continuously since 1895.]

NEWCASTLE.

WORK AT THE PITS.

NEWCASTLE, Sunday.

Fifteen out of 41 collieries in the Newcastle and Maitland district worked the full time of 10 days during the past fortnight. Usually a fortnight consists of 11 working days, but during the past two weeks Eight-hour Day intervened as a public holiday, and consequently the mines were not working that day. Five collieries lost portion of a day, while eight lost one day each, four two days each, and six from two to four days each. Northern Extended only worked four days, and Rhondda two, while Stockton Borehole was idle. Strikes at Neath and South Greta collieries were responsible for miners losing a day's work; and, as no cranes were available for a steamer to load Lambton coal on Saturday, the Lambton, Lambton B, and Burwood pits were thrown idle.

OPERATIC SOCIETY.

The Newcastle Operatic Society successfully staged "Paul Jones" before a large audience at the Victoria Theatre on Saturday evening. It was the eighth production of the society, and the cast of characters was strengthened by the inclusion of Miss Mabel Batchelor in the leading part of "Paul Jones." She sang sweetly and effectively, and used her emotional powers to great advantage.

Robert Deering (66), a painter, who was admitted to the Newcastle Hospital on Thursday night suffering from heart trouble and the effects of being on Merewether beach for four days without food and water, died last night.

PROVINCIAL PRESS.

OBJECT TO SIGNED ARTICLES.

ADELAIDE, Sunday.

The Australasian Provincial Press Association opened its sixth annual conference on Friday in Adelaide. Mr. T. L. Mills, of New Zealand, president, delivered an inaugural address.

Mr. H. A. Luke (Vic.) moved, and Mr. J. Ryan (N.S.W.) seconded,—That, while approving of the proposed amendments in the Commonwealth Electoral Act now before the House of Representatives in respect to the signing of political articles, the Australasian Provincial Press Association urges that steps be taken to also repeal or amend Section 172B ("return by newspaper proprietors"), 180 ("publication of information likely to mislead"), and 181A ("heading to electoral advertisements"), which impose exorbitant penalties for trivial or vaguely-described breaches of the Act, as asked for by a recent deputation representing 700 newspapers of the Commonwealth."

Mr. Ryan described it as a gross piece of petty tyranny that a penalty of £500 was imposed for failure to send in returns. Enormous penalties were laid down for trivial offences. Provision for signing articles had cut down political news in the country newspapers by three-quarters. It was a measure of protection to those who held seats in Parliament. In no other part of the British Empire did such legislation affecting printers exist. In the past country newspapers had been very generous to the average politician. They had corrected his grammar, and made his illogical speeches into readable stuff, and yet he imposed coercive restrictions on the people who had helped him.

Mr. C. M. R. Dumas (S.A.) said the law was a disgrace to everyone connected with its passing.

Mr. R. H. Barnet (S.A.), president-elect, said the press had been hampered by the signing of articles.

It was decided to request the Prime Minister to receive a deputation next Thursday to ask for the elimination of the restrictions.

The following motions were carried:—"This conference is of opinion that the various State railways of Australia should grant the same facilities to pressmen for travelling over the railways as are conceded by the Railways Department of the Dominion of New Zealand"; "This conference endorses resolutions which have been carried from time to time by the Associated Chambers of Commerce, Imperial Press Conference, and other press conferences in the Dominions in regard to the establishment of a national cable across the Atlantic"; "That with regard to the improvement of facilities in the interchange of news among country newspapers, this conference is of opinion that the time has arrived when the proprietors of papers within the States of the Commonwealth should organise a system of interchanging news. Therefore, it be resolved that the incoming executive take into consideration the system in vogue in New Zealand by the United Press Association, with a view to commending it to the various State associations."

SMALLPOX.

ONLY ONE CASE.

Only one fresh case of smallpox was reported to the Board of Health for the week-end—Saturday and Sunday. This case was a patient in Sydney Hospital who was admitted suffering from another complaint, a few days ago, and the disease was discovered on Saturday. In connection with this case there were 11 contacts.

In Quarantine yesterday, there were 71 patients, 50 convalescents, and 34 contacts.

Nine persons were released yesterday.

On Saturday, there were 121 vaccinations at the Town Hall.

SCARLATINA.

DEATH ON STEAMER REMUERA.

TEMPERANCE SUNDAY.

A WORLD-WIDE MOVEMENT.

Yesterday was Temperance Sunday throughout the English-speaking world and in many parts of the Continent of Europe. It was provided for in the international Sunday school lessons, which were taught in almost every Sunday school. It was estimated that about a thousand temperance sermons were preached throughout New South Wales. Open-air meetings were held in many places in and around the city.

Rev. Canon ...tin, at St. Clement's, Marrickville, said it was of no use playing with the evil, and he urged his hearers to vote "No-license" on polling day.

Mr. James Marion, general secretary of the alliance, was in the pulpit at the Arncliffe Congregational Church, and said that the drink evil was horrible, because of its callous indifference to human suffering.

ZELEE IN PORT.

DAMAGED FRENCH WARSHIP.

The French gunboat Zelee, which was recently in trouble in Fiji, arrived here on Saturday, and proceeded up the harbour to Mort's Dock at 6.50 a.m. yesterday. It appears that a section of the shaft tunnel was fractured and one blade of the propeller lost while the vessel was on her way from Noumea to Tahiti. She put into Suva, where temporary repairs were effected. Further repairs were made at Noumea, and the Zelee left that port on November 1 for Sydney.

Three days after leaving Noumea the vessel met terrific south-west gales and heavy seas, which lasted until shortly before her arrival here. It is expected that the Zelee will remain in Sydney for a month.

DISORDERLY STUDENTS.

Several missing are still unaccounted for. Only 27 of the bodies recovered could be identified.

FREE BLOCKS.

NORTHERN TERRITORY LANDS.

NEW TIN FIELD.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

Applications closed last week with the External Affairs Department for the right to take up 34 mixed farming and grazing areas near Pine Creek, Northern Territory, six selections of the same kind near the Daly River, and six cultivation farms in the same district.

The 14 cultivation allotments attracted a good deal of attention, and all were applied for, but 14 of the grazing areas attracted no offers.

In all 90 prospective settlers sent in their names as being anxious to take up land in the Territory. The applications are to be forwarded to Darwin at the first opportunity, and the Land Board there will allot the holdings. Each block is to be rent free during the successful applicant's lifetime.

So favourably has the Minister (Mr. Glynn) been impressed with the prospects of the new tin field recently discovered at Maranboi, in the Northern Territory, that he has arranged for a Government battery to be erected in the vicinity. The battery will be worked by employees of the department. Miners will be charged as low a rate as possible for the treatment of their ore. Already 50 men are working on the new field, and others are on the way.

BURGLARY.

SAFE BLOWN OPEN.

ADELAIDE, Sunday.

The police have received information that the Morphettvale Post-office was entered on Saturday night by burglars. The safe was blown open and the office set on fire.

Telephonic and telegraphic communication was destroyed between Morphettvale and Reynella.

It is impossible to say how much was taken until further investigation is made.

SYDNEY WAREHOUSE ENTERED.

Between 5 and 10 o'clock yesterday morning the furniture warehouse of Harry P. Woolnough, of 59 Goulburn-street, city, was broken open and entered by thieves. They effected an entrance by breaking the padlock off the door. The brass around the keyhole of the safe was picked off by a chisel. A desk was broken open, and the place ransacked. The thieves got away with 3s worth of penny postage stamps, 12 foreign copper coins, and two Kruger half-sovereigns. Some cheques also are missing.

Thomas Gerald Forbes, a house agent, of Bridge-road, was charged with having failed to supply particulars of weekly rents for the quarter ended September 30. Defendant pleaded guilty. It was stated that the maximum penalty was £10. Forbes was fined £4 4s and costs.

NEARLY ASHORE.

NEWCASTLE, Sunday.

The steamer Queen Margaret, bound for Valparaiso with 8000 tons of coal, had a narrow escape from going ashore in the Newcastle Bight yesterday afternoon. She left the port at 5.30 a.m. to catch the high tide, and anchored in the bight waiting for the captain, who was in the city fixing up his papers. A strong southerly wind was blowing during the day, and it had the effect of causing the vessel to drag her anchors gradually during the hours she was anchored. Nothing was noticed till 3.15 p.m., when the man on the lookout at Signal Hill, observing that the vessel would very shortly be in shallow water fired the gun for the lifeboat to stand by. The pilot steamer Ajax went out and gave instructions for the Queen Margaret to be removed to a safer anchorage. That was done, and about an hour later the captain was aboard, and the vessel took her departure due east.

SHORT OF BUNKERS.

STEAMER TOWED INTO PORT.

NEWCASTLE, Sunday.

The steamer Strathesk, heavily laden with timber, was towed into port this morning, after having completely exhausted her supplies of bunker coal when off Port Stephens at 3 o'clock. She left Tacoma on October 7 last, and had fine weather till she reached the New South Wales coast, where she encountered a southerly gale, and later south-westerly winds with head seas. Four days ago the bunker coal was beginning to run out, and it was not likely to last her for the remainder of the voyage. The vessel h... a cargo of 3,500,000ft of Oregon timber for Port Pirie.

MILITARY STABLES.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

The Minister for Defence (Senator Millen) has decided not to commence the building of extensive stabling accommodation for the department at Moore Park, Sydney, owing to representations having been made by a large number of residents here, who are opposed to the scheme. They point out that the presence of stables would spoil the district considerably from a residential standpoint. Senator Millen is ascertaining whether a more suitable site can be found.

HOUSE BURNED DOWN.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

The country residence of Dr. J. Marmaduke Rose, at Mitcham, was, with its contents, destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. The building was only recently completed, and the place had just been furnished. The damage is estimated at £4000. The contents were not insured, and there was only a small policy on the building.

SIR JOHN FULLER.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

That the Governor of Victoria (Sir John Fuller) has applied for and obtained extension of leave from Mr. Harcourt (Secretary of State for the Colonies) is not interpreted by the Premier (Mr. Watt) as an intimation that his Excellency contemplates resigning. When he left Melbourne in August last the Governor announced that he would return on or about November 23. He is, in the opinion of the Premier, simply protracting his leave.

THE LATE R. H. DUCKER.

The late Rowland Hill Ducker, of Woollahra, who died on September 21 last, by his will appointed his daughter, Annie Lindsay Ducker, sole executrix and trustee of his will. In addition to leaving to her his household furniture and effects, motor-cars, etc., he bequeathed to her his villa at Arncliffe, his villa at James-street, Petersham, land known as "Hopeville," land known as "Claverley," and two houses at Shepherd-street, Darlington. He directed his executrix to set apart sufficient of his income for the payment of an annuity of £60 to his son, Theophilus John Ducker, and he left the residue of his real and personal estate to his daughter, Annie, absolutely. To the Australasian Methodist Foreign Missions he bequeathed £250, and a similar sum to the Methodist Church Sustentation and Home Mission Society. Testator also made provision for the maintenance of his two granddaughters.

FIRE AT KOGARAH.

Shortly before 7 o'clock yesterday morning a fire broke out in the residence of Mr. Charles Mason, of Rocky Point-road, Kogarah. The fire was caused through the explosion of a kerosene lamp. The Fire Brigade were called, and succeeded in extinguishing the flames, but not before considerable damage was done by fire and water to both the house and contents. The house, which was built of brick, contained seven rooms. Both the house and contents were insured.

SHIPPING.

AUSTRALIAN WEATHER.

THE "HERALD" MAP.

About 400 miles easting has been made by the high pressure which on Friday lay over all Eastern Australia, except the coastal districts. It now reaches a little to the east of the shore line.

This movement has caused its eastern isobars to infringe on the western ones of the low over the Tasman Sea, and thus cause the persistence of the squally southerlies on the seaboard of New South Wales.

The centre lies over Tasmania and the Straits, having gained somewhat in barometric value.

The disturbance over the Tasman Sea and New Zealand has lost still more in intensity, its isobars having further relaxed. It has, however, assumed some cyclonic character again, but its influence on Saturday morning appeared too far eastward to affect New South Wales.

A change has occurred in that portion of the Antarctic low pressure wave over the Bight and the country north therefrom. The northern portion has dissociated from the southern, and formed into a closed-curve depression, though as yet of only incipient character. Due to this cloudy to overcast conditions now prevail in South Australia, south from Alice Springs.

The southern part of Friday's disturbance over the Bight is just showing to the south of Fowler's Bay, over the Southern Ocean.

PARK RUFFIANS.

YOUNG MAN HURT.

Thomas Quinn, 26 years of age, reported to the police that, at 11 p.m. on Saturday, whilst in Victoria Park, near Cleveland-street, he was accosted by three men, one of whom asked him for a match, which he gave. He then walked away, and had got a few yards when he was struck by one of the men from behind. They then knocked him down, and brutally kicked him. He went to the Royal Prince Alfred Hospital, where he was admitted by Dr. Molesworth, suffering from a slight concussion and a fracture of the upper jaw.

CLERGYMAN INJURED.

THROWN FROM BUGGY.

WOLLONGONG, Sunday.

The Rev. W. Newmarch, rector of St. Michael's Church of England, Wollongong, met with a serious accident this afternoon through being thrown out of his buggy. It appears that the rev. gentleman was returning home about 5 o'clock this afternoon from holding service at one of the outside parishes, and when within a few yards of his residence the horse became fractious. Whilst trying to control the infuriated animal Mr. Newmarch was thrown out in front of the buggy, one of the wheels passing over his face. He received severe injuries to the head and face. He was removed to his home, and his condition to-night was serious.

FINANCIAL.

ANNUITIES.

"Anxious" writes:—

Sir,—In my youth in England I remember hearing my relatives speak of friends who had bought an annuity, on which they were living. Am 52, no one dependent on me, and expecting £1000 shortly, that could not be depended on to produce more than £45 if invested, quite useless to live on in this country. Can annuities be bought here? And how?

Yes; from any of the leading life assurance offices. £1000 would buy you an annuity of about £80 a year.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

"Judex" writes:—

Sir,—So much has been written lately in a disconnected and fragmentary manner about the stringency of the money market, dulness on 'Change, and general trade depression, that the present seems an opportune moment to endeavour to evolve a comprehensive explanation of the situation.

The original source of the trouble must undoubtedly be assigned to the succession of prosperous seasons enjoyed by the State, extending over several years past. The results of this continued prosperity were naturally first appreciated by the pastoral and agricultural community, who, gradually at first, and finally at head-long pace, indulged in an orgie of imported luxuries, plunged into real estate in Sydney, and laid the foundations for the many wild-cat and genuine company-promotion schemes with which the city was inundated.

All this soon created a trade boom; new and untried ventures sprang into existence, concerns which had quietly been plodding along blossomed into limited companies, often grossly over-capitalised; others without solid foundation were snapped up by eager investors without question; many companies catering for public amusement sprang up like mushrooms. In almost all cases the directorate of all these new concerns was entrusted to inexperienced and untrained people, who were simply shoved into position by the weight of their money, or were recognised "guinea pigs."

The general extravagance and want of judgment started by the country community infected the city. Land values and rents shot up to absurd figures; estates were subdivided almost every day of the week, and a general land boom set in.

A large influx of population partly filled the places of those who had become too well off to stoop to menial or domestic occupation, and at the same time afforded an air of reality to the boom. Farmers' daughters who previously had been glad to take situations as governesses or lady helps, rode about in motor cars.

Everything was borrow and boom; everybody was out to make a fortune, everybody and anybody could float a company, and talk in millions.

One of the first results of all this was an all-round rise in the price of commodities, followed naturally by a general rise in wages, and again by a further rise in prices, the vicious circle having continued to revolve, without much benefit to anybody, and to the serious detriment of a proportion of the population.

Into the middle of the boom stepped a Labour Government, pledged to wipe out the national habit of borrowing.

They gave the boom an impetus by breaking all records in the borrowing line, and scattering millions of sovereigns, principally amongst their supporters, not even taking the trouble to see that something tangible remained to represent the scattered gold.

The first jarring note was struck by the bankers, who, with the experience of 1893 behind them, became alarmed at the pace, and called a "mark time." Other considerations, viz., an excess of imports over exports, a decreasing gold output, etc., etc., no doubt also influenced their determination, for unfortunately, just about this time almost all the available capital in the State had been absorbed in real estate speculation, bogus, doubtful, or genuine company flotations, general business extension (whether justifiable or not), and in payment for importations.

A little later a financially drunken Government found it had no more money to squander, and no chance of getting any, and the sudden cessation of the circulation of, roughly, three millions of borrowed money per annum, punctured the boom bubble.

This is why money is scarce, why speculation and investment are dead, and trade depressed. It is like the awakening of a "dead drunk." There are many people who don't believe this, who talk about the resources of the State and the wonderful security it offers. Unfortunately, just at present resources and also security there are not much in demand, for it happens that, coincidently with the bursting of the local boom, the money markets of Europe, especially London, are suffering from the effects of stringency, the end of which is not yet in sight. There is no space here to show why this is so; it is sufficient to know that it is so, and, amongst other things, that underwriters in London have such a lot of undigested matter on hand that they won't look at anything fresh.

It does not look as if the Government had any chance of raising the wind abroad, and the party coming into office after the elections is likely to be faced with the alternative of hanging up all works, and reducing the Public Service pay-sheet by at least 50 per cent., or becoming hopelessly bankrupt.

After that the "boom" will doubtless be considered as dead as Julius Caesar's toenail.

Though we cannot subscribe to all our correspondent writes, there is quite an element of truth in what he says. We think the banks acted just in time to nip a dangerous "boom" in the bud.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The accounts of the Swan Brewery Co. for the half year ended September 30 (our Melbourne correspondent telegraphs) show a profit of £21,457, which, with the balance brought forward of £27,934, make a total of £49,341. Dividends of 6 per cent. on preference and 16 per cent. per annum on ordinary shares are declared. £2450 is transferred to the reserve fund and £1000 to the leasehold liability guarantee account, leaving a balance of £27,272 to carry forward.

INDUSTRIAL.

A NEW WATERPROOFING.

A cheaper and more plastic production than rubber for use as a water-repelling agent for application to fabrics is obtained by associating viscose with rubber. The idea forms the subject of a recent invention. The product (the "Textile Mercury" notes) is to be prepared by placing one part of cellulose in a solution of half part of caustic soda in six parts water and adding one-fifth part of carbon disulphide. The mixture is allowed to remain in a closed vessel at a temperature of 86 deg. Fahr. for two hours. Then there is added a solution of half part of rubber and one-twentieth part of flowers of sulphur in five parts of carbon disulphide, and the whole thoroughly admixed. The resulting product is then brought to the state of an emulsion by mixing with five times its quantity of a mixture of equal parts of water and benzine, afterwards adding 2 per cent. of zinc sulphate of aluminium sulphate. The liquor so obtained is ready for use. It is applied to fabrics and other materials by the customary methods, the subsequent application of heat and of pressure causing the formation of the coating of viscose and rubber. The pressure employed may reach 100 atmospheres, and the temperature 149 to 158 deg. Fahr.

COMMERCIAL.

DUTY ON POSTAL GOODS.

Captain J. C. Lloyd writes:—

Sir,—Early in the month of August I posted a letter to London, enclosing a cheque for 21/, and for which I was to receive a "toilet requisite," delivered post free at Carlingford. Last week I received a reply, stating the parcel was leaving by same post as letter, and would be delivered post free. This morning the mailman left a notice from the Carlingford postmaster, "Parcel for you at postoffice, 1/, 1d to pay." Upon receiving it I noticed a slip marked 13/10 to pay for duty. The parcel postage paid in London was 2/ in stamps. Can you inform me what the 6d per cent. duty is for. It was fortunate for me I did not order £5 worth, and be charged £3/9/2 duty.

Of course, articles received by post are just as much liable to duty as articles imported in the ordinary way through a merchant. Post free does not mean duty free. In England special Australian stamps may be purchased to cover the duty. Whether the correct duty has been paid it is impossible to say without knowing something of the nature of the articles. If the requisite contained spirit, for instance, the duty would be very heavy, quite up to the percentage stated by our correspondent.

SOUTH AFRICAN MAIZE.

NEWCASTLE, Sunday.

The maize crop in South Africa during the past season has apparently been a good one, and merchants there will, no doubt, look to this State to purchase some of the surplus. At Friday's meeting of the Chamber of Commerce a letter was received from a Government officer in Capetown, intimating that a parcel of the present season's standard maize samples was being sent for the use of the members of the chamber and others interested.

THE FALL IN RUBBER.

The price of plantation rubber is now 2/2⅜ per lb in London, against 12/ in 1910. Fine, hard Para is 3/2, as against 12/6 in 1910. During the height of boom in that year it was freely stated that payable results could be obtained on a 2/6 market. Hence, 2/2⅜ when costs have increased, as they have done, means a decided loss. It is no wonder that investors in rubber companies are becoming anxious as to the future. At least one company in New Guinea has taken decided action. It will gradually become a copra producing company, instead of a rubber-producer, and with that object in view it has planted its rubber acres with cocoanut trees. As the cocoanut trees grow up the rubber trees will be uprooted. Copra £26 per ton, or even £15 per ton, as it was some years ago, is a much better proposition than rubber at 2/2⅜ a pound. The present position of rubber is partly due to a "bear" movement, but the supply outrunning the demand for the moment is the greatest factor of all in the low prices. The United States, which consumes half of the rubber produced, had suffered a diminution of demand, not only because of depression caused by dear money following on the Balkan War, but also by a strike in the motor-factory centre of Akron. In 1912, out of a world's production of 100,000 tons, the United States used 51,000 tons. Details of the world's production over a series of years may be given thus:—

	Plantation. Tons.	Brazil. Tons.	Remainder. Tons.	Total. Tons.
1906	510	36,000	29,500	66,010
1907	1,000	38,000	30,000	69,000
1908	1,800	39,000	24,200	65,000
1909	3,600	42,000	23,400	69,000
1910	8,200	40,500	21,300	70,000
1911	14,500	38,000	22,500	75,000
1912	27,500	42,500	30,000	100,000
1913 (approx.)	45,000	40,000	30,000	115,000
1914 (est.)	65,000	35,000	15,000	115,000

Arguing from these figures the "Statist" takes a different view from many authorities. That review is full of hope.

THE PROSPECTS OF BETTER PRICES.

With the low prices, it is suggested that all wild rubber, except fine hard Para, will become unprofitable to collect. Already the Congo Company has ceased collecting. Thus 50,000 tons would be taken off the market, a condition of affairs which would make for higher prices. The increase of plantation rubber would not for sometime make up the deficiency; and, in the meantime, there would be an increasing demand. "The motor car industry," the "Statist" points out, "is still in its infancy, and with enormous growth that is bound to occur, the demand for rubber from this one industry alone will be on avery large scale indeed. But this is in only one direction. When other uses are considered, such as the requirements of the electrical industry, the chemical industry, and use of rubber for tiling and paving purposes, etc., while there is no doubt that the production will be very largely increased during the next three or four years, the demand is likely to grow even more rapidly, and, consequently, the price of rubber should remain steady. The position may, therefore, be summed up as follows:—At the present price the production of wild rubber does not pay, and, therefore, supplies will be materially curtailed. In fact, should the price be maintained for any length of time at its present figure, it is probable that the production of wild rubber would disappear entirely, and consequently plantation rubber will be left to provide the missing 50,000 tons, and, therefore, the price would rise until a point is reached at which it would again become remunerative to produce wild rubber. Moreover, as the present low price is largely due to sentiment and the presence of a "bear" element, when the public realises the true position, sentiment will probably change, and a "bullish" element predominate. Therefore, we are of opinion that the future outlook is for a higher level of price, and that without any artificial interference either by the formation of a central selling agency or other means."

At Darling Harbour yesterday 339 tons of wheat and 122 tons of flour were manifested to arrive.

The amount of wool manifested to arrive at Darling Harbour yesterday totalled 7172 bales.

LONDON MARKET CABLES.

RAW JUTE.

LONDON, Nov. 7, 9.5 p.m.

The market for raw jute is considerably easier, native first marks, November shipment, being quoted at Dundee at £32/10/ per ton, a fall of £1 since Tuesday.

Electrolytic copper, £75 per ton (5/ down).

The weakness in copper is attributed to heavy liquidation, to disappointing trade conditions on both side of the Atlantic, also to the Mexican trouble.

Tin, £182/5/ to £182/15/ per ton (2/6 down); at three months, £183/10/ to £184 per ton (unchanged).

COPRA.

The copra market is irregular. South Sea bags of October-November shipment are worth £30/5/ per ton.

DEFECTIVE RABBIT SHIPMENTS.

The market for rabbits is dull and without change.

The "Fish Trades Gazette" states that the damage noticed in recent shipments has often been of a nature not recoverable under policies of insurance, as the damage has not been caused by defect of steamers, but is suggestive either of great laxity or incompetence on the part of those grading or passing the rabbits.

HIDES IN THE STREETS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—It is not a fascinating topic to write about, but really it is about time that the monstrous system of trollying and lorrying hides through the principal streets and thoroughfares of Sydney came to a full stop.

Darling Harbour should be made the one and only depot for all produce of this description. For years the objectionable traffic has been going on without hindrance.

Mrs. Sydney Cloman, in her interesting letter on first glimpses of Sydney, which appeared in the "Herald" of the 15th inst, remarks: "One strange note I noticed—the big waggons loaded with hides for transport." Probably a hundred letters have been written on the subject, but nothing has been done. The traffic should be immediately stopped.

I am, etc., PETFORD ALLEN.

LONDON LACKING STRENGTH.

METAL VALUES EASIER.

AUSTRALIAN EXCHANGES QUIET.

The surroundings and experience of the Sydney Stock Exchange during the past week were exceedingly drab. The same was the case with the Exchanges of Adelaide and Melbourne. It could not be otherwise, and was not unexpected, first, because London showed no signs of returning buoyancy, and, second, because of the disturbing aspect of the Melbourne Cup carnival.

Again, no sooner has the Balkan disturbance simmered down, than its place has been taken by the chaos existing in the constitutional government of Mexico, thereby prolonging the restlessness of the London share and metal markets. At all events, the lack of buoyancy in London is attributed to the Mexican storm.

With London undoubtedly depressed in share and metal values, it is easy to understand that it was the cause of the slackness in the Australian Stock Exchanges. Though the price of metals still means good profits to the copper, silver-lead, zinc, and tin mines working on reasonably economic lines, nevertheless their position to-day is certainly not as good as it was 12 months ago, and is a little less promising than it was at the commencement of the month. For instance, since October 31 the spot price of copper has receded from £73 7s 6d to £70 2s 6d, whilst a year ago it was £76 15s. Electrolytic copper at £75 5s also shows a downward move.

Twelve months ago the spot price for lead stood at £18 5s 7½d, so that the £20 5s ruling to-day is very satisfactory, though a fraction easier than it was a month ago. Tin at £182 12s for spot does not contrast well with the £229 5s ruling 12 months ago, but tin producers have no cause to complain of the average value for the past month, seeing that it was about 34s 4d or £128 per ton of 75 per cent. oxide in Sydney, and something about the same at Singapore. Hence the producers of selected ore at Ardlethan or concentrates graded up to 62 or 65 per cent. ought to be able to "make a do" of it. Of course, everything depends on the quantity of the high grade ore that can be won.

There is no question as to the profitable nature of the bucket dredging operations of the Tongkah Harbour and Tongkah Compound Tin-dredging companies, notwithstanding the average value of the ground treated during the last weeks is not as good as the average for last year. This is largely counterbalanced by the greater efficiency in working the dredges.

The marked success attending the operations of those two Australian-owned propositions is certain to lead to this country becoming more deeply interested in the tin production of the East. The Malay Peninsula Syndicate, having secured tin concessions and options in the Malay Peninsula, has resolved to sell its rights to a company to be called the "Malaya Tin Corporation, Limited," which will have a capital of £42,000 in 8400 shares of £5 each—7000 being fully paid and 1400 contributing. The capital will enable the company to build a dredge of the most up-to-date character—profiting by the experience of the Tongkah Harbour and Tongkah Compound plants—and if the ground to be operated upon is as it is said to be (and it has been carefully sampled), a profitable future is ahead of the new company.

The Malaya Peninsula Syndicate is 250 shares of £10 each, and as the holder of a share will be entitled to £140 worth of £5 shares in the Malaya Tin Corporation, it can be easily understood why the £10 syndicate shares changed hands during the week at £105, £107, and £115.

A noticeable incident was the big drop, both in London and here, in the price of Mount Elliott shares. Rumours were current that it is due to the belief that the directors have "passed" the dividend of 10s per share expected in November. Furthermore, it is asserted that the lode developments of the last few months have not added to the value of the mine. In addition, it is said that advices from men working in it state that despite the efforts of the general manager to make it secure by filling in the worked-out portions of the lode, the latter "talks" in an ominous manner. It is impossible to say whether or not there is any truth in these statements, but the very fact of their being freely discussed has undoubtedly a great deal to do with the weakness of the shares.

On the other hand, the weakness in the shares of the Hampden and Cloncurry copper mine is not explained by any change for the worse in the prospects of its various properties; hence, it is assumed to be due solely to the general slackness of the London and Australian Stock Exchanges. The blast furnace of the Mammoth copper mine is apparently working satisfactorily, as the last run of 128 hours produced 24½ tons copper, containing 1173oz silver and 40oz gold. The last report to hand shows No. 1 winze is in 16 per cent. ore.

It is officially stated that the end has been reached of the protracted settlement of the transfer of the Mount Oxide mine from the Australian to the new English company, and it is understood that a general meeting of shareholders will be called at any early date to receive the directors' report, after which shareholders will exchange their present shares for scrip in the new company. In the meantime, Mr. W. H. Corbould, general manager of the Mount Elliott, has sent to the London directors, who retained him for the purpose, his report as to the prospects of the mine, the best method of its development, likewise the smelting practice that should be adopted. It is expected that his report will have an important bearing upon the future development of what is undoubtedly a valuable property.

It is known that Mr. Corbould is a strong advocate of the amalgamation of distinct groups of mines in Queensland's great copper belt, for the reason that not only would such "mergers" obviate the unnecessary and costly multiplication of smelting plants, but would permit of a judicious blending of ores, thereby securing good smelting mixtures and cheaper copper production. In these circumstances, it is just possible that Mr. Corbould, in his report to the London directors, may have touched upon this aspect of the problem before the Mount Oxide Copper Mine.

At the Amalgamated Hill End Mine, a distinctly new zone of country has been reached by the managing director, and the developments are of a very encouraging character. The rich vein is ranging from 5 to 50 ounces to the ton—struck in the lower tunnel, that has since reached the bottom of the once celebrated Star of Peace workings—proves conclusively that the limits of the gold zone were not reached when work ceased at the bottom of the Star of Peace shaft, at the time it was condemned as unsafe by the Mines Department nearly 40 years ago. It has been a long, weary, and costly struggle to reach the present position of affairs, and the shareholders, are, therefore, pleased at the managing director's statement in the last monthly report that:—"The outlook has never been so bright as it is to-day."

Equally encouraging is the accumulating evidence that when the old Brown's Creek gold mine, now the Golden Springs, near Blayney, ceased work some years ago, the ore body in sight at the 200ft level was a large one, and carried payable values, provided a proper system of treatment had been adopted. But when the mine was in the hands of a French company, it was in the pre-cyanide days. The mine is to be unwatered to the 300ft level, and thus enable the manager to start development work on a big lode, said to exist at the 250ft level, and a bulk sample of which gave 14dwts 4grs per ton.

In the case of lode tin-mining at Ardlethan, the developments at the Carpathia mine continue satisfactory, whilst the new development on the north-western portion of the lease, close to Dumbrell's block, held by the Ardlethan Options Company, is of an encouraging character. The position of the field as a profitable tin producer materially depends upon the success of the stamper work of the Great Southern Cross and Wild Cherry batteries.

The week finished up on Saturday with the market still listless and easing. This was most noticeable in the case of copper stocks, and to a lesser extent in Barriers and tin propositions. A further retrograde movement in the price of copper and lead did not tend to improve matters, whilst a rise of 5/ in spelter had no appreciable effect upon values.

MINING NOTES.

The last report to hand from the manager of the Black Range West gold mine states that the reef in the north drive at the 500ft level is 3ft wide, whilst in the lode is very mullocky.

The manager of the Mammoth Copper Mine, reporting for the week ended November 5, states:—"No. 2 south level driven 12ft total 392ft; lode 12in wide, assaying 6 per cent. copper. Shaft sunk 4ft, total 63ft below 160 level. No. 1 winze sunk 6ft, total 13ft, lode 56in, assaying 16 per cent. copper. Furnace in blast 128 hours, produced 24½ tons copper, 1173oz silver, and 40oz gold."

The manager of the Kyloe Copper Mine advises that for the last fortnight no development was done, the miners all being employed in breaking ore for shipment.

The plant of the Associated Gold Dredging Company, in a run of 121 hours last week, recovered 56oz.

The output of the Hercules gold and silver mine (Tas.), for the week ended October 31, was 950 tons of sulphide ore at Williamsford.

In the fortnight ended October 29 the Occidental gold mine raised 1322.4 tons of ore, of an average value of 18dwt 6gr per ton. The report also states:—"Stoping, 2 level (gossan south stope): Underhand stoping upon 7dwt oxidised ore. 4 level, No. 2 drive, south stope (Albert's): Ore broken all cleared out; mullocking; hope restart breaking ore during next fortnight; 494 tons pulled, average 8dwt 10gr. North-east, stope, 1 (Power): Breaking nice ore; pulled 229 tons, average 16dwt. North-east, stope 2 (Shaw): Broken ore nearly cleared out; pulled 229 tons, averaging 2oz 13dwt; stone from this stope been much above expectation; face assays been very variable, but ore pulled has been consistently of high value. 5 level, No. 1 south drive: A little ore is being broken from this face to make room for timbering and winze on south end of shoot. No. 1 south, drive, stope (Brooks): Pulled 45 tons, average 8dwt. No. 1 north drive, stope 1 (Piesley): Pulled 125 tons, average 7½dwt. Stope 2 (M'Culloch): Very fine stope, opening up well; 75 tons pulled, average 12dwt. North-east, stope 2 (Hogan): Breaking good ore in north end; very fair ore in south end; pulled 77 tons, average 22dwt. A fair tonnage of stone has not been available for pulling from the big stopes (M'Culloch's and Piesley's) as soon as anticipated, and output has been restricted in consequence. These stopes, however, should be bigger producers during coming fortnight."

MOLYBDENITE.

THE PAMBULA DEPOSIT.

VALUABLE ORE SHIPMENT.

CONCENTRATION BY OIL FLOTATION.

It is understood that within the next few weeks, the Sydney owners of the Whipstick bismuth and molybdenite mine, near Pambula, will decide on the class of concentration plant to be used in the treatment of the bismuth and molybdenite ores being won from the mine. For that purpose, the owners are at present inspecting the mine.

The latter was first worked for silver and gold, and then for many years for bismuth, and only during the last two years for molybdenite. During the last 12 months 200 tons of hand-dressed molybdenite ore have been sent to Germany, where it found a ready sale up to £200 per ton.

In order to determine the best method of securing the highest grade concentrate, experimental shipments of crude ore were sent to the mill at Wolfram Camp, Queensland, and also to the works of the Mineral Separation Company, Melbourne. The results proved conclusively that, owing to the extreme flakiness of the mineral in molybdenum sulphide ore (molybdenite does not carbonise or oxidise), water concentration was out of the question. The mineral is as flaky as mica (it looks like it), and, owing to its strong surface tension, floated away on the surface of the water. This disability with water was found to be an advantage when oil was used, the flaky particles floating readily to the surface, flowing freely into a collecting tank, and thereby securing a high-grade concentrate—up to and over 90 per cent.

This high-grade concentrate was also accompanied by a high-grade extraction—ranging from 86 to 90 per cent. of the contained molybdenite. There is no metallurgical problem involved in the matter. It is purely a mechanical one. It is simply a question of adopting the cheapest and quickest method of recovering the molybdenite from the crushed ore.

The market for molybdenite is based on a 90 per cent. concentrate, with a small premium for every unit above 90 per cent., and a heavy penalty for every penalty below 90 per cent. At the Whipstick mine, the rich molybdenum sulphide is found in pipes. Outside these pipes there is a large tonnage of low-grade ore, whilst on the surface is a big dump of ore accumulated during the year, the mine was worked for bismuth alone.

Molybdenite is used in the manufacture of armour plating, and for many years was the secret of Krupp's success in the production of high-resisting armour for battleships. Until the use of molybdenite for toughening armour was disclosed, Krupp's plates were used in English battleships. Since that time the use of the metal has expanded. It is now employed in the manufacture of high-grade tool steel, the mouths of cannons, and the points of bullets. In most cases it is used as an alloy of from 3 to 7 per cent.

The market price of molybdenite some years ago was under £100 per ton. For the last 12 months it has been £300, and to-day it is £310 per ton. The last shipment of 31 tons of ore from the Whipstick mine, hand-picked up 30 and to 31½ per cent., gave a gross value of early £3000. For the last 12 months considerably more than half the molybdenite ore of the world has come from Australia—mostly from Queensland. In Norway ½ per cent. molybdenum sulphide is being profitably worked, owing to the cheapness of water power.

The average of the ore sent to Germany from the Whipstick mine has been over 20 per cent., whilst the average from the rich pipe ore has been nearly 30 per cent. It is believed that outside this high-grade material, there will be no difficulty in keeping a concentrating plant at work on ore averaging from 4 to 5 per cent. molybdenite.

For years a prominent Sydney firm of manufacturing chemists worked the mine for bismuth. The last shipment of bismuth ore despatched by the present owners assayed 14 per cent. of bismuth, besides gold and silver, the value of the ore in the crude state being £65 per ton.

Molybdenite is only found as a sulphide of molybdenum, and before it can be used in the manufacture of steel, has to be treated electrically to get rid of the sulphur. This work is mostly done in Norway, where electrical energy is cheaply produced by its wonderful water resources. One of the most important deposits of molybdenum sulphide was worked at Kingsgate a few miles from Glen Innes. It is said that up to a few years ago molybdenum ore to the value of £50,000 was won at Kingsgate. If that production took place to-day, the value of the output would be double that figure.

MINERAL EXPORTS.

BROKEN HILL, Sunday.

The value of the mineral exports for October, £410,901, was ahead by £8000 of that for September, and £32,000 ahead of August. The value of lead concentrates was higher for October than September, and both value and tonnage of zinc concentrates were greater. Silver-lead concentrates compare:—October, £309,200; September, £304,527; August, £295,684. Zinc concentrates, October £97,093, September £90,498, August £77,226.

ON THE MARKET.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I am sorry that Mr. Pryce thinks me "quite unnecessarily offensive." The good or bad taste" of my last letter he leaves to your readers, though his own verdict is hardly in doubt. Before, however, your readers pronounce, I should like them to read the letters in which Anglicans, High, Low, and Broad, are just now pitching into each other. By comparison I claim to be mild.

I have no wish by my "violent and truculent attitude"—this is the gentle Anglican style—to "force the consent of the electors of New South Wales." I would convince them by means of reasons. That was why I contributed my constructional effort, and pointed out that Protestant England, Protestant Germany, Protestant Holland, and Protestant Canada have all given us that for which we are now asking here. Mr. Pryce says not a word about Germany, Holland, or Canada, and dismisses the case of England with the remark that "the position there is quite different from the position here." Of course. But the difference is all in my favour. For England does us that justice, though we are not much more than 5 per cent. of her population; New South Wales refuses it, though we are almost one-fourth of the State.

I am accused of "destroying the honourable peace and tolerance now obtaining." There is no peace, there can be none, while we suffer an injustice for which, according to Sir Henry Parkes, "there would be no excuse or justification, and which they could not defend before the public and the world." And it was the Anglican Bishop Moorehouse who declared:—"The Roman Catholics are asking from us nothing more than what the freest Government in the world would have granted them." He was a prophet, too, though he knew it not. "The concession of such (separate) schools is inevitable. If not granted by our sense of justice, it will, sooner or later, be wrung from our political necessities."

Why will not Mr. Pryce stand up to the charge that the ministers have betrayed their trust, and have signally failed to visit the schools. So that, at the last Sydney Anglican Synod, Canon Goddard said that, "if the people of New South Wales had known that it was only possible for ministers to visit the schools once a week, and if they had known how inefficiently the work would be done, the passage of the bill would have been seriously imperilled." Hence the anaemic character of Protestantism amongst us, hence the paucity of vocations to the ministry. And it explains how Mr. Biggs was able to tell the Anglican Congress at Brisbane that only 5 per cent. of the Anglicans of Australia ever went to church. Is it not true that the Anglican fox wants us to forgo the luxury of a tail?

If my attitude is "violent and truculent," what does Mr. Pryce think of the Protestants of Ulster, and their methods of settling their grievances? They are going to take the field against the army of the King. And yet the Sydney Anglican Synod patted them on the back and wished them luck. Which is my reason for saying that we are pariahs, that we are not judged by the same standards as other men, that we are expected to lick the hand that smites us, and to go to bed at night after having humbly given thanks that we are allowed to live in Australia at all. Quoth the raven—"Nevermore!"

I am, etc.,

M. J. O'REILLY, C.M.

St. Stanislaus College, Bathurst, Nov. 8.

The new facade of Serjeants' Inn, rebuilt in the widening of Fleet-street, is now finished, but no longer displays the coat of arms of Chaucer's "Serjeants-at-Law wary and wise," which formerly stood over the gateway. It was a dove perched upon a serpent, the latter being twisted into a kind of true-lover's knot. This emblem was supposed to indicate to "all and singular" that the former legal denizens of the inn combined the wisdom of the serpent with the innocence of the dove.

COUNTRY NEWS.

SOUTH COAST.

WOLLONGONG, Sunday.

On Friday night, whilst Mr. Thomas McCann and his family were absent from their home at Fernhill, the house caught fire, and was, together with the contents, demolished. The house was only partly covered by insurance. The furniture and contents were uninsured.

The Illawarra coke-workers' annual sports took place yesterday on Bode's grounds, and passed off successfully.

LOCKHART WATER SUPPLY.

LOCKHART, Saturday.

Relative to the proposed water supply channel from the Murrumbidgee River to this part of the Riverina, Mr. Bailey, of the Public Works Department, has made a preliminary survey, and has been taken over the most difficult part of the route by the shire president (Cr. W. Day), Cr. Clapperton, and Mr. A. W. Aston. Mr. R. Ball, M.L.A., has approached the department, and it is likely that a complete survey will be made. It has been known for many years that the Murrumbidgee waters come up as far as Jackson's waterholes. With a short cutting at Geppert's holding, it is now certain that the water could be brought in to the Boree Creek, and would run along this creek and fill Lake Cullioll, and subsequently Lake Urana. The immense benefit which such a scheme would be to Lockhart, Boree Creek, Urana, and the surrounding districts, cannot be easily estimated.

NIMITYBELLE-BOMBALA RAILWAY.

NIMITYBELLE, Saturday.

The extension of the railway to Bombala was begun on Friday under day labour. It is expected that a lot of men will be put on next week.

FIRE AT GLOUCESTER.

GLOUCESTER, Saturday.

Two wooden shops and dwellings were destroyed by fire on Friday night. The shops were occupied by the owner, Mr. Thos. Riddell, and Mr. Leo. Kelly, a dentist. The fire started in the dentist's surgery. The adjoining house, owned by Mr. C. Blanch, then caught. The insurances were dentist's stock, £160 in the Mercantile Mutual; the shops £300, in the South British; and the house in the London and Lancashire, for £75. The dentist estimates his loss at £150 over the insurance. Mr. Riddell saved only his books.

TROUT SEASON.

NIMITYBELLE, Saturday.

Trout are biting well. Some large catches have been made.

MUDGEE-WELLINGTON MAILS.

MUDGEE, Saturday.

The Deputy Postmaster-General has informed Mr. W. M. Fleming, M.P., that the proposed Mudgee-Wellington mail service will travel along the road from Wellington to Gulgong, passing Lincoln Spicer's Creek, Goolma, Yamble, Two-mile Flat, and Guntawang. Residents between Mudgee and Junction Hotel, Cullenbone, will be provided for by a special mail.

THE CHURCHES.

QUEANBEYAN, Saturday.

The sixteenth annual Methodist Flower Show opened by the Mayor (Alderman Richard Stone), was a record success. The flowers, vegetables, cookery, and fancy needlework were exceptionally fine.

THE HOSPITALS.

NIMITYBELLE, Saturday.

At an egg day, organised by the local Public school, a large number of eggs was received and forwarded to the Cooma Hospital.

MUDGEE, Saturday.

Mr. W. F. Dunn, M.L.A., has been informed that, owing to the isolation of the town of Hill End, it has been decided by the Chief Secretary to re-open Hill End and Tambaroora District Hospital as requested.

GOULBURN, Sunday.

The Women's Liberal League held a social last night, when Mrs. Bogue Luffman gave an address.

PENRITH, Sunday.

The Rev. Thomas Davies, a vice-president of the New South Wales Alliance, and connected with South Sydney Methodist Mission, spoke in Penrith last night on the no-license question. He said the people had a right to prohibit the traffic if they desired; the same power that gave the license could also withdraw it. It was a people's question, and must be settled by the people. The true object of legislation was the greatest good for the greatest number. It was not right or politic for the State to give legal sanction to any trade or calling.

WEST MAITLAND, Sunday.

Mr. W. H. Mackay, president of the Hunter River Agricultural Association, with Mrs. Mackay and family, who have just returned from a six months' trip to England and the Continent, were accorded a hearty welcome home by the committee and officers of the association, who entertained them at a social and musical evening in the Agricultural Hall on Friday night.

SOUTH COAST MINES.

THE NEW AWARD.

ELECTION OF OFFICE-BEARERS.

The South Coast Mining Group Wages Board will sit at Wollongong on Tuesday next to consider the claims and counter-claims of the respective parties, with a view to drawing up a fresh agreement. Mr. Hibble has been appointed chairman, while Messrs. A. E. O. Sellars and T. R. Morgan will represent the owners; and Messrs. A. C. Willis and J. Russell the Illawarra Colliery Employees' Association.

The old agreement expired on August 10, and an interim agreement was then arrived at for a period of three months. A good deal of delay has been occasioned by the resignation of Mr. Elliott, chairman of the board, and some difficulty was experienced in fixing upon a suitable successor. Mr. Hibble, the new chairman, has had considerable experience in mining matters, and should prove satisfactory to both sides.

The list of claims by the miners is a lengthy one, no fewer than 59 clauses being contained in their schedule. One of the most important concessions asked for is payment for small coal at the rate of 1s 6d per ton. The question of small coal has long been a vexed one on the coast, the miners contending that the South Coast coal is of a much more dusty nature than that found in the Newcastle district, where they have recently been awarded a rate of 4 1-8d per ton.

The men are also asking for eight hours, bank to bank all round. In view of the strong feeling on this question, it is understood that it will take precedence of other matters, and an interim award issued. At the present time the only men who work more than eight hours a day are the wheelers and shiftmen.

Weekly payment of wages is claimed, and an effort is to be made to secure provision of facilities for bathing and changing at the collieries. An important clause in the claims of the union, arising out of the recent Russell case, is to the effect that any employee dismissed or suspended from any colliery shall receive within 24 hours of his dismissal or suspension a written statement from the management setting forth the reasons therefor. Should the employee consider himself unjustly treated, it is suggested that he may appeal either to the conciliation committee or to the wages board, and should his appeal be sustained the board may order his reinstatement, and may also award reasonable compensation for any loss suffered.

A minimum wage of 12s 6d is being asked for. The present award rate is 11s per day, and the owners are applying to have this minimum reduced to 9s per day.

The members of the board have agreed to sit at least three days per week, and it is likely that it will be several weeks before the new award is issued.

Although the question of eight hours a day all round is one that will be decided by the wages board, the South Bulli Lodge passed a resolution last week requesting the district officers to call the delegate board together forthwith for the purpose of giving the employers one month's notice of their intention to insist on a general eight-hour day, as from January 1 next, 1914.

The annual election of office-bearers for the South Coast Miners' Union takes place on December 14. Three nominations have been received for the position of general secretary, as follows:—E. Delacca, South Clifton; J. T. Sweeney, South Bulli; and A. C. Willis, the present holder of the position. Nine of the lodges in the district nominated Mr. Willis.

For the presidency, Messrs. McGuire (present holder), Cairns, Jackson, and Peter Bowling have been nominated. Other names submitted are:—Treasurer, Messrs. White, Scarlett, Muir, Pickup, and Bowater; check inspector, Messrs. Davies, Mourant, Sharples, Emery, and Graham; auditors, Messrs. Russell, Oughten, Lees, Bristol, and Duncan. An alteration in the rules of the association provides that should a candidate fail to secure an absolute majority of votes over the other candidates, a second ballot shall be taken within 14 days, the two candidates receiving the highest number of votes only going to the ballot.

SPORTING.

THE TURF.

The Spring Meeting of the Williamstown Racing Club will be continued in Melbourne to-day, when the principal event to be decided is the Williamstown Cup, run over 1m 5f.

The Gosford Racing Club will hold the first meeting on their recently-constructed course near Gosford to-morrow, when £500 prize money will be distributed over six events. Splendid entries have been received, and, as the track is a good one, an interesting afternoon's sport should result. Special trains will leave the Central Railway Station at 10.10 (horses and attendants), 11.25, 11.45 a.m., and 12.20 p.m.; while specials will leave Newcastle at 10.40 and 11.25 a.m.

Mr. W. L. Davis, secretary, will receive entries up to 4 p.m. to-day for the meeting to take place at Canterbury Park on Saturday, November 22, each of the six races being endowed with £100.

North Woodleigh, who won the Railway Highweight Handicap on the second day of the V.R.C. Spring Meeting, was bred by his owner, Mr. T. Longworth, at Eurimbla, Burren Junction, and is leased to Mr. J. Fielder, under whose name he races.

Those horseowners who intend to be in Bathurst during the Centenary Carnival week should note that nominations for the Blaxland, Centenary, and Wentworth Handicaps in connection with the Bathurst Turf Club's meeting on November 15 and 17, close with the secretary, Mr. R. M. Lindsay, to-day.

The next meeting of the Wyong Park Club will be held on Thursday, November 20, and entries for the various events, which include Wyong Park Handicap of 150 sovs., close with the secretary, Mr. E. Woodbury, at 4 p.m., to-day.

Sea Prince, who was weighted at 8st 4lb for the Williamstown Cup, has been rehandicapped, and will now carry 8st 9lb, whilst Radnor has been risen from 7st 11lb to 8st, and Gladwyn from 6st 10lb to 6st 13lb.

The Kensington Club is offering £580 prize money for the pony and galloway meeting to be held on Saturday, November 15. The Kensington Handicap carries £100, and the other six events £80 each, entries for which close with the secretary, Mr. J. Underhill, at 5 p.m. to-day.

The weights for the November meeting of the Rosehill Racing Club on Saturday next are promised this forenoon.

Horseowners who intend to nominate for the Villiers Stakes and Summer Cup to be run at the December and Summer Meetings of the A.J.C., should note that entries close on Monday, November 17. The former, which is run over a mile, has 1000 sovs added money; while the Summer Cup, 1m 5f, carries 1500 sovs added money.

VICTORIAN SPORTING NOTES.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

Honours were well distributed in connection with the V.R.C. Spring Meeting, four sires disputing the premiership with two winning representatives each and 17 with one each. Those dually represented were:—Malster (Mint Sauce in the Maiden Plate and Oaks); Traquair (Traquette in the Maribyrnong Plate and Mimosa Stakes), Mountain King (Mount Mostyn in the Encourage Stakes and King Mostyn in the Final Handicap). Sires with a single winner each were:—St. Alwyne, Multiform, Soult, Kilcheran (New Zealand), Rice, Sir Simon, Security, Charlemagne II., Pistol (S.A.), Malachi (N.Z.), Fortunatus, Bobadil, Persimmon (Eng.), Curtain Lecture, Playbill, Earlston, and Capt. Webb (N.Z.).

The battle for the premier horsemanship at the V.R.C. Spring Meeting resulted in a dead heat between G. Lambert and J. Killorn, with three winning mounts each, the former steering Traquette in both her races and Andelosia in the Linlithgow Stakes, while the latter piloted Anna Carlovna in the Melbourne Stakes, Sea Prince in the Veteran Stakes, and Matouree in the V.R.C. Handicap. R. Lewis steered two winners, Mint Sauce in the Maiden and Oaks; W. Manning two, Mount Mostyn in the Encourage Stakes and Flaith in the Carnival Handicap; A. Shanahan two, Posinatus in the Melbourne Cup and Radnor in the C. B. Fisher Plate; and W. Adams (N.Z.) two, Marton in the November Hurdle Race and Glenmore in the Victoria Steeplechase. Riders with one winning mount each were:—B. Cain, J. Pike, M. Connell, P. Kelly, J. N. M'Gregor, A. Hawkins, C. Emerson (N.Z.), W. H. M'Lachlan, Jas. Higgins, E. Turner, and R. W. Brennan.

The most successful trainer whose horses competed at the V.R.C. Spring Meeting was P. T. Heywood, who led in three winners—Traquette in both her races and Andelosia in the Linlithgow Stakes. J. Scobie had two winners, Mint Sauce in the Maiden Plate and Oaks; W. Kelso two, Mount Mostyn in the Encourage Stakes and Matouree in the V.R.C. Handicap; W. Hickinbotham two, Flaith in the Carnival Handicap and Fidelio in the Flemington Stakes; E. A. Connolly two, Anna Carlovna in the Melbourne Stakes and Sea Prince in the Veteran Stakes; T. Lloyd (N.Z.) two, Marton in the November Hurdle Race and Glenmore in the Victoria Steeple. Trainers who led in a winner were:—R. Keating, Mr. J. E. O'Brien (Beragoon in the Derby), H. Holmes, J. Fielder, H. Harrison, J. Chambers (Posinatus in the Melbourne Cup), D. Coleman, J. Moore, C. Howie, C. Moore, I. Earnshaw, and R. Brennan.

All the returns are not yet in for Cup day, and whether the attendance was a record or not cannot be definitely asserted, but probably it was. At any rate, it was better than on Cup day last year, and public patronage on each of the other days showed an increase, compared with the corresponding days in 1912. The profit on the fixture should be considerable. Last year it was £20,403, and there was no charge for admission to the flat. The club now collects a shilling from everybody desirous of going on that part of the course, and, seeing that the attendance there on Cup day alone was about 30,000, the revenue from the flat was fairly substantial. Whether the profit on the meeting is over or under £25,000, the club wants money, as there has been considerable outlay for improvements during the past year or two. The money added by the club for this year's meeting was increased by £5100, and amounted to the sum of £26,750. Owners' sweepstakes will augment this by between £5000 and £6000. The abstract of stakes won has not yet been prepared, but the total will exceed £32,000.

WARWICK FARM RACING CLUB.

PHOSPHORUS WINS WARWICK HANDICAP.

AYR GIRL FLYING HANDICAP.

The Warwick Farm Racing Club's November meeting furnished a pleasant outing for metropolitan racegoers on Saturday, when bright genial weather prevailed, and an efficient transit service was provided. There was a large attendance, and the programme was responsible for interesting sport. The track was first-class going, and the only mishap was a fall by Pompa, in the Farm Stakes, at the entrance to the straight. The rider, Kenny, fractured a collarbone, and received other minor injuries. The stewards opened an inquiry, but adjourned it in order to allow of the jockey's attendance. Wagering was brisk, and the results were in favour of backers. Results:—

JUMPERS' FLAT RACE of 75 sovs; second horse 10 sovs; third horse 5 sovs. 1m 3f.
Mr. W. T. Cook's Mount Terrell, by Invader—Foulard, aged, 11st 4lb, inc. 5lb pen. (H. Stuart) ... 1
Mr J. Ronfeil's b g Handcuff, aged, 9st 12lb (A. Scowen) ... 2
Mr. A. D. Swanson's blk g Nonda, aged, 9st (E. McGee) ... 3
Other starter: Wadden, 10st 12lb (G. Robson).
Betting: 5 to 2 on Mount Terrell, 6 to 1 v Nonda, 7 to 1 v Handcuff, 12 to 1 v Wadden.
Wadden was first to show out, and passing the stand was a length in advance of Nonda, with Mount Terrell and Handcuff two lengths farther back. CYCLING.

SIX HOURS' TEAMS' RACE.

WON BY CLARKE AND BYRON.

SENSATIONAL RIDING.

A great crowd was worked to the highest pitch of excitement at the Sydney Sports Ground on Saturday evening, when, in the final lap of the Redfern Bicycle Club's six-hours' teams' race, R. G. Clarke, the team mate of E. T. Byron, jumped round Lewis and Hooper in the home straight, and won the biggest and most sensational amateur track contest yet held in the State. R. G. Lewis, the Queensland crack, who was teaming with H. Withew, was placed second; while G. C. Hooper and G. D. Anderson, the eastern suburbs pair, ran third. The international sprint champion, Aubrey Taylor, who had the State road champion, E. W. Pedersen, as his partner, came fourth, three lengths behind Clarke. Taylor was suffering from the effects of a bad toss, experienced early in the afternoon, when he and Pedersen came near to emulating the feat of the Hird brothers in the memorable six-days' race at the Sydney Cricket Ground two years ago, when they lapped the field. The excitement around on this occasion was none the less, however, and the crowd was on its feet for a full 20 minutes.

During the 6 hours 2 minutes 17 seconds the riders were on the track they rode 538 laps, or a distance of 134½ miles. An average speed of 22.41 miles per hour was maintained throughout, which means a lap every 40.15 seconds. The distance covered in six hours was 133 miles 1320 yards.

The race, which was controlled by the New South Wales Cyclists' Union officials, headed by Mr. George Liggins, started at 3 o'clock, when the first named in each of the 12 following teams crossed the line to a flying start:—

C. H. Cutcliffe (Redfern Club) and Theo. O'Halloran (Redfern Club).
E. W. Pedersen (Petersham Club) and Aubrey Taylor (Eastern Suburbs Club).
S. Burtinshaw (Redfern Club) and C. J. Cutcliffe (Redfern Club).
A. Beck (Balmain Club) and H. M. Gannon (Balmain Club).
W. Wylie (Petersham Club) and E. Pink (Dulwich Hill Club).
R. G. Lewis (Eastern Suburbs Club) and H. Withew (Balmain Club).
C. W. Butler (Camden Club) and W. L. Taplin (Camden Club).
S. Edworthy (Western Suburbs Club) and S. Denham (Western Suburbs Club).
E. T. Byron (Eastern Suburbs Club, and R. G. Clarke (Eastern Suburbs Club).
G. L. R. Walcott (Liverpool Club) and G. S. M. Hutton (Liverpool Club).
W. Cross (Hurstville Club) and S. H. B. Goodhew (Hurstville Club).
G. C. Hooper (Weston Suburbs Club) and G. D. Anderson (Western Suburbs Club).

The conditions of the race provided that only one rider of each team could be on the track at one time, except when changes were made. These changes were made as often as desired, although no rider could remain on the track for more than one hour consecutively, nor could he ride for more than four hours out of the six. When a rider's machine punctured or a spill occurred three laps were allowed the team to regain the field. The changes were made from the outer edge of the track, between the scratch and the 220 yards marks.

A steady pace of a little over 25 miles an hour was set for the first two hours, each rider going out in turn to do his share in front. There was a strong wind against the riders in the back straight, which did not abate until nightfall, and in these circumstances the lap times, averaging 40s, at this stage, were good. The laps of Pedersen, Wylie, and C. M. Cutcliffe were the fastest, the field having a rough passage on several occasions, when these riders went out, although no serious attempts were made to break up the bunch. This was reserved for the third hour. Punctures were numerous, and Beck and Pink had serious spills. Fifty miles were covered in 2 hours 5 minutes 35 seconds, S. Edworthy and T. Denham then retired. The teams were riding about 10-minute spells. Each rider before changing was putting in a sprint lap. Hooper and Anderson broke away, and their example was followed on occasions by other teams, but the field, under the leadership of the two Cutcliffes, Pedersen, or Burtinshaw always overhauled the unpaced riders without great effort.

At the 55th mile (2h 22m 9s) there was a lull. It was the calm before the storm. Without an instant's warning, Goodhew, about to change at the 56th mile, jumped the field a quarter of a lap, and Aubrey Taylor, snapping on to his wheel, had gone with him and a bit beyond. The crowd grasped the situation at once, and rose as one man. With feverish haste Pedersen was rushed by his attendants on to the track, and riding lap and lap about he and Taylor opened the gap first to a half and then by degrees to three-quarters of a lap. The excitement was intense, and the pace terrific. Headed by "Cliff" Cutcliffe, the pack was straining every nerve to prevent being lapped by the "outlaw's" team, a fate which had already befallen Hutton and Walcott, Goodhew and Cross. Taplin and Butler were a lap behind. Taylor was then barely on the heels of Hooper not 80yds from his goal; Anderson then jumped in to relieve Hooper, and Taylor, his attention rivetted on the latter's movements, touched Anderson's wheel. There was a roar of disappointment as Taylor came crashing to the track, a mishap which robbed the plucky pair of almost certain victory. In three hours 69 miles 1160yds had been left behind. The Goodhew and Cross, Hutton and Walcott combinations had then retired. Taplin and Butler, the Camden pair, were a lap behind. In the lap dash for the "100 miles" G. R. Lewis won from S. Burtinshaw and E. W. Pedersen, who finished in the order named. Punctures were most frequent.

The pace was then steadily maintained without untoward incident until 8.55 o'clock, when the last changes were made. At "six to go" the riders on the track were: S. Burtinshaw, R. Lewis, C. C. Hooper, W. Wylie, Aubrey Taylor, A. Beck, R. G. Clark, C. M. Cutcliffe. The latter punctured when changing, and was riding a strange machine. The men then rode three laps at a crawl, when Burtinshaw punctured, and retired. At "one to go" the pace livened to a sprint, and at the bell was a cracker. In the back straight Hooper jumped, and Lewis, with Clarke on his wheel, swung up the banking. Clarke then made his effort, and, passing Lewis and Hooper, won by a length. The placing of the teams was:—

R. G. Clarke and E. T. Byron ... 1
R. G. Luis and H. Withew ... 2
C. C. Hooper and G. D. Anderson ... 3
Aubrey Taylor and E. W. Pedersen ... 4

C. M. Cutcliffe and Theo. O'Halloran, 5; M. Wylie and E. Pink, 6; A. Beck and H. N. Gannon, 7; W. Taplin and C. W. Butler, 8.

Clarke was mounted on a standard "Royal" Speedwell" machine, shod with Dunlop tyres.

1 hour: 23 miles 1110yds (average 23 miles 1110yds per hour).
2 hours: 46 miles 1070yds (average 23 miles 535yds per hour).

BOWLS.

SATURDAY'S MATCHES.

Owing to the greens undergoing top-dressing, and several metropolitan clubs visiting country centres, the bowling programme on Saturday was a light one. The chief item was the visit of the Woonona Club to St. George. The visitors were entertained at lunch, and at afternoon tea. The game was well fought out, but the strong wind interfered considerably with the play. The local club won by seven points. Details:—

NOTES ON THE RACING.

The yachts of the Royal Sydney Yacht Squadron were to have sailed an ocean race for the Gascoigne Cup on Saturday afternoon, but on account of the weather reports received from the coast and every possibility of the fresh southerly breeze hardening into a gale it was considered advisable by the officials to alter the course. The yachtsmen were notified that the course had been changed, and would be from Neutral Bay, thence round the Manly buoy, Shark Island, Fort Denison, Pile Light, Shark Island, Fort Denison, Pile Light, Shark Island, and then to the finishing line off the club house.

In the weather Whitewings was looked on as a certain winner, and she repeated her performance of two seasons back, when she scored a win in the Carlston Cup race over a harbour, instead of an ocean, course. Petrel, which won this event last year by 7 seconds, was beaten for first place by 33 seconds, and would most likely have scored her second win in succession for this cup had she not been interfered with by the steamer horee prior to rounding the Shark Island mark the second time. The steamer carrying the onlookers of the open boat racing kept too close in to Shark Island, causing Petrel to make four short boards instead of two longer tacks to round, and consequently some precious time was lost.

Sayonara was again handled in very good style, and a marked improvement was observed in Ranee's sailing; but Culwulla III. was again a great disappointment to her admirers. Petrel, under her second suit of sails, reversed the order of finishing of a fortnight ago with her classmate, Yeulba, the latter being rather overburdened with canvas. At the start Whitewings had aw hole mainsail and small topsail, Culwulla III. and Petrel second suits, Sayonara was reefed right down, and Ranee had one reef down; but Yeulba elected to carry her whole racing mainsail.

The breeze at the start was about south by west, and with the exception of Petrel the yachts crowded to the weather end of the line. All crossed within 25 seconds of the flag, Sayonara being first, and to windward of Whitewings, Yeulba, and Culwulla III. Petrel, from the leeward end of the line, laid her course for Bradley's, but the remainder of the fleet bore up to windward, evidently manoeuvring for the weather berth. At Bradley's Head, where the breeze was truer south, the order of squaring away before the wind was Sayonara, Whitewings, Culwulla III., Yeulba, Petrel, and Ranee. Off the wind, spinnakers were quickly in evidence on all the boats but Culwulla III., whose skipper appeared satisfied with a balloon staysail. As the boats were running shy, the spinnakers kept the crews busy, Whitewings having the most trouble, and when off George's Head she lost her spinnaker boom, which necessitated the stowing of the extra; but a smaller one was shortly afterwards set. Crossing Obelisk Bay, Sayonara dispensed with her spinnaker, and Whitewings drew ahead of her. Yeulba, which was slightly ahead of Petrel, might have done much better with less mainsail and the main sheet more on her.

Opposite North Head Sayonara made an effort to blanket Whitewings, but without success, as the latter continued to increase her lead. Ranee's spinnaker split when crossing the Heads and had to be taken in. When abreast of Smedley's Point Yeulba passed Culwulla III., but the latter bearing up, got the former's weather, and re-passing Yeulba beat her for the Manly buoy, approaching which Whitewings had stowed both her topsail and spinnaker. Hauling a wind at the Manly the times were:—Whitewings, 2h 57m 38s; Sayonara, 2h 58m; Culwulla III., 2h 58m 47s; Yeulba, 2h 58m 54s; Petrel, 2h 59m 9s; Ranee, 3h 0m 21s.

Rounding the buoy Petrel immediately threw round on the port tack, while the others stood well over to the east before staying. Culwulla III. and Ranee both lowered their foresails for the thrash to Shark Island. Petrel on throwing round again crossed Yeulba, which was not sailing up to expectations. Whitewings, Sayonara, Yeulba, and Ranee stood on to Dobroyd on the port tack, while Culwulla III. and Petrel worked the eastern shore. Off North Head Sayonara crossed Whitewings, and Petrel crossed Culwulla III., which was now hopelessly out of the race. Sayonara made another long board from North Head to under Middle Head before staying, and Yeulba did likewise. Standing across on the starboard stretch from Middle Head Petrel crossed Culwulla III. well ahead of the black boat.

Culwulla III. was still ahead of Yeulba, on whose weather she threw round as soon as the latter stayed off Middle Head. Coming round off Camp Cove Sayonara got a good lift along the eastern shore, whence she made to leeward of Shark Island beacon, and after another starboard tack was able to round the island, while Petrel stood in under Steel Point. Culwulla II., off Watson's Bay was up in the wind, and took no further part in the race. Rounding Shark Island the times recorded were:—Sayonara, 3h 44m 51s; Whitewings, 3h 47m 13s; Petrel, 3h 48m 22s; Yeulba, 3h 52m 29s; Ranee, 3h 58m 25s.

Balloon canvas was sent aloft for the lead to Fort Denison, where the times of jibing were—Sayonara 3h 57m 46s; Whitewings, 4h 0m 3s; Petrel, 4h 2m 10s; Yeulba, 4h 6m 29s; Ranee, 4h 7m 42s. On the reach to Bradley's Head Sayonara shook out her reefs, and as she cleared the head Whitewings was opposite Athol Bight, Petrel had Robertson's Point abeam, Yeulba had just rounded Fort Denison, and Ranee was preparing to jibe at the fort. Petrel sent a topsail aloft in stops, but did not break it out until half-way between Bradley's Head and the Pile Light. The wind had now eased up a lot, and she carried her topsail to the finishing line. Sayonara rounded the Pile Light less than four minutes ahead of Whitewings, to which she had to concede 8 minutes, so that her chance was considered very remote. Petrel was only 2m 40s astern of the second yacht, which left the result still in doubt. Yeulba was out of her time, and Ranee only had 2m 10s left of her time allowance.

Over the remainder of the course Whitewings continued to increase her lead of the smaller boats, and eventually won by 33 seconds from Petrel, which beat Sayonara by 4m 20s for second prize. The official finishing times were:—Sayonara, 5h 32m 15s; Whitewings, 5h 37m 22s; Petrel, 5h 42m 55s; Yeulba, 5h 50m 30s; Ranee, 5h 56m 6s, from which the handicaps had to be deducted.

Messrs. Arthur J. Milson and E. Hungerford were the officers of the day, and followed the race in the club steamer Emu, which also carried a large number of enthusiasts.

The Sydney Amateur Sailing Club's cruisers of both A and B classes had good racing on Saturday afternoon, both events being keenly contested. The finishing times of A class were:—Mischief, 5h 37m 30s; Gilleena, 5h [illegible]; Dawn, 5h 39m; Vagabond, 5h 39m 20s; Gilleena, 5h 41m 50s. B class: Snowdrop, 5h 18m 10s; Margarita, 5h 18m [illegible]; Merry Widow, 5h 19m; Marsinah, 5h 19m 55s.

The long-markers in the 18-footers races are still going strongly, for, on Saturday, another of their number in Quibree silenced all opposition in the Sydney club's race, and won decisively. It was Quibree's maiden win, though only a week before she was first home in the Flying Squadron's initial heat.

All of the boats, of course, turned out under second and third suits, but as the breeze eased off considerably during the afternoon, those with the larger sails fared best. These included Quibree, Acme, H. C. Press, and Arline, and to some extent they owed their success to this fact.

Mavis was almost rigged for a hurricane, and while the breeze was hard she was in her element, and did splendidly, but she had not enough canvas to drive her off the wind, and, therefore, had to be content with second place.

Australian and Swastika were too late in starting to have any chance, but most of the others got away well, Vision and Livonia being absentees.

Ballooners were carried down the harbour, and in some cases small spinnakers also. Lilian was the first to essay the latter extra, but it had only been sent up when the spar snapped off like a carrot, and the sail blew over her head.

Nimrod's ballooner carried away off Bradley's, but another—a big one—was sent up in its place. This took the Golding boat along in great style, and she passed Eunice and Donnelly, and just beat Mavis and H. C. Press round the new light. To show just how well Nimrod did over this part of the course it may be mentioned that she actually increased her 1m start from Kismet to 2m 10s.

Of the boats ahead, Advance was still showing the way at the new light, where the order and times were:—Advance, 4h 2m 20s; Quibree, 4h 2m 45s; Enid, 4h 3m; Acme, 4h 3m 20s; Sunny South, 4h 4m 4s; Golding, 4h 4m 20s; Desdemona, 4h 4m 25s; Pastime, and Lilian, 4h 4m 27s; Eagle, 4h 4m 30s; Arline, 4h 4m 33s; Golding, 4h 4m 35s; Scot, 4h 5m 3s; Nimrod, 4h 5m 10s; Mavis, [illegible]; Kismet, [illegible]; Eunice and Australian.

It was blowing pretty hard when the boats hauled a wind for the work back to Shark Island, and Nimrod soon began to make her presence felt. She [illegible] Nimrod astern without any difficulty, but [illegible] bit of bad luck, as also did Acme and [illegible] others, in getting hung up under the lee of the outgoing liner Indarra. This, however, did not prevent her from working up into fifth place before reaching Shark Island.

Here the order was: Advance, [illegible], Quibree, [illegible], Mavis, Mona, Golding, Scot, Sunny South, Press, Nimrod, Desdemona, Pastime, Donnelly, Australian, and Eagle.

Quibree showed good pace, and went to the lead on the lead to the Clark Island [illegible] H. C. Press and Kismet also improved their positions. Enid fouled the mark [illegible] ing, and being disqualified retired, [illegible] order as follows: Quibree, Advance, Acme, [illegible], Mona, Golding, Press, Kismet, Arline, [illegible], Nimrod, and Pastime.

Mona dropped back on the lead to [illegible] otherwise the positions were much the same [illegible] Taylor Bay mark, but the work across [illegible] saw Mavis again do well, and she was [illegible] Shark Island, but 47s behind Quibree [illegible] good third, followed by Advance, Press, Arline, Golding, Kismet, Nimrod, and the others.

As the breeze was now lighter than it had been at any time during the afternoon, Mavis had no chance, barring accidents, of catching the leader, [illegible] except that Press displaced Advance, the order of the first six boats remained the same to the finish.

Quibree was well handled by Lan Taylor, who has in his last two performances seems to be getting a lot more out of his boat than he did before.

The breeze at the start was to Donnelly's liking, but she was too snugly rigged, a remark which also applies to Scot, Eunice II., and Sunny South.

ROWING.

SYDNEY ROWING CLUB REGATTA.

LEICHHARDT CLUB IN FORM.

Sydney Rowing Club's annual regatta was held on the Parramatta River on Saturday. A strong breeze across the river from the south, and a considerable sea, at the exposed portions of the river, embarrassed the competitors considerably. There was a large attendance of visitors on the club's steamer Karingal, which followed the races, and Mr. [illegible] Babett, who was in charge, succeeded in giving them an excellent view of the racing. The Lady [illegible] carried the umpire, and amongst a number of prominent club supporters and rowing enthusiasts on board were Judge Backhouse and Messrs. N. J. McDonald and R. B. Fitzhardinge.

The boat race officials were:—A. [illegible], umpire; J. M'Gregor, starter; and J. Collins, judge. The races for members of the club only were umpired by C. A. Smith, H. Y. Bradden, and A. W. [illegible], and the timekeepers were Dr. A. Burns and A. E. [illegible].

The Leichhardt Club won both the open events in fine style—the Senior Eights by 3 lengths in 8m 28 2-5s, and the Maiden Fours [illegible] five lengths separating the first and second boats, the time being 8m 41 2-5s.

The tide being at full flood, the display of oarsmanship in the Senior Eights, was not of a very high standard; yet there were a few good individual efforts.

During the afternoon a large number of visitors were entertained on the lawn at the Abbotsford branch of the Sydney Club. Afternoon tea was served, and the Bavarian Band played a selection of lively music. The grounds command a fine view of the championship course, and were gaily decorated with bunting, and a number of championship pennants could be seen, which helped to remind those present of the club's many notable victories. The function was a success, and the arrangements were excellently carried out.

THE RACING.

Maiden Fours. Course: From Putney to Abbotsford, about 1m.

Leichhardt No. 1 crew: J. Gersbury, 10st (bow); L. Allison, 11st 9lb, 2; McGill, 11st 5lb; C. O'Brien (stroke), 11st 4lb; cox, H. Walmgrave, 1.

Enterprise.—W. Wardrope, 10st 8lb; A. Booth, 10st 2lb; E. Harrison, 11st 6lb; A. Richardson (stroke), 11st; cox, H. Wise, 2.

Sydney University.—C. S. Tiley (bow), 11st 2lb; C. M. Sampson, 11st 7lb; J. L. Digby, 12st 11lb; L. C. Robson (stroke), 11st 11lb; cox, J. R. Mant, 3.

Other starters: Sydney Grammar School, Leichhardt No. 2, Sydney No. 1, Sydney No. 2, and North Shore. Won by five lengths, half a length between Enterprise and University for second place. Time, 8m 41 2-5s.

Mr. M'Gregor sent the eight crews off to an excellent start, considering the strong wind and rough sea. Enterprise were 10 minutes late in getting into line, which was rather unfair to the other competitors. The Glebe crew did not start; and J. Gerbury replaced H. Kenny in the bow seat of No. 1 Leichhardt crew.

Leichhardt No. 2 were first away, closely followed by Leichhardt No. 1, with Enterprise close behind. These three crews were sheltered from the strong wind; but the crews on the northern side, especially North Shore, were in a hopeless position from the start, as they got the full force of the weather, besides a rebound of the shore.

Racing to Tennyson Leichhardt No. 2 dropped back, and Leichhardt No. 1 took the lead, with Enterprise pressing; then followed Sydney Grammar School, University, Sydney No. 1, and Sydney No. 2, with North Shore struggling in the rear. At this point Leichhardt widened their lead by two lengths. Nearing Cabarita Leichhardt No. 1 crabbed, but made a quick recovery, and continued rowing in good form. Approaching Gladesville Leichhardt No. 2 were overtaken by Enterprise, who spurted to get the lead. Leichhardt No. 1, rowing well within themselves, increased their lead, with Sydney Grammar School and University three lengths away fighting it out. Leichhardt No. 2 died away, and University, with a brilliant spurt, passed Sydney Grammar School, with Sydney No. 1 and No. 2 lengths behind, and North Shore last. Leichhardt No. 1 rowed like a winning crew throughout, and achieved a splendid win. O'Brien's crew was evenly boated, well combined, and stroked with regularity and judgment.

SENIOR EIGHTS.

Course: From Walker's Hospital to Sydney's branch at Abbotsford—about 1¾m.

Leichhardt.—M. Mezor (bow), 9st 10lb; W. [illegible], 11st; N. Burgess, 10st 8lb; P. Habstrom, [illegible]; A. Kenny, 12st 4lb; J. Coyle, 11st [illegible]; Symons, 11st; F. Mizon (stroke), 9st; [illegible] (cox) ... 1

Sydney.—T. J. Roche, 11st; W. Tymms, [illegible]; Wellesley, 11st 7lb; W. A. Audsley, [illegible]; W. D. Scott, 12st 6lb; A. C. Jackson, [illegible]; K. Heritage, 12st 6lb; E. Cody (stroke), [illegible]; R. G. K. Waley (cox) ... 2

Enterprise.—C. Anderson (bow), 10st 10lb; [illegible]son, 10st 6lb; S. H. Knight, 12st; C. [illegible], 6lb; D. Christensen, 12st 2lb; J. [illegible], 10lb; T. Roderick, 11st; H. Green (stroke), 11st 4lb; G. Noble (cox) ... 3

Other starter: Balmain.

Notwithstanding the rough water, an excellent start was secured. Balmain and Enterprise struck the water simultaneously, but Leichhardt shot out and had a great pace, and before a quarter of a mile had been rowed they were well in the lead. Enterprise, Balmain, and Sydney were well together, Bottle Point was reached with Enterprise leading Sydney by half a length, closely followed by Enterprise and Balmain. Leichhardt were rowing with a nice, steady swing, with even blade work, and gave the impression of having good condition. Enterprise were rough, but strong, and showed uneven bladework. Altogether Balmain's chance looked hopeless. They had the best position, but were badly seated for the weather, as all the weight was in the aft end of the boat. Sydney's swing was not good, and the stroke was not well backed up.

Mortlake was reached with Leichhardt in a good lead, and rowing well, with excellent blade work, swinging comfortably. Enterprise and Sydney followed, with Balmain last. At Tennyson, Leichhardt were still leading; but Balmain was in trouble, as anticipated. Their boat was filling, and the bow was almost under water. Soon afterwards the boat was swamped off Mortlake. The other crews were making better weather, although Sydney might have taken more shelter. The worst of the course had yet to be negotiated, for there was a strong southerly blowing up Hen and Chicken Bay, which raised a nasty, lumpy sea off Cabarita wharf. It was a critical point, and the result of the race might have favoured any of the crews. Leichhardt shot past the Cabarita wharf two lengths ahead of Sydney, and dashed into the rough water. It was an anxious moment for Leichhardt, and Sydney, seeing the difficulty, rowed hard, and Coxswain Wolley showed marked judgment in swinging his boat into the wind as much as he could. However, the effort came too late, as Leichhardt were out of trouble, and made a final dash for the judge's boat, thereby increasing their lead, and finishing three lengths ahead of Sydney, with Enterprise three lengths behind them. The time was 12m 28 2-5s. It was difficult to understand why splashboards were not requisitioned.

CLUB EIGHTS.

Course from Hen and Chicken Bay to Abbotsford branch. There were only two crews.

Colour (red): F. Wellisch (bow), 10st; [illegible]kins, 9st 10lb; C. Bluett, 10st 13lb; K. Higgs, [illegible]; H. T. Pierce, 10st 10lb; V. Sampson, 11st 4lb; [illegible]hard, 11st; E. Cody (stroke), 12st; F. Smedley (cox), 1.

Colour (white): J. H. Titchens (bow), [illegible]; Mullholland, 10st 10lb; J. B. Osborne, 11st 6lb; W. [illegible] Tymms, 11st; F. T. D. Meares, 11st 8lb; E. S. [illegible], 11st 8lb; T. Roche, 11st; K. Dowling (stroke), [illegible] 6lb; A. Smedley (cox), 2.

CLUB FOURS.

Course: Hen and Chicken Bay to Abbotsford.

Yellow Flag.—W. Baldock (bow), 9st 7lb; A. [illegible]ser, 11st 6lb; W. G. Pearce, 10st; G. Steen (stroke), 10st, 2.

SCULLING.

The Pioneer Ladies' Professional Sculling Club held its third regatta on Leichhardt Bay on Saturday afternoon. The officials were:—Starter, Mr. A. Smith; umpires, Miss Moriarty and Mr. H. A. Judd.

Following are the results:—

Club Championship, 1m.—Miss Nellie Counsell, 1; Miss M'Kay, 2; Miss Eadith Counsell, 3. Won by a length. Time, 13m 10s. Miss M'Kay led until within 300 yards of the finish, when Miss Nellie Counsell drew level with her. Miss M'Kay steered right off her course, and when within a few yards of the judge's boat she had to turn her boat almost at right angles in order to pass on the right side of the judge's boat. Miss M'Kay was picking up her course, but Miss Counsell forged ahead, and won by about a length.

Ladies' and Gentlemen's Double Sculls, 1m.—First heat: Miss E. Counsell and A. Haydon, scr, 1; Miss V. [illegible] Miss D. Spiller and L. Quinn, 15s, 2; [illegible] and J. Gray, 15s, 3. Won by a length. Time, [illegible]. Second heat: Miss N. Counsell and G. M'Devitt, 15s, [illegible]; Miss [illegible] ser, 1; Miss R. Schneider and L. Spiller, 15s, 2; P. Jensen and P. Davidson, 25s, 3. Won by three lengths. Time, 10m 30s. Final: Miss N. Counsell and M'Devitt, 1; Miss E. Counsell and Haydon, 2; Miss Schneider and Spiller, 3.

THE ULMARRA HUNDRED.

WON BY J. VINING.

ULMARRA, Saturday.

The third annual Ulmarra Hundred aquatic carnival took place on Saturday. The weather was splendid, only a slight ripple being on the water.

The first heat was won by Geo. Green, with Eddie Towns second, the other starters being Casey, Beach, F. Paddon, and Bien. The winner soon caught and passed Bien, and was not afterwards troubled. Towns drew up even with Towns, which position was maintained till half a mile from home, when Towns forged ahead, and set out after Bien. A magnificent race resulted in Towns catching and beating Bien on the post by two feet for second place. Green won by about 10 lengths.

The second heat resulted in an easy win for J. Vining, the limit man, who was never caught, with Jas. Paddon second. Paddon passed Watkins at the half mile, and at the mile left George Towns behind. He then gave place to Fletcher, who was pulling in second place, and three hundred yards from home caught him amidst considerable excitement. Vining won by ten lengths.

The third heat was won by Chas. Towns, with L. Blakeley second.

The final was rowed shortly before 5 o'clock under favourable water conditions. A fresh southerly blew off the land, but did not materially interfere with the scullers. The first change occurred at the mile post, where Blakeley dropped out, and so did Eddie Towns

National Library of Australia http://nla.gov.au/nla.news-page1283888

...shortly afterwards, both being passed by Jas. Paddon, and Vining still maintained the lead his big start of one minute gave him.

Green was still second, but had fallen back from Vining. Paddon gradually closed upon Chas. Towns, eventually passing him, and then gave chase to Green, but after a fine spurt he steadied down, and was content to take third place, Vining winning from Green by six lengths. The time was 13m 24s. The settling took place to-night, when a smoke concert was tendered to the scullers.

SWIMMING.

E. WICKHAM SWIMS WELL.

MISS WYLIE AGAIN.

All the clubs in the metropolitan area are now in full swing. No fewer than four clubs held opening events on Saturday, and completed the list. The clubs referred to were Mosman, Balmoral, East Sydney, and Lane Cove amateur clubs, which all held 50 yards handicaps. The Mosman Club also held a race for juniors. During the week the Balmain League Club held its first handicap, in which the ex-amateur, F. Sinclair, swam well. The best performance on Saturday was that by E. Wickham, who, in the handicap of the re-formed East Sydney Club, won his heat in 28 1-5s, and swam second in the final in 24s. There were several absentees from the Sydney and Manly clubs owing to the surf events at North Steyne engaging some of their members, but in the teams' races held by both clubs interesting and exciting finishes were the rule. In Sydney Club's race, the best performances were achieved by L. Boardman (25s), F. Cummins (27s), and W. Riley (28s). Some solid performances were also recorded at North Sydney and Rose Bay. Fot swimming third in his heat in good time, and F. Cotton winning in his preliminary heat in 2m 6s at Lavender Bay. The Eastern Suburban Club's event was won by A. Macfarlane (11s), with a time of 1m 9 3-5s and 1m 8 3-5s. The only League club to hold an event was the consistent Leichhardt body, and it was won easily by W. Sullivan, with performances of 1m 9s in the heat and 1m 13s in the final. At Bondi the local club was prevented from carrying out the scheduled race owing to the heavy sea.

The usual point score races were decided by the two ladies' clubs (Sydney and Metropolitan) at their respective headquarters. Miss Mina Wylie had a very successful day in winning the 100yds free style, 50yds breast stroke, and 50yds back stroke, all from the scratch mark, and a good performance in the other club's event was Miss Winn's 47s for 66yds. Altogether 14 clubs were engaged on Saturday.

At the opening of the North Steyne club-room at Manly, both surf events were won by representatives of the Manly Life-saving Club. The international swimmer, H. Hardwick, annexed the surf race, while a team, comprising A. Boardman and A. W. Barry (of the Sydney Swimming Club), and F. Schwarz, F. Lascelles, and S. M'Auliffe (of Manly), won the alarm reel race easily.

MOSMAN AMATEUR CLUB.

The opening of the Mosman club's season took place at the Spit Baths on Saturday afternoon. Results:—
50yds Junior Handicap.—J. Adams, 17s, 1; R. Eve, 13s, 2; W. Lyons, 9s, 3. Time, 41⅘s.
50yds Senior Handicap.—First heat: A. Graham, 2s, 1; F. L. Treatt, 5s, 2; C. Wetzell, 4s, 3. Time, 32s. Second heat: A. Martin, 6s, 1; H. Snell, 6s, 2; N. H. Cook, 2s, 3. Time, 31 3-5s. SURF BATHING ACCOMMODATION.

NEW SHEDS AT NORTH STEYNE.

The official opening of the new surf bathing sheds at North Steyne took place on Saturday afternoon by the Minister for Works, Mr. A. H. Griffith. The buildings contain 214 lockers and 92 cubicles. Bathers will pass through turnstiles at the door, where a charge of 2d will be made for entry, 2d for lockers, and 4d for cubicles. The structures were built at a cost of £2800, and the money was loaned by the Government to the local council free of interest for a term of 10 years. A handsome clubroom for the North Steyne lifesavers is built at the southern end.

Mr. Griffith, in handing over the keys to the Mayor of Manly, referred to surf bathing as a harmless and splendid pastime, which had now taken a great hold of the people. No adequate accommodation had hitherto been provided; and the opening of the North Steyne sheds was only the first fruits of the Surf-bathing Commission. "We will be told," Mr. Griffith added, "that this is some of the extravagance that we hear so much about, but it is the right sort of extravagance." Manly was getting £10,000 in new sheds, but it was not the people in the vicinity who were being considered. He had spent the money in the interests of the thousands of people who lived in the overcrowded city streets, and in the hot far-back places of the State. It was a national work, and was a good investment of public money. (Applause.) Mr. Griffith, in concluding, said, "No doubt you will hear shortly that I own adjoining property. This kind of criticism is a degradation to our public life, and I am sorry to have to refer to it."

The Mayor, Alderman Bonner, said that the money was only a loan, but it was a good thing that the Government had come to their assistance. Alderman Bonner then presented the Minister with a gold brooch set with pearls for Mrs. Griffith.

Subsequently the company adjourned to the club room, which was handed over to the North Steyne Club by the Mayor of Manly, who afterwards entertained the visitors, and several toasts were honoured.

The North Steyne Club held a carnival of events, and there was a large entry of representative clubs. Results:—

BOXING.

STONE OUTPOINTS SUMMERS.

The wiry Hebrew-American lightweight, Harry Stone, proved clever enough to earn a points decision over Johnny Summers, welterweight champion of the British Empire, at the Stadium on Saturday night. Tough as a piece of string, and ever ready to score with a quick long left, he proved a puzzling though never a dangerous proposition, and in the finish won by an appreciable margin. Summers was bound down to 10st 2lb, and no title was involved. The Englishman just made the stipulated poundage, and Stone weighed 9st 11½lb. Stone, who though spindle-shanked, is well developed about the neck, arms, and shoulders, had a useful advantage in reach.

At the beginning it looked as if Summers was going to outbox his opponent, shaping carefully, and moving quietly on his feet, in contrast to the other's dancing attack; he repeatedly tapped Stone's quick leads aside with perfect precision, and put in several smart counters to the ribs, winning the first two rounds. Matters were slow at this rate, and Summers, in trying to make things more lively, left himself open to Stone's straight left. The latter made the third round even, and thereafter the contest was waged with varying fortune, the margin seldom being big at the end of a round. Summers did nearly all his scoring to the body, but he put in a few good straight lefts in the early stages, and at times hooked both hands to the head. Stone's long range work was more spectacular than Summers's fusillades to the ribs, but the Londoner was a shade ahead at the end of 14 rounds. Then he mixed things eagerly, and Stone joined issue in a spell of fast infighting. It was here that Summers, to the general surprise, failed. He was incapable of a long-sustained rally, and the younger man fairly outpaced the veteran, landing with both hands as Summers ceased hostilities, and tried to clinch. Thereafter Stone always looked the winner, though in the 17th round, when the Englishman was careful, and gave the other's speed no scope, Summers had the best of matters. He must have knocked over half a dozen leads aside before Stone scored, and he finished up the round with a dozen or more body blows to his credit against three straight lefts. When he tried to force matters, however, Stone was too fast and clever, and at the finish received a popular decision. Mr. Arthur Scott refereed.

In the preliminary bout Billy Cox beat W. Robertson on points.

OFFER TO CARPENTIER.

Mr. R. L. Baker has cabled Georges Carpentier, the French champion, an offer of £1500 to meet Dave Smith in Australia. Carpentier, who scales about 12st, is heavyweight champion of Europe, having beaten Bombardier Wells. He has a sterling record, and recently outpointed Jeff Smith, the American. Carpentier is engaged for a return match with Wells next month.

HILL v RUSSELL.

BRISBANE, Sunday.

A large and representative gathering witnessed the victory of Jimmy Hill over Joe Russell at Baker's Stadium on Saturday night, the Sydney boxer thus securing the featherweight championship of Australia, which, for a number of years, has been held by the Queenslander. Hill soon secured a lead on points, which he increased in practically every round to the end. Russell showed none of the snap and vigour which has marked his boxing.

AMERICAN WELTERWEIGHT BEATEN.

PARIS, Nov. 8.

Frank Madol, the American welterweight champion, was beaten despite a dogged fight by Marcel Thomas, the French champion, on points.

BURNS BEATS EVERNDEN.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

At the Stadium, West Melbourne, on Saturday over 2000 spectators were attracted by the meeting of the English welterweights, Sid Burns and Evernden. The latter opened the scoring at a great rate, and Burns was on the defensive for some time. Burns relied upon a straight left and alertness to frustrate his opponent's rushing methods. In the 11th round Burns outboxed Evernden at all points, and continued to score until the end of the 13th round, when Evernden's seconds threw in the towel. He had injured his left wrist.

BOXERS FOR AUSTRALIA.

LONDON, Nov. 7.

Jeff Smith and Young Loughrey (Americans), and Nat Williams, will leave for Sydney by the Omrah, to fulfil contracts made with Baker's Stadium.

The family of Johnny Summers, who is in Sydney, will also sail by the Omrah.

"RIDING TO WIN."

CATHOLICS AND EDUCATION.

DR. KELLY'S SPEECH.

Archbishop Kelly opened and blessed a new wing to the convent at Elizabeth Bay on Sunday afternoon. In a lengthy address, he said their schools were spreading like wildfire—with the fire of zeal. He asked, why did not the University rejoice in the establishment of schools such as these? He would just touch on the matter, and say nothing more, because it would appear that they did not rejoice. The University would make Catholics pay a price for their degrees which they could not, under any circumstances, think of paying—the price of their religion. He hoped that the grace of God would be given to keep Catholic schools well in front, and that they would always be "riding to win." He had asked their children at confirmation to pray for their Catholic schools, and as the giant Goliath was slain by the sling in the hands of David, so by the prayers of their little children would this Goliath of secular education fall down. He had no fault to find with the good dope by the Public schools. But had not the people of New South Wales spoken? He had met many people in Australia who said that they respected Jesus Christ as a man, but His divinity was questioned by educated people. He must cry out and warn the people of their dangers. They were losing Christianity. Here he would draw his first conclusion in regard to politics. If the knowledge of Christ is a necessity for the happiness of children, it is the duty of the parent—co-ordinate with the other great duties of parenthood—to give the children that knowledge. The parent who fails is simply worse than an infidel.

"If the knowledge of Christ is a necessity," said His Grace, "who is to give it? You may go to the devil with your secular education, but leave us the religious education. Do not let the religious education be taken out of the hands of the parents. There are too many divisions of faith, but that does not excuse the State for saying 'You must put them all away.'"

Continuing, the Archbishop said that the Very Rev. Dean of Sydney did Catholics a great wrong when he said, "How can you send your children to Catholic schools when the priests deny their parents salvation?" They did not deny salvation. They welcomed anyone to join their Church. The Catholic catechism gave the best answer to the Rev. Dean—"All are obliged to belong to the true Church, and no one outside its fold can be saved."

"Why not make a compromise in regard to religion in schools? Because we must not touch a letter in our faith. If we did compromise, there would be no sincerity in our religion. The Government is not justified in saying 'We want undenominational religion.' The present state of affairs is proselytism, nothing else. By going to a Catholic school you pay for it and pay for the Public school as well. That is a bribe to get the children to go to the Public schools. Shame on the proselytisers!"

His Grace then quoted from a report of the cost of living inquiry, in which a woman had been asked by Judge Heydon why she sent her children to a Catholic school and paid 6d per week when she could send them free of charge to the Public school. He said that that was sheer proselytism, and the woman's simple answer that she preferred to send them to the Catholic school was a worthy one. The Government that introduced the secular education would have the places of proselytisers in the hereafter. He challenged the Sydney papers not to interfere with the liberty of the people. When they spoke of undenominational religion they spoke of what did not exist. The sapient legislators of this country strike a note of indifference.

Archbishop Kelly then quoted from a printed platform of a political party which he did not name, expressing opposition to the system of bursaries to private schools. He classed that as "crass stupidity," and said there was a note of fear in it. These people were afraid that the Catholic schools would supplant their own. "I say that we Catholics cannot give our support to any man who would advocate this."

THE I.W.W. IN AUSTRALIA.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Your justly severe criticism of the above fanatic- in last Friday's issue should be valuable as an eye-opener to the few misguided enthusiasts that are howling for the scalps of the capitalists. Their attitude and tactics are dangerous in the extreme to the workers themselves. What they call "sabotage" is "spite" under a foreign name, and spite never did any class or party any good. As you say, they are few in numbers in the unions, but they are active, and their fellow unionists perhaps do not realise what their game is. Their strike tactics always lead to riot and the use of force. A dangerous feature of their constitution is the way they safeguard themselves from any influx of superior ability into their ranks; for "no man who holds any official position in a trades union is eligible for membership in the I.W.W. If any of its members accept an official position in a trades union they cannot continue as members of the I.W.W." This effectually keeps the game in the hands of those who are determined to war on society, and who are prepared to carry it out by the most unscrupulous methods. In conclusion, your criticism of the I.W.W. is seasonable, and we may anticipate that at an early day some activity should be forthcoming from those most interested to cope with the misguided and "sabotage"-loving members of the I.W.W. I am, etc.,

ARE FILLING A DAILY WANT

There are such things as Patriarchal Croakers. They call themselves men—but they are men-frogs and nothing more.
They squat on the edge of inland places and emit sounds and groans and weepings and documents against the times.
What have they done to make things better?
What useful thing have they invented?

WHAT SNOW'S HAVE DONE.

First. We determined no moss should grow down here.
Second. We made explorations by sea and by land, and raised the standard of Value Giving in Women's Wearing Apparel of the highest order.
Third. We have gone right along new lines of merchandising, and every day brings more new things in sight. All arteries of Snow's Specialty Shop—it's brain forces and muscle engines—are in fine working order to perform functions of usefulness to the public.
